Lack of membership plagues VFW Post No. 6466

By Cheryl Peterson
Editor

A plea to local veterans to get involved in a local organization may be coming in at the last minute.

The plea is being made by Lincoln resident Ben Leeseberg, a veteran of the U.S. Army, who served in Afghanistan during Operation Enduring Freedom for 15 months in 2007-2008. He has been a member of the Alcona County Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post No. 6466 for two years.

While admittedly not an active member prior to the June 12 meeting, he hopes to become more involved very soon and is encouraging other local veterans to do the same because, if that doesn't happen the VFW post will close.

He attended the meeting after receiving a letter from the Alcona County VFW Post No. 6466 Commander Ronald Skiba which said, "We must take a vote by the membership to keep Post No. 6466 open. It is required by the national VFW bylaws that a meeting and vote take place. Depending on the outcome of the vote (that) will dictate what action will take place."

"I have been on the phone talking to a variety of different people... trying to get them involved," Leeseberg said. "I'm trying to make it so we don't shut down the post, but we need active members. I don't want to see it shut down, it's been here forever."

The post was chartered on April 7, 1946 with 67 members including Ted Kruttlin Sr., Dave Peterson, Wayne

Riebow, Joe Bielusiak, Clifford Dellar and Harry Wiedbrauk. The idea to start a post in Harrisville came from a group of guys socializing at what was then called "the snake pit" which was located in the basement of what is now Shotmaker's bar on the corner of US-23 and M-72 in Harrisville. "We decided to get a VFW going in Alcona County," said Dave Peterson. "There had been one for World War I vets, but it closed. So, we got a hold of folks in Alpena and then formed it... we started bingo games early on to raise funds."

Closing the post is not something Commander

Alcona chamber readies for summer events

By Carlee Campbell
Staff Writer

Events and festivals are everywhere with the arrival of summer in Alcona County, and the Alcona County Chamber of Commerce is hard at working getting them up and running.

This summer, the community will see the return of annual events such as the Antiques and Collectable Show, Sunrise Side Wine and Food Festival and Fireworks display, and a new event with the Culpepper-Merriweather Circus on July 3.

While the majority of events are in July, the chamber conducts business year 'round and planning for events can start a year before it takes place.

Chamber sponsored events require a committee of both chamber members and non-members and a board member to oversee them. Funds come from donations, admission fees and vendor fees. All this work is done through community members volunteering their time and energy.

Alcona's chamber differs from that of Alpena's and others because chamber officers are not paid for their work and they don't sponsor community events. But former chamber president Judy Labadie said that's what she thinks is great about Alcona's chamber. "I think it promotes and speaks highly of the community," Labadie said.

Founded in 1976, the chamber was formed by Richard Sella, who owns Richard's Pharmacy in Harrisville. It was then known as the Huron Shores Chamber of Commerce until it was changed to the Alcona County

Chamber of Commerce in 2012. "We weren't really representing the entire county," Labadie said. "People were also mistaking us for Huron County in the thumb (of the state)."

The mission of the chamber is "advancing the economic and socioeconomic well-being of Alcona County through the organized efforts of the chamber membership." With 77 members currently, the chamber officers and members continue to work under the original mission statement but with updated bylaws with which they conduct business, according to Labadie.

To become a member of the chamber, in individual must own a business, which can be storefront or be run out of their home, or represent a service organization. Members, who must be voted in, are required to pay yearly dues of $100.

Soccer program needs volunteers to keep going

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

While much of the athletic world is focused on the 2014 World Cup in Brazil, a few soccer enthusiasts in Alcona County are trying to keep the soccer program alive on a local level.

About 130 local youth are interested in participating in soccer and want the program to continue, but local Region 584 of the American Youth Soccer Organization (AYSO) is having a hard time filling some much needed seats on its board.

Region 584 is the local board which governs AYSO soccer in the Alcona area; it also serves youth in parts of Alpena and Iosco counties. Youth soccer was first organized in the area as part of a 4-H program. Region 584 was formed in the late 1980s and in its heyday, served between 250 to 300 soccer playing youth from age four and a half to 19.

Les Thomas, 4-H coordinator for the Alcona area and volunteer referee coordinator for AYSO Region 584, said the program mirrored many of the youth self-worth development skills as 4-H encompasses, which is why he got excited about it and joined the board. In addition to the referee coordinator position, Thomas also maintains the field at the fairgrounds where the kids practice and play games. His wife, Christie, is the programs registrar.

