Two residents face drug charges

By Cheryl Peterson
Editor

Two area men have been charged with drug offenses in two separate incidents recently.

An Oscoda man is facing charges for cultivating marijuana on another man's property in Greenbush Township.

In an investigation by the Huron Shores Undercover Narcotics Team (HUNT) allegedly found evidence linking Dale A. Dykes, 33, of Oscoda to a grow operation. Dykes was arrested on Tuesday, Sept. 25 and lodged in the Alcona County Jail. He faces one count of manufacturing a controlled substance - marijuana.

He was arraigned on October 1 in 81st District Court and a $5,000 personal recognizance bond was set. He has been released on bond.

According to HUNT, Dykes was not registered as a patient or caregiver under Michigan's Medical Marijuana Act and has prior convictions for narcotics possession.

If convicted, he faces a maximum of up to four years in prison and a fine of up to $20,000. The incident is under investigation by HUNT.

Similar incidents have been reported by landowners who have discovered marijuana plants growing on their property, according to HUNT. Property owners are encouraged to contact law enforcement if they encounter suspicious activity on their land. HUNT can be reached at (800) 573-DRUG or on the Web at www.huntteam.net.

Deputies from the Alcona County Sheriff's Department arrested a Black River resident for possession of heroin.

According to the sheriff's department, deputies were dispatched to a residence in Black River for suspicious activity on Saturday, Sept. 29 at 9:20 p.m. During the investigation three men were taken into custody for multiple outstanding warrants in other jurisdictions.

As the investigation continued, several packets of heroin were found and Anthony Douglas Gonzalez, 24, was arrested and lodged in the Alcona County Jail.

Gonzalez was charged with deliver/manufacture of a controlled substance - heroin under 50 grams. He was arraigned on October 1 and a $25,000 10 percent cash surety bond was set. He is scheduled for a preliminary examination in 81st District Court on October 10.

If convicted, the maximum penalty for this felony charge is 20 years in prison. The incident remains under investigation by the Alcona County Sheriff's Department.

Schoolyard habitat seminar helps teachers inspire students

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

An instructional seminar funded by the Great Lakes Stewardship Initiative was held at Alcona Elementary School last week to discuss schoolyard habitats and how they can be used to inspire and educate students.

Daniel Moffat with the Great Lakes Stewardship Initiative, Heather Rawlings from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and Valorie Haneckow, first-grade teacher at Alcona Elementary as well as volunteers with the Alcona County master gardeners were on hand to discuss resources available to teachers on how to develop school wildlife habitats and how the habitat could be used in the education curriculum.

Teachers from Cheboygan, Mich., Onaway, Oscoda, Bingham Arts Academy and Alpena schools attended the seminar.

Maureen Stine an environmental educator from Indian River, Mich. also talked to the group regarding Michigan "Green School" Certification. Michigan Green Schools is a nonprofit initiative helping schools meet environmental goals.

Master gardener volunteer Diana Ziemer organized the seminar and discussed the Wings of Peace Donna Smith Memorial Butterfly Garden at Alcona Elementary School. The garden is a work in progress and the result of a $1,800 grant funded to the Alcona County master gardeners from the Community Foundation for Northeast Michigan in 2011.

Zeimen explained how volunteers worked together to draft and present the grant request. She also stressed the importance of having a dedicated group to undertake educational habitat gardens. Soil sampling, water supply, plan design, time lines, as well as written approvals are all items to take into consideration.

"In many cases the students may do the planning and planting of the gardens, but the garden at Alcona Elementary was planned by master gardener volunteers. Some things we learned the hard way, such as there is no such thing as a free lunch. In our case, there was no such thing as free top soil that didn't come with weeds and clay.

"It's very important to research what you are looking for and confirm all details in writing. One of the most important things in designing a habitat garden is to consider the ease of maintenance and

Developing program provides weekend relief for hungry kids

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Beginning in November, Alcona school children at risk of hunger during weekends will receive back packs with nutritious meals to tide them over Saturdays and Sundays.

The Back Pack program is an undertaking of the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan (FBEM). The program attempts to reduce child hunger, educate students on proper nutrition and promotes healthy lifestyles.

Volunteers Gayle and Marty Starliper of Greenbush, who have volunteered for the program which is already underway in Oscoda schools, brought attention to its need in the Alcona area. According to Principal, Terry Allison, 61 percent of the children attending Alcona Elementary School receive free or reduced price breakfast and lunches at the school.

The program is designed to provide extra support during weekends for children who are at risk of not getting sufficient food outside of school on a regular basis. They do this by providing back packs with nonperishable food items to meet their weekend nutritional needs.

"Each weekend a backpack containing two breakfasts, lunches, dinners and snacks are sent home with a child in need. The program also supplies additional food items to get the child through week-long and three day breaks during the school year," said Kathleen Payton, of the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan.