Thomas said he never played soccer as a kid, but learned about the sport watching his own kids play. "The kids don't just learn about soccer. They are getting physical activity, being part of a team and learning sportsmanship while playing. All of these things are imperative to growing up to be a well-balanced adult," Thomas said. He explained the self-worth the kids receive by positive reinforcement is essential to a child's development.

The basic philosophy of the AYSO is really all about self worth and raising children's esteem rather than focusing on how well they play. It also teaches soccer skills for youth who want to go on to play competitive soccer in high school and beyond.

The AYSO has six guiding principles of philosophy: Every one plays - no sitting on the bench no matter what skill level; balanced teams based on skill; open registra-

Letters: Responsibility comes with sharing opinions

Providing a forum for the open exchange of views is one of the various responsibilities of a newspaper. In providing that forum in our Letters to the Editor section, we encourage the civil discourse of opinions. To be fair to anyone who wants to contribute to this forum, we have developed a Letters to the Editor policy that provides guidelines for anyone who decides to participate.

While this policy encompasses a wide variety of situations, occasionally a letter is submitted that falls outside of those guidelines. Such is the case with the Letter to the Editor submitted by Paul Peterson in this week's edition.

In his letter, Mr. Peterson makes several critical statements about Pastor Ernest Ruemenapp and his "beliefs." Pastor Ruemenapp is typically not considered a public figure, therefore, not open to scrutiny in this type of forum. However, by giving an invocation in front of the Michigan House of Representatives, he is considered, according to our legal counsel, "a limited purpose public figure."

However, during the process of fact checking we found that many of the claims made by Mr. Peterson about Pastor Ruemenapp were incorrect. Given that finding, we considered two options – not printing the letter or giving Pastor Ruemenapp the opportunity to address these claims in the same edition. When Pastor Ruemenapp decided to respond, we decided to print Mr. Peterson's letter.

Anyone who writes a Letter to the Editor is subject to our guidelines (see below) and the right of fair comment, which in summary, is: "Everyone has the right to comment on matters of public interest and concern, provided they do so fairly and with an honest purpose. Such comments or criticisms are not libelous, however severe in their terms, unless they are written maliciously."

Cheryl Peterson
Editor

Letters to the Editor Policy

- All letters must be signed by the author. Unsigned letters are not read, they are thrown away. Freedom of speech includes the responsibility for what is said.
- An address and telephone number of the author must be included with the letter, for verification, not publication. If the editor cannot check the authenticity of the letter, it will not be published.
- Letters must be limited to 300 words. We want to publish as many letters as possible however, we don't always have room. Letters will be printed as space allows. Letters will be held, if necessary, for the next publication.
- The deadline for submitting letters for consideration of publication is Monday at noon. Any letter that is submitted which requires additional review will be held until determined printable.
- The editor reserves the right to edit any and all letters for style, length and libelous content. In many cases editing corrects spelling and grammar. If any major editing is required, the editor usually holds the letter to talk to the author or returns the letter with an explanation.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
Our American roots in spirituality shaped history and still inform the present. However, our government, which is secular, must be careful to both protect freedom of religion and freedom from religion. Not all religions work toward the public good. Those that don't, while free to express their beliefs, should not be given an official public platform. A perfect example is the decision of Representative Peter Pettalia to invite a self-proclaimed pastor of a contentious nondenominational church to give the official invocation to the state Legislature in Lansing on May 20.

Ernest Ruemenapp, who has no seminary training, openly promotes the Exodus Mandate project that encourages families to leave "Pharaoh's" public school system for the "Promised Land" of Christian schools or homeschooling. It was inappropriate to have him pray in front of a legislative body whose function is to make sure we have a strong public education system accessible to all the children of Michigan.
Mr. Ruemenapp also teaches a literal six days of creation as presented in the metaphorical hymn of creation in Genesis. And, Mr. Ruemenapp teaches that women are to be submissive to their husbands and their place is at home. Misogyny and ignorance of science are protected opinions under the First Amendment of our Constitution. But an adherent to those views, who is also openly hostile to public education, should not be validated by a state representative by praying before our democratically elected government, or as Mr. Ruemenapp says, "Pharaoh."