The FBEM considers a chronically hungry child as "food insecure." The U.S. Department of Agriculture defines food insecurity as households that are uncertain of having, or unable to acquire, enough food to meet basic needs of all their members because of insufficient money or other resources. When the guardian of a child has to choose between food and other necessities (e.g. rent, electricity medications, gas) it is an indicator of food insecurity.

According to the FBEM program manual, a child will not necessarily say he does not have enough food at home, but through observation, patterns or behaviors may indicate the need. Behaviors such as rushing food lines, anxious for breakfast or lunch at school, extreme hunger on Monday morning, eating all of the food served, not picky about what is placed before them, lingering around for second helpings or asking for more, or eating food left by other children may indicate food insecurity. Other indicators may include physical appearance,

To the Editor,

A few supporters of State Representative Peter Pettalia seem to be quite sensitive when his voting record on K-12 funding is revealed. Even with the loss of the federal stimulus money from 2009, our school aid fund would have been $1 billion richer had it not been for votes like those of Rep. Pettalia who voted to take the funds out of K-12 school aid and use them in areas not earmarked in Proposal A.

With existing Proposal A revenue, that is property tax and sales tax, schools would have five percent more money had it not been for this unprecedented diversion of funds. So, yes, Rep. Pettalia's record on K-12 funding is less than desirable. You can change this by voting for Ken Hubbard in this year's election for the 106th House District. Ken is on the record for restoring funding for our public schools so that they can offer the quality education that the Republican majority in state government has ignored.

To the Editor,

There have been many ads on television concerning the various proposals that we are being asked to either support or oppose on the November 6 ballot. The ads are being sponsored by special interest groups which you may or may not agree with.

Feeling confused? The Town Hall forums may be a good place to obtain more information about these state proposals plus the Alcona County millages, ask questions and listen to others' views.

The first of five such meeting sponsored by Citizens for Alcona First was held at the Lincoln Senior Center last Thursday evening with about 20 people in attendance. Everyone had a chance to voice their opinion and in turn benefited from others' feedback.

I came away with a better understanding of how these proposals and millages affect me, my family and the community I live in. I highly recommend everyone of voting age attend one of these meetings to be a better informed voter.

To the Editor,

Two recent letters from Alcona Republican Party Chairman Bill Sanders seem to indicate the Grand Old Party was hijacked by the Tea Party. The tradition of debating issues has become empty rhetoric and personal attacks.

First, Mr. Sanders claims there was false information in the August campaign to defeat the HUNT tax. Notably, he provides no examples. This is because all the information came from HUNT annual reports. If HUNT says it received $338,740 from Alcona County over the past four years, and that number is used to show how Alcona County pays 4.5 times more per arrest than Alpena County, that is a fact. Pure and simple.

Second, Mr. Sanders' claim there wasn't enough time to inform the voters of what would happen if HUNT was defeated is laughable. The commissioners voted in February to place the millage on the August ballot. Supporters of HUNT had six months to campaign. And now, after losing they cry "do over."

As to playing the "race card," as Mr. Sanders wrote, "race card" is pure Tea Party language used to avoid responsibility for their regular tactic of shouting code words to frighten people. There was a clear racial subtext at the county commission meeting and quite frankly the most overt examples came from the area of the room where Mr. Sanders was sitting.

Finally, in response to my opposition of the HUNT tax, Mr. Sanders chose to write a letter to the Alpena News that claimed my business sells marijuana. This charge is so libelous that the owner of the paper called me to apologize and printed an apology for publishing Mr. Sanders' letter. The debate over HUNT should be about actual fact and figures. We will continue to provide them.

To the Citizens of Alcona County,

I have been hearing and reading about numerous misconceptions relating to the up and coming HUNT (Huron Undercover Narcotics Team) millage. I would like to take this opportunity to set the record straight. First and foremost this millage pays for the salaries, benefits, special training and equipment of two Alcona County Deputies. It also allows Alcona County to participate in the multi-county task force commonly known as the HUNT. These deputies reside in Alcona County and focus on the illegal distribution of drugs. A number of years ago we put into place a strategy to assist the communities in Alcona County to combat drug use and abuse. The strategy was a simple supply and demand strategy. Disrupt the supply of illegal substances being sold in this county through the use of HUNT and impact the use of these illegal substances through the creation of an Alcona County Drug and Sobriety Court. Judge Laura Frawley was a part of the team that put this strategy in place and has helped develop drug court. Many of those arrested by HUNT end up in drug court and it is clear that drug court and HUNT are not mutually exclusive. I can tell you after nearly a decade of having both in place it is working and has been successful in Alcona County.