Mr. Pettalia even posted a picture of Mr. Ruemenapp on his official government web page, so my question for him is: Are those views you share?
Rev. Paul Peterson
Harrisville

To the Editor,
Contrary to Peterson's claims I am not a "self-proclaimed pastor of a contentious non-denominational church." I am a pastor of a very loving and compassionate Baptist church, who was duly called by the members of the church to be their pastor. I believe that Peterson's unwarranted public criticism of our church is itself very contentious, and very telling.
Peterson asserts that our government must work to protect "freedom of religion and freedom from religion." However, the First Amendment reads "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof;" I agree that government must protect "freedom of religion" but I reject the notion that government must protect "freedom from religion." Who would decide what religions we must be protected from? Men like Paul Peterson? I think not.

Peterson has taken many of my beliefs out of context, and has put words in my mouth that I have never uttered. I believe that his criticism of me is so outrageous and unsavory that it doesn't even warrant a response. Though I have definite disagreements with Peterson, I have never tried to limit his ability to promote his beliefs. Unfortunately, Peterson seems unwilling to extend to me the same consideration. It appears that while Peterson is claiming to carry the mantel for tolerance, he seems to have absolutely no tolerance for historic, biblical Christianity.

Peterson has criticized Representative Pettalia for choosing a conservative, evangelical pastor for the invocation. According to Peterson such a Christian is unfit to serve in our government. I encourage our readers to listen to the invocation at www.church72.org and decide for themselves. I am confident that most people in our community would strongly disagree with Peterson's unabashed willingness to decide for himself what religious views should be accepted in the public forum.

To the Editor,
I would like to defend Dr. Tom Marshall's column on immunizations which was well researched and factual, and backed up by a lot of great information for parents of young children.
Dr. Marshall has served our community for many years and has seen firsthand the devastating effects these childhood diseases have had. If you were born in the 1950s like I was, you remember how scared your parents were when a child in the neighborhood or at school got polio, measles, mumps, or chicken pox. And when it finally got to your house (which it always eventually did) do you remember how sick you were? Vaccinations for my children eliminated those worries for me and I am grateful they did not have to endure it.

Anyone of an opinion can easily find articles, studies, and "proof" that their opinion is correct. I can find dozens of "unimpeachable" articles that prove the earth is flat, that man never landed on the moon, or that we are really living a "Matrix" type of life. But when you look at the research as a whole, in this case immunizations, you see that 99.9 percent of it finds no link between vaccines and these other diseases.

So should you vaccinate your children? Of course you should.
The controversy surrounding Andrew Wakefield (he has been stripped of his medical license) can be found on the Internet at en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Andrew\_Wakefield.
I think you will find Dr. Marshall's information correct and accurate. I don't know what Mr. Thomas' background is (a qualified immunologist?) but I'll put my trust and confidence in Dr. Marshall's recommendations any day.

Cottage Food Law

Michigan State University (MSU) Extension is offering one and two-hour workshops on Michigan's Cottage Food Law, as well as online training. This law allows residents to prepare and store certain foods in a home kitchen. The two-hour workshops are taught by MSU Extension food safety and MSU Product Center educators and combine the business and food safety aspects of preparing and selling cottage foods safely and successfully. Instructed by MSU Extension food safety educators, the one hour workshops cover the food safety aspect of preparing cottage foods for sale, including preparing, packaging, labeling, storing and transporting cottage foods. Participants in the workshops will receive a food safety participation certificate of completion to display when selling their cottage foods. For more information about Michigan Cottage Food Law and for the online training, go to www.msue.msu.edu and search "Cottage Food Law."

One-hour Cottage Food Law training date is July 10 from 10 to 11 a.m. at 2389 South M-76, West Branch, Mich. For information, call (989) 345-1090.

Mikado Days Celebration

Mikado Days, a family-oriented celebration, will be held in Mikado on Saturday, July 12. The line-up for the parade will be at Tait Road from 10 to 11 a.m. Anyone wishing to enter a float, whether dressed as clowns, decorated bicycles, members of an organization as a group, Boy or Girl Scouts, may just join the line-up. Veterans wanted:

There will be a two and a half ton truck with trailer at the parade line-up at Tait Road for all veterans that wish to get on board. This is to recognize, honor and to thank veterans for their service. Other scheduled activities are the fire department water ball competition, Alcona Masons Child Identification booth, Reed's Car Cruise (cars, trucks and motorcycles welcome, call (989) 736-0741), Grace Community Church puppet show, kid's carnival games, Mike Maturen's magical act, Allband multi-media, 1860s baseball game, 4-H bake sale and face painting, Joe Cox's flute carving and flute music, Relay for Life hat sale, one bounce and one wet slide (plan on getting wet), food sales, crafters and flea marketers. For the car cruise, first 50 vehicles to register will receive "goodie bags and dash plaques." For information or to obtain a craft or flea market application, call (989) 736-7721.

Dues paid go to keeping the office for the chamber open and running, though office staff aren't paid and are strictly volunteers. Individuals do not have to be a member of the chamber to volunteer to work in the office. The office is located in the Harbortown Marketplace in downtown Harrisville.

To become an officer, which is a member that serves on the executive board, members must be in good standing — having paid their dues and have good attendance at meetings. Executive officer positions consist of the president, vice president, treasurer, secretary and three trustees. The terms for officers are two years and for trustees it's three years, according to chamber treasurer Christy Holmes.

Labadie, owner of Coming Attractions gifts and jewelry in Harrisville, was president from 2008 until 2012. Though terms last two years, officers like Labadie may be re-elected for two terms or more. "Most people in town have, at one point, been on the board," Labadie said.

Currently, the chamber is running without a president and has been for two years. But even with that vacancy, the chamber still moves forward conducting business and planning events. General members vote on meeting agendas and the minutes from meetings and vote in new officers, according to Holmes.

Executive board members vote primarily on finances. Though in both cases, majority votes win.

The current members serving on executive board are Rich Gillies as vice president, Karen Sanderson as secretary and Christy Holmes as treasurer. The trustees consist of Kevin Boyat, James Pyne and Ed Toombs.

Chamber meetings are the second Wednesday of every month at 6 p.m. at the Harrisville branch of the Alcona County Library. All meetings conducted by the chamber are open to the public.

Chamber events

- Thursday, July 3: The Culpepper-Merriweather Circus is coming to Harrisville. An event for all ages, the performance will last 90 minutes and is located at the Harrisville Township Recreation Area. There are two shows at 4 and 7:30 p.m.

- Saturday, July 5: The biggest fireworks display in Alcona County comes back again to Harrisville Harbor at dusk.

- Saturday, July 12 and Sunday, July 13: The 19th Annual Antique & Collectables Show sports nearly 30 different antique vendors and musical entertainment from 9 a.m. to 5

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

How to protect your medicare card from identity theft

Dear Savvy Senior, I just turned 65 and received my Medicare card. I see that the ID number on my card is the same as my Social Security number, and on the back of the card it tells me I need to carry it with me at all times. What can I do to protect myself from identify theft if my purse and Medicare card get stolen?

Conflicted Beneficiary

Dear Conflicted,

Many people new to Medicare are surprised to learn that the ID number on their Medicare card is identical to their Social Security number (SSN). After all, we're constantly warned not to carry our SSN around with us, because if it gets lost or stolen, the result could be identity theft.

But the Medicare ID is more than an identifier. It's proof of insurance. Beneficiaries need to show their Medicare card at the doctor's office and the hospital in order to have Medicare pay for treatment.

Over the years, many consumer advocates, have called for a new form of Medicare identification. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, which administers Medicare, also acknowledges the problem, but so far nothing has been done.

One of the main reasons is because it would cost an estimated $255 to $317 million to fix it. And that's just the direct cost to the federal government. It doesn't include the expense for physicians and other healthcare providers to adjust their systems, or the cost to the states.

Other government health systems like the Department of Veterans Affairs and Department of Defense have already begun using ID numbers that are different from SSNs, but no one knows when Medicare will follow suit.

In the meantime, here are some tips offered by various consumer advocate groups that can help keep your Medicare card safe and out of the hands of fraudsters.

• For starters, AARP suggests that you simply don't carry your Medicare card at all, because it's not necessary. Most healthcare providers already have their patients in their electronic systems and know how to bill you.

But if you really don't feel comfortable not having it with you, then the Privacy Rights Clearing House, a national consumer resource on identity theft recommends that you make a photocopy of your card and cut it down to wallet size. Then use scissors to cut out the last four digits of your SSN, or take a black marker and cross them out, and carry that instead.