There has been a clear attempt to manipulate numbers to put HUNT in a negative light. I can tell you as your Prosecuting Attorney for the last twenty years the numbers do not tell the story of how effective HUNT IS. We do not have drugs being sold on our street corners, we do not have multiple drug houses in our communities, nor do we have multiple drug overdose deaths as other communities do. I am not certain as how one would count the quality of life we have in Alcona County, but it is clear to me the reason why we do not have this occurring in our communities is HUNT. Those involved in the illegal distribution of controlled substances attempt to avoid Alcona County because of HUNT. I can also advise you that a vast majority of the illegal drugs being sold in this county are supplied by individuals in both Iosco and Alpena counties. Dealers have no boundaries. This requires HUNT to conduct investigations in other counties in Northeast Michigan.

To be clear this is not all HUNT does for the people of this county. They have been involved in and assisted our Sheriff's Department in multiple other criminal investigations. Clearly their assistance several years ago is the most notable. Several years ago the murder of a young Alcona County resident occurred in Hubbard Lake. It was the HUNT team, which located and surrounded the individual responsible in a remote area in Alcona County. This is what we stand to lose if we cannot participate in HUNT.

We have no alternative; please help keep police officers on our streets. Please help keep our communities, families and children safe and vote yes for the HUNT millage.

Respectfully yours,

Thomas Jay Weichel
Alcona County Prosecuting Attorney

school performance and behavior and home environment.

The FBEM is a nonprofit 501 C (3) organization which provides the food through donations. Each back pack contains food products with fresh fruit and/or vegetables, dairy, grain and a source of protein. The food items are often tasty single serving items that are individually wrapped, shelf stable, nutritious, kid friendly, and easy to prepare or microwavable.

The Back Pack Program through FBEM began in 2004 with 50 backpacks in two elementary schools. Currently, the food bank serves 3,700 children in 92 schools from 13 different counties.

Unlike the free and reduced school lunch program which is federally funded, the government does not support the back pack programs. The FBEM depends on community support to run the program.

"It costs FBEM $100 per child to feed weekend meals for the school year. The back pack program will be available to 24 Alcona County elementary students. We'd like to provide for more but we will need the help of more donations. It's so unfortunate that children right here in our own county are going to school on Monday morning hungry because they had nothing to eat all weekend," Gayle Starliper said.

Applications were sent home for Alcona elementary at-risk students in September and over 50 applications have been received so far. Allison said teachers and staff would be choosing from the applications which students were in the greatest need.

"We appreciate the Starliper's desire and initiative to get this program started in Alcona. Hunger does impact the student's day. We are excited about the program as it will definitely help ensure fewer students will go hungry over the weekend," Allison said.

For further information on how to help with the Alcona Community Schools' Back Pack program, visit the FBEM website for a Back Pack Program sponsorship guide at FBEM.org. Make sure to stipulate the sponsorship is for Alcona Community Schools, or contact Kathleen Payton at (810) 239-4441. Sponsorship donation forms are also available at the school office.

knowing who will be maintaining it," Zieman said.

The butterfly garden area the Alcona County master gardeners chose was originally a small garden in front of the school. "It was a memorial garden for a young teacher, Donna Smith, who lost her battle to cancer. It wasn't very big but the area inspired us to keep it as a memorial garden on a grander scale," Zieman said.

The butterfly garden has also become a memorial for four students who have lost their life.

"The original plans for the butterfly garden started out as a much larger garden than what is in place now. We realized we had to scale it down to allow grass and room for a classroom of children to sit and watch for butterflies," Zieman said. "Luckily, one of the master gardener's husbands was an architect who helped us with that."

The garden is still in its infancy stage. Students and volunteers prepared the ground last fall and plants were put in this spring. The garden will take about two years to fully establish. There is 83 plants of 15 species planted in the garden. To keep costs down the gardeners used perennials instead of annuals that would attract all stages of butterfly growth. Some of the plants were even from the master gardener's own gardens.

When the garden is fully established it will have 260 plants and a memorial brick paver pathway. Art students will be designing a sign for the garden and wood shop students are going to be building a kiosk to hold a butterfly book that master gardener volunteer Kathy Matteo designed for children of any age to identify butterflies they may see in the garden.

First grade Alcona Elementary teacher Valorie Haneckow discussed the many ways students can be educated through the use of the garden. "Math, science, reading and writing can all be taught through the use of the garden. Even mapping can be taught to first-graders by having them figure how to get from one plant to another," Haneckow said.

Haneckow also took the group on a tour of the two vegetable gardens that students from the high school designed. Students from the high school, middle school and elementary school all help maintain the gardens. The vegetable gardens are a partnership of many entities that have donated to it. The land and water are donated by the Alcona Health Clinic.

Students do much of the work during the school year and apply many sciences including the watering system and testing compost. All the vegetables grown are donated to food banks. "Everyone has played a huge role in the gardens. Last year, the children from Renee Rose's middle school special education class pulled in some fall art and designed scarecrows that reside in the garden," Haneckow said.

"We learned a lot doing this project," she said, "we even learned what not to do. It was a lot of work, but worth it. Just as we were putting in the last plants, we noticed butterflies landing on the flowers. If you build it, they will come," said master gardener volunteer in-training Nora Corning as she gazed at the butterfly shaped tribute.

Police Report

At approximately 3 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 25 the Alcona County Sheriff's Department received information that the Curtisville Trading Post had been broken into. The information came from an anonymous tip called into the Ogemaw County Sheriff's Department.

After an investigation at the store, deputies from Alcona County confirmed the business had been broken into. Ogemaw County deputies were able to locate four suspects near West Branch, Mich. that were allegedly still in possession of merchandise that was stolen from the Curtisville Trading Post. Alcona County deputies conducted an investigation and the four suspects were arrested and later arraigned in 81st District Court.

The following individuals have been charged in the incident:

- Lucas Pope, 19, of West Branch, Mich. was charged with breaking and entering a building with intent. His bond was set at $10,000.
- Shayln Short, 18, of South Branch was charged with breaking and entering a building with intent. Her bond was set at $10,000.
- Stephanie Miller, 20, of Rose City, Mich. was charged with breaking and entering a building with intent. Her bond was set at $2,000.
- Zachory Casemore, 18, of Rose City, Mich. was charged with accessory after the fact to a felony. His bond was set at $10,000.

The breaking and entering charges are felonies that are punishable by up to 10 years in prison. Being an accessory after the fact is also a felony that is punishable by up to five years in prison.

Pope has posted bond and has been released while the other three suspects remain lodged in the Alcona County Jail. The incident remains under investigation by sheriff's deputies.

"Ogemaw County assisted us with this complaint," said Alcona County Sgt. Scott Stephenson. "They did quality police work on this case."

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Why Baby Boomers should get tested for hepatitis C

Dear Savvy Senior,
In the news last month there was a public health alert urging all baby boomers to get tested for hepatitis C. Is this really necessary, and if so, what are the testing and treatment procedures?
Weary Wanda

Dear Wanda,
If you're a baby boomer, getting tested for hepatitis C would be a wise decision because boomers are five times more likely to have this virus than other generations, and most people that have it don't realize it. Those that are infected are at very high risk of eventually developing liver cancer, cirrhosis or other fatal liver diseases.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recently announced that all Americans born from 1945 through 1965 get a hepatitis C test. The reason is because baby boomers account for 75 percent of the 3 million or so hepatitis C cases in the U.S., even though they make up only 27 percent of the total population.

Most hepatitis C infections occurred in the 1970s and 1980s, before there were tests to detect them and before the nation's blood supply was routinely screened for the virus.

Hepatitis C is transmitted only through blood, so anyone who received either a blood transfusion or an organ transplant prior to 1992 is at increased risk. So are health-care workers exposed to blood, and people who injected drugs through shared needles. The virus can also be spread through microscopic amounts of infected blood that could occur during sex, from sharing a razor or toothbrush, or getting a tattoo or body piercing at an unsterile shop.

But the biggest part of the problem is the symptomless nature of this disease. Most people that have hepatitis C don't have any symptoms until their liver becomes severely damaged. It can actually take 30 years for people to show any signs of the virus, but by then, it may be too late to treat. But if it's detected in time, new treatments are now available that can cure it.

If you're between ages 47 to 67, or fall into one of the previously listed high risk categories, you should see your primary care doctor for a basic blood test to determine whether you have ever been infected with hepatitis C. This is a relatively inexpensive test and typically covered by health insurance under routine medical care. If you're not covered, the test will run $30 to $35.

If the test is negative, no further tests are needed. But, if the test is positive, you'll need another test called HCV RNA which will show whether the virus is still active. This test runs between $100 and $250 if you're not covered by insurance.

If you test positive, you have chronic hepatitis C and will need to talk to your doctor about treatment options. If you're infected, but have no liver damage, your doctor should monitor your liver at your annual physical.

The main treatments for chronic hepatitis C today are new antiviral medications that have a 75 percent cure rate. Your doctor may recommend a combination of these medications which are typically taken over a 24-to-48 week time period. But, be aware that the side effects can be grueling and may cause extreme fatigue, fever, headaches and muscle aches.

Unfortunately, there is no vaccine currently available to prevent hepatitis C, although studies are under way to develop one.

Alcona soccer wins big at Whittemore, faces loss to Alpena

By Jared Steiner
Soccer Writer

As the Huron Shores Conference soccer tournament approaches on October 13, the chances of bringing home some hardware is looking very promising after a strong week of play by the Tigers.