You will, however, need your actual Medicare card with you the first time you visit a new health care provider, who will likely want to make a photocopy of it for their files.

If you're worried that you'll need your card in an emergency situation in order to get care, you should know that emergency personnel cannot refuse you care until you show an insurance card. Although you'll need to come up with billing information before leaving a hospital, that doesn't mean you won't receive care.

• If your Medicare card does happen to get lost or stolen, you can replace it by calling Social Security at (800) 772-1213. You can also apply for a new card online at ssa.gov/medicarecard or go to your local Social Security office.

• If your Medicare card has been lost or stolen, you will need to watch out for Medicare fraud. You can do this by checking your quarterly Medicare summary notices for services or supplies you did not receive. If you spot anything suspicious or wrong, call the Inspector General's fraud hotline at (800) 447-8477.

• If you need help identifying Medicare fraud, contact your state Senior Medicare Patrol program. See smpr-source.org or call (877) 808-2468 for contact information.

(Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org.)

Skiba wants to do either, but membership is waning and so is member involvement. "We are way below the number of members we need - if we don't have 50 active members the state will pull the charter," Skiba said.

He explained that prior to the June 12 meeting he mailed 45 letters to post members - 26 of the letters were sent out of county and out of state; 19 were mailed to local members. In response he received nine post cards with six members voting to close the post and three to keep the post open. Eight people attended the meeting with six voting to close the post and two voting to keep it open.

"The majority vote was to close the post," Skiba said. "But, we've been asked to hold off until the June 26 meeting to give out of state members additional time to respond."

By then, Leeseberg hopes to have several people interested in being new members who want to get involved. "A lot of people think it's for the elderly. It's not. I thought I was too young, but it's for any veteran who served overseas in a combat zone," he said. "I'm asking people if they know of someone - a friend, family member - ask them to consider it."

Skiba explained the membership requirements are determined by the national chapter. Prospective members have to have served in a combat/war zone for a minimum of six weeks; and were honorably or medically discharged. All branches of the military are eligible. Annual dues are $39 a year or individuals may pay for a life membership. "If someone joins, the post pays their dues for the first year," Skiba said.

After reviewing the current membership list, Skiba said the post members include approximately six World War II veterans, 10 Korean War veterans, 14 Vietnam War veterans and two veterans who served in Afghanistan and Iraq. Those that served during the Cuban Missile Crisis and in Lebanon are also eligible.

Skiba, who is a veteran of the Korean War, has been commander since 2006. He said membership has several benefits - first and foremost is the camaraderie and the support that comes from spending time with other veterans who have experienced combat. "The meetings are once a month and you can sit down, have a beer and shoot the breeze," he said. What can come from that type of socializing depends on an individual's situation - sometimes it is just visiting, sometimes getting individual support, understanding and encouragement, and other times it can be finding help for health or financial problems by learning of programs and other entities that are available for veterans.

There is also an opportunity to serve the community by getting involved in Memorial Day and Veterans Day recognition and remembrance activities at cemeteries and public services. Some members also participate in funeral details. "We serve the community by putting on the Voice of Democracy program at the high school which involves a scholarship and Loyalty Day that shows students veterans' dedication to their country through their service. We also typically participate in the Fourth of July parade and Labor Day parade in Harrisville," Skiba said. "On Memorial Day and Veterans Day, with the help of the Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, we mark the graves of veterans, and hold a public ceremony. On the Fourth of July we also give out free hot dogs and refreshments. Unfortunately, we won't be doing that this year."

Skiba explained that VFW posts have been closing across the state over the years. Two in the area that are still active are in Barton City and Oscoda. "With four or five people doing things - you just get worn out. You can only beg (for involvement) for so (long), after a while you just get tired of it because there isn't any response."

Founding member Dave Peterson understands what Skiba has been going through. A resident of Florida, Peterson was the commander of the post for nine years. "During my last couple of years (membership) kept getting thinner and thinner... folks have either died or moved away... People don't show up or don't care. It's a natural thing... Ron shouldn't feel one bit guilty. He'd done everything possible. He's tried so hard (to keep it going).