In Alcona's first game of the week on September 26 the Tigers traveled to Whittemore-Prescott in a conference match up. The Tigers came away with a 8-0 mercy victory over the Cardinals as seven different Alcona players scored.

Jared Steiner started the bombardment off of an assist from Carson Jamieson. Following with goals of their own were Jordan McCoy, Trenton LaVergne, Mitchell Havercroft and Jamieson helping the Tigers into halftime with a 5-0 lead.

In the second half senior Andy Cammack scored two goals to give Alcona the opportunity for a mercy win which in high school soccer is a rule that ends the game whenever one team is ahead by eight or more goals at any point after halftime. Freshman Isaac Dubuque finished the game with a goal that found the far right corner of the net with 10 minutes left.

Alcona's seniors had a big game with two goals by Cammack, one goal by McCoy, six assists and one goal by Steiner and Aaron Ritchie had seven saves in goal for Alcona.

In the Tigers' second game of the week, they traveled to Alpena on September 27 to seek revenge against a team that defeated them 5-1. Alcona played a very good game and fought to the end but fell short losing 2-0.

The Tigers played the Wildcats to a scoreless tie at halftime with a few scoring chances created by the front-line of Trenton LaVergne and Jared Steiner. Senior keeper Ritchie had an excellent game in net, recording 13 saves and being a vocal leader on the field when the time arose.

Alcona has three more home games this year including parents' night which was held Monday as the Tigers host Oscoda. On Wednesday the Tigers will be hosting Kalkaska. On October 8 Alcona will welcome Tawas in a Huron Shores Conference match.

Tigers net second conference win

By Hope Smith
Volleyball Writer

The girls varsity volleyball team earned its second conference win September 26 while playing at home against the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals.

This was the third time Alcona faced off against the Cardinals having played them in the Oscoda tournament and on Whittemore's home floor earlier in the season. The first match proved to be a nail biter.

After exchanging point for point throughout the entire match, the score was tied 24-24, Alcona's senior Nikki Smith served the final two points to capture the win for the Tigers with the score 26-24.

The second match was more of the same as both teams did a great job setting each other up, attacking the net and covering the floor. However, Alcona continued to gain momentum and pulled ahead to win another close match with the score of 25-21.

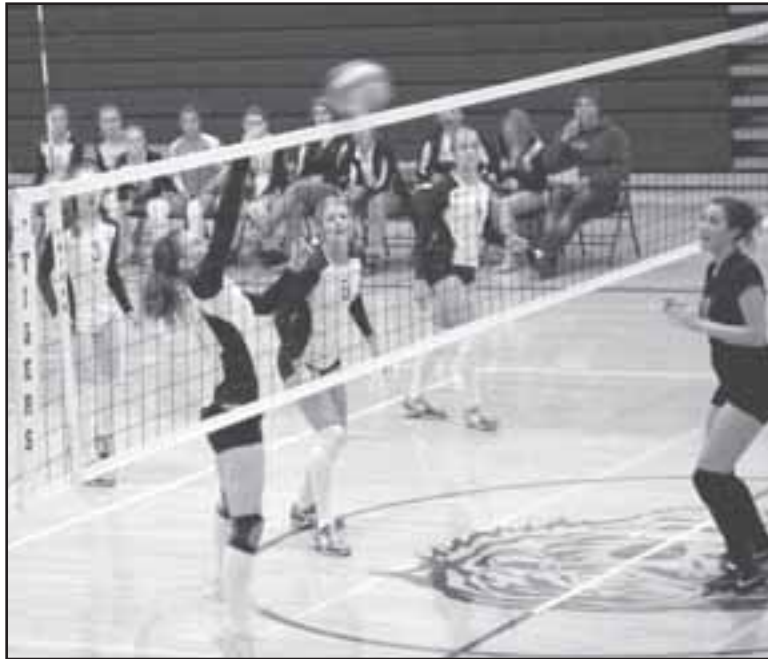

In the third match Smith went on an 11 point serving streak, which included three aces. Whittemore struggled to find the right answers to Alcona's renewed drive and energy.

"The girls came out and played tough. Our defense made some huge plays that really helped ignite our offense. It was a solid team effort," Coach Kristi Arnold stated.

Alcona's Carly Mitchell led the Tigers with nine kills and 14 digs. Smith and Ashley Shutes had four aces each. Smith also had 31 assists in the game. Set scores for the game: 26-24, 25-21 and 25-14.

Alcona's junior varsity team lost the first two matches against Whittemore 25-19 and 25-12 but pulled out a win in the third match 15-13.

On September 24 the Tigers hosted Tawas High School. In the first match Alcona was slow to start and had difficulties serving and receiving the ball. The slow start allowed Tawas to take a 6-0 lead and from that point on the Braves continued to focus on offense, worked the floor and attacked the net winning the first match easily 25-5.

Although Alcona was able to gain some ground defensively against the Braves in the second and third matches the Tigers continued to struggle passing and hitting the ball down to score. Tawas won both matches 25-14 and 25-16.

"We struggled to play consistently and needed to step up defensively to slow down Tawas' offensive. We stepped up in the second and third sets, but could not match Tawas' intensity," Arnold said.

Alcona's Karina Cole led the team with three kills. Shutes had three aces. Sam Zerst had six digs and Smith had 11 assists for the night.

Alcona's varsity team is 3-4 in the regular season and 2-1 in the Huron Shores Conference.

Alcona's JV volleyball team beat the Braves 2-1 after playing three matches. Set scores: 25-23, 25-20 and 25-15. The JV team is 2-4 in the regular season.

On Tuesday the Tigers played in Hillman and will be back home Thursday, Oct. 4 to host the Oscoda Owls for the "Volley for a Cure" match-up.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness month and for the last four years the Alcona and Oscoda volleyball teams have joined forces to "Volley for a Cure" in an effort to raise awareness and show support for this cause. All money raised during this event will go back into the community. The public is encouraged to attend to show support and is asked to wear pink to the game.

Sucker Creek Road closes for new bridge installation

Crews began work on replacing an outdated culvert with a new timber bridge on Sucker Creek Road crossing the Black River in Haynes Township September 27.

The site is located just over a half mile west of US-23 and the road will be closed to thru traffic at that point.

The project is a cooperative effort between the Alcona County Road Commission, Haynes Township, U. S. Forest Service Fish and Wildlife Division and the Huron Pines Resource Conservation and Development agency. Funding is being provided by a combination of sources including Haynes Township, Fish and Wildlife, American Rehabilitation and Recovery

Act and The Great Lakes Fishery Trust.

The site has long been an area of interest from the road commission's perspective because of width and erosion issues. Huron Pines and Fish and Wildlife zeroed in on the sight as a result of a study of the Black River Watershed. During the study, it was determined that the crossing was causing conditions that were having a negative impact on the fish passage and the overall quality of the stream, according to Marlena MacNeill of the road commission.

The existing culvert will be replaced by a 54-foot wooden bridge set on wood pilings.

The new bridge will allow a more natural flow area for the stream that for so long has been restricted by the culvert, MacNeill explained. During spring thaws or following heavy rain fall, the culvert could not accommodate the increased volume of water. Consequently, the water would back up causing flooding up stream. The water would also run over the road, as well as run through the culvert with such force that it caused extreme erosion at the outlet and sediment issues downstream.

The bridge components will be supplied by Krenn Timber Bridge, Inc., from Mattawan, Mich. Alcona County Road Commission crews will assemble the bridge and it will be set by John Henry Excavating of East Tawas. John Henry will also be responsible for setting the pilings to support the bridge structure. The road commission will be responsible for necessary site preparation and restoration work.

The timber bridge is made of North American yellow pine brought in from the northwestern region of the United States.

Completion of the project and the expected date of the road being reopened to thru traffic is mid-November.

MacNeill explained a bridge was selected over replacing the existing culvert with a bigger culvert because of the desire to create a natural stream bottom under the structure. The timber bridge option was in response to the aesthetic quality it would lend in this natural setting.

Questions or concerns about the Sucker Creek Road project or other road issues, should be directed to the Alcona County Road Commission at 301 N. Lake Street, P.O. Box 40, Lincoln, Michigan 48742, by phone at (989) 736-8168 or by e-mail at roads@alconacrc.com.

Student wellness team develops healthy habits for Alcona Elementary

By Judy MacNeill
Health Columnist

I have some good news and some bad news.

First, the bad news... You've probably heard by now the depressing prediction about our national obesity epidemic. At the rate we are going, over 60 percent of Michiganders will be obese in just 18 years, up from our current 31 percent obesity rate.

Our growing waistlines will also cause rates of obesity-related medical problems to also double or triple. Conditions such as type 2 diabetes, coronary heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, and obesity-related cancer will skyrocket in the next 20-30 years as a result of the obesity epidemic. And, of course, our wallets and pocketbooks will be impacted as health care costs soar due to a more unfit nation.

whole grains) and achieve at least 60 minutes of physical activity every day.

Alcona Elementary decided to participate in Fuel Up to Play 60 program this year, and has already recruited eight elementary students to form a FUTP60 Wellness Team comprised of: Malcom Dix, Pierce Bilbey, Matthew Warner, Brianna Fogle, Trinity Keyser and Faith Wallenmaier, all from sixth grade, and two fifth-graders -- Hunter Canute and Rose Schopfer.

They meet one or more times per month to brainstorm on how to create a healthier Alcona Elementary. Andrea Eby, Alcona Tiger Clinic nurse and yours truly act as program advisors, but it's the students that run the program.

Andrea is already impressed with what she sees. "The (Fuel Up to Play 60) turns interviewing Seth Coffing, physical education teacher at Alcona Elementary and came away with interesting feedback. "I found out that our school is doing "pretty good" when it came to physical fitness," Bilbey said. However, his team acknowledges more can be done to improve the physical activity levels of the students.

Rose Schopfer and Hunter Canute learned after interviewing Pam Rasmussen in food service that Alcona Community Schools has made some great health improvements in foods being served. "(Alcona Elementary) could do a lot better when introducing new, healthier foods to students," Rose said. "Kids need to be able to taste test and give feedback (on new food choices)."

Faith Wallenmaier, Trinity Keyser and Brianna Fogle explained their interview with

Now, the good news... Stop by Alcona Elementary and you will see how students there are working hard to reverse those depressing trends.

A newly formed wellness team, comprised of eight fifth and sixth-graders is leading the charge. They are utilizing a national program, called "Fuel Up to Play 60" to accomplish their mission of making Alcona Elementary a healthier place to go to school.

Fuel Up to Play 60 (FUTP60) is a national school-based wellness initiative founded by the National Dairy Council and National Football League, in collaboration with U.S. Department of Agriculture.

At no cost to schools that choose to participate, FUTP60 is designed to engage and empower youth to take action for their own health by making long-term, positive changes for themselves and their schools, and inspire their friends to do the same. FUTP60 focuses on promoting healthier eating and more physical activity opportunities school-wide by encouraging youth to consume nutrient-rich foods (low-fat and fat-free dairy foods, fruits, vegetables and program is so well organized, and I like that it's student-driven. It gives them ownership of their accomplishments. By having (health) information coming from their peers, the students are more likely to get involved. It's a win-win situation for everyone."

Paula Welling, family nurse practitioner for Alcona Tiger Clinic, couldn't agree more. "I'm so excited about this program. I think the timing is right. I am really seeing the need (for a program on healthy food and physical activity choices), and the kids are amazing... they are really taking on this program and embracing it."

School has only been in session a few weeks, yet the FUTP60 Wellness Team has been hard at work. They have completed a school wellness investigation and they have interviewed the co-principal, food service director and the physical education teacher about what's healthy at Alcona Elementary. The Team is also looking at what areas need to be addressed; and their favorite part -- coming up with creative solutions to make Alcona Elementary the healthiest school in the U.S.

Pierce Bilbey, Matthew Warner and Malcom Dix took

Dan O'Connor, assistant principal for Alcona Community Schools, gave them ideas on how the school could keep both kids and parents better informed of healthy food choices and how to become more physically active. They are buzzing with ideas on how to go about this.

The Alcona FUTP60 Wellness Team is already making plans to get all of their fellow students involved in FUTP60. To build excitement and increase visibility about FUTP60, they've identified and voted on a FUTP60 Kick-Off Event. The team has also visited the FUTP60 website (www.FuelUpToPlay60.com) and made personal pledges to eat healthier and be physically active at least 60 minutes each day...and are encouraging their friends and family to do the same.

So stay tuned on how this dynamic group of kids is going to improve their health and that of their friends and family, because, as noted anthropologist Margaret Mead once said, "Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever

NASCAR REPORT

Kevin Harvick sure could use a win

NASCAR This Week
By Monte Dutton

The good news is that Kevin Harvick managed to make the Chase for the Sprint Cup for the sixth time in the past seven seasons.

The bad news is that, so far, Harvick hasn't managed to win a race. He finished 11th in the second installment of NASCAR's race-offs and is already 31 points off Jimmie Johnson's pace.

Richard Childress Racing, where Harvick competes alongside Jeff Burton and Paul Menard, is winless, though the organization has prospered in the Nationwide and Camping World Truck series. RCR last went winless at the Cup level in 2009. The team has been stuck on 100 Sprint Cup victories all year. Harvick won four times in 2011.

Twice this season Harvick has finished second, the most recent runner-up showing occurring at Dover International Speedway, the next stop on the Cup schedule.

"I think for us we need to make our cars better," Harvick said. "We need to get faster."

Duh.

"We have been fortunate to be in the position that we are in, points-wise. You've got to kind of balance that with trying to get better and also trying to protect what you've got."

Harvick, 36, has a knack for consistency. In the past three weeks, the Bakersfield, Calif., native has finished 10th, 12th and 11th. In fact, he's finished in a range of 10th to 16th in eight of the past nine races. The exception was a fifth at Atlanta on Labor Day weekend.

It's not the kind of consistency Harvick has in mind.

The RCR operation finds itself playing catch-up in the Chase, which isn't a good place to be.

"I don't think there is really one specific thing that you can put your finger on to say this is what we are doing," Harvick said. "I think it's a lot of things that need to get better. Everybody is working on them. We didn't capitalize on the situations that we were in to win races at the beginning of the year. Performance hasn't been exactly where we needed to be. Everybody is working hard to try to get it to that point. Hopefully, we can do that."

At this late point, it's a hard feat to accomplish.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Fun Views Inaugurate October

If you like watching sunsets, the next seven days offer the casual observer an opportunity to witness how fast the pace of nature can progress. You'll note a 10 minute difference in sundown times from the beginning to the week's end, a 16 minute decrease in the time of daylight if sunrises are also taken into consideration. Early in the week after sunset, notice the nearly full moon low in the east illuminating the landscape during late twilight. This past full moon (Saturday at 10 p.m., EDT) was the Harvest Moon, when farmers, especially in Europe, would continue to use the light of a bright moon to prolong harvesting activities well past sundown. This is also a good week for astronomical events if your waking hours are more inclined to an early rise time. The year's closest appulse of a planet and a bright star happens on the morning of the third. An appulse is simply a close approach of one celestial body to another. In this case it is the intensely bright Venus right next to the first magnitude star Regulus in the constellation of Leo the Lion. From the East Coast the pair is separated by just nine minutes of arc at 5 a.m. Venus will be over 150 times brighter than Regulus. This might make the alpha star of Leo difficult to spot with the unaided eye in the glare of Venus. Use binoculars to help separate the two and allow for their easier inspection. Employ a small to medium aperture telescope to witness the gibbous or bulbous phase of Venus next to this bright star. While you are gawking at the appulse, and maybe even applauding, take note of bright Jupiter to the left of the gibbous moon. Another close pairing is ramping up for Friday. Midnight on Friday finds the moon about four degrees distant from Jupiter. Look east. If you choose a dawn sighting (5:30 a.m., Oct. 6), the pair will be farther apart, but you'll have the winter constellations adding their glitter to the morning sky. www.astronomy.org

- Half of the Earth's surface is covered by the Pacific Ocean.
- Need more evidence that portion sizes in America are getting larger? In the 1964 edition of the iconic "Joy of Cooking," a recipe for chocolate chip cookies was said to yield 45 servings. When the cookbook's 1997 edition was published, the same recipe was said to yield 36 servings.
- The original name of the city of Melbourne, Australia, was Batmania.
- In the original calculations made by NASA experts, a landing on the moon was thought to have only a 5 percent chance of success.

- In rural Wisconsin in 1921, two third-grade students in a one-room schoolhouse became sweethearts. At the end of the school year, Lorraine Beatty and Mac McKittrick lost touch with each other. This story would be unremarkable, except for what happened 87 years later. In 2009, their brothers, who had become friends, brought the couple back together again. Shortly thereafter, the couple married and moved in with each other in a retirement home.

Thought for the Day: "Youth is like having a big plate of candy. Sentimentalists think they want to be in the pure, simple state they were in before they ate the candy. They don't. They just want the fun of eating it all over again." — F. Scott Fitzgerald

- On Oct. 18, 1767, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon complete their survey of the boundary between the colonies of Pennsylvania and Maryland, as well as areas that would become Delaware and West Virginia. The Mason-Dixon line created the boundary at a northern latitude of 39 degrees and 43 minutes.
- On Oct. 21, 1797, the USS Constitution, a 44-gun U.S. Navy frigate built to fight Barbary pirates off the coast of Tripoli, is launched in Boston Harbor. During the War of 1812, the Constitution won its enduring nickname "Old Ironsides" after witnesses claimed that the British shots merely bounced off the Constitution's sides.

- On Oct. 19, 1931, David Cornwell, later known as spy novelist John le Carre, is born in Poole, England. He published his first spy novel, "Call for the Dead," in 1961. The novel, like his second, "A Murder of Quality" (1962), featured spy George Smiley.
- On Oct. 15, 1946, Herman Goering, commander in chief of the Luftwaffe and head of the Gestapo, dies by his own hand. He was found guilty at Nuremberg and committed suicide by swallowing a cyanide tablet he had hidden from his guards.

- On Oct. 20, 1968, 21-year-old Oregonian Dick Fosbury wins gold medal and sets an Olympic record when he high-jumps 7 feet, 4 1/4 inches at the Mexico City Games. It was the international debut of Fosbury's unique jumping style, known as the "Fosbury Flop," which, according to one journalist, "looked like a guy falling off the back of a truck."