Skiba and other members do want to give Leeseberg a chance to find new members. If new members do join and become involved, Skiba said that will be considered. The process of closing the post is detailed and will take some time. "Regardless of what happens, I am stepping down as commander. I will continue to support the post. Several other members have offered their support to new members. I will continue to work, but again, I can't continue to beat my head against it."

The next meeting is June 26 at 7 p.m. at the VFW Hall on Lake Street (located above the health department offices) in Harrisville. For more information, contact Leeseberg at 335-3881 or Skiba at 724-5420.

The circus is coming to Harrisville bringing with it two tigers, a lion and other animal acts. (The Alpena News, p5a, 6-19-14)

But you may not be aware that:

- Animals used in circuses are captives who are forced to perform confusing, uncomfortable, repetitious and often painful acts.
- Circuses would quickly lose their appeal if more people knew about the cruel methods used to train the animals as well as the cramped confinement, unacceptable travel, and poor treatment that they endure - not to mention what happens to them when they 'retire'.
- Physical punishment has always been the standard training method for animals in circuses. Trainers drug some animals to make them 'manageable' and surgically remove teeth and claws of others.
- Constant travel means that animals are confined to boxcars, trailers, or trucks for days at a time in extremely hot and cold weather, often without access to basic necessities such as food, water and veterinary care.
- The uses of animals in entertainment has already been restricted or banned in cities across the U.S. and in countries worldwide. Animal-free circuses are exciting and innovative with trapeze artists, jugglers, clowns, tightrope walkers and acrobats.

tion - there are no try outs, anyone age four and a half to 19 years can play; positive coaching; good sportsmanship; and player development - getting the kids to develop in the game of soccer.

Thomas said another great thing about the program is soccer is a sport which doesn't cost parents a lot to have their children participate. "It's a sport you can play with very minimal equipment. All parents really need to buy is cleats and shin guards which I've seen at garage sales and resale stores. There is a $50 charge per season to belong to AYSO which pays for the uniform, player insurance and $5 for a few incidentals," mas and his wife did recently hold a picture fund-raiser where they took athletic photos of each youth who participated and parents were able to purchase. The funds earned from this were used to purchase a fertilizer spreader.

Thomas said with all this going in favor of soccer it would seem a shame to see the program end just because not enough people were willing to step up and serve on the board, but he admitted the positions which need to be filled immediately were some of the most taxing on volunteers.

He explained the region has enjoyed some top notch new coaches with AYSO training through website videos. The CA also schedules the fall and spring games including coordinating the games with other regions for the traveling teams. Thomas said not all teams travel to other regions, only the under 14 youth group which plays in the fall and the 12 to 19 youth who play in the spring travel.

Another position the board may need is a safety coordinator to make sure safety procedures are followed on the field. This would require attendance at games.

"We are up against a battle with time to keep the fall season going as we will begin taking registration for fall (teams) in July. If we can't get a regional commissioner and a coach administrator we will have to put a hold on the fall season and, potentially, the spring season. I would hate to see this program end. We still have a lot of youth interested and our soccer program feeds the high school team," Thomas said. If the region is without registrations for two years it would be dissolved.

Anyone who would like additional information on the positions available or would be willing to take a position, contact Les Thomas at (989) 724-6478.

If we can't get a regional commissioner and a coach administrator we will have to put a hold on the fall season and, potentially, the spring season. I would hate to see this program end. We still have a lot of youth interested and our soccer program feeds the high school team."

- Les Thomas
AYSO Soccer Referee

Thomas said.

The youth play soccer either in the fall or spring depending on age and skill and a price break is given to youth who play both seasons.

Many families enjoy soccer in Alcona because of the wide age range and the fact it is co-ed which allows all the children in the family to play at similar times with practice and games typically held on Saturdays, Thomas explained.

There is also a national scholarship to help with the $50 soccer fee for any youth who meet the criteria. Thomas said the scholarship is for 80 percent of the fee and he has not heard of anyone who met the criteria, filled out the paper work and turned it in on time, not receive a scholarship.

Thomas said the program does not do a lot of fund raising because it has received overwhelming sponsorship support from the community and local businesses. "They have all really been phenomenal and we are grateful," Thomas said.

Sponsorships help purchase items to maintain the field -- sprinkler heads, grass cutting equipment, fertilizer -- and soccer balls, nets and end of the year trophies. Tho-volunteers, but for an assortment of personal reasons they are stepping away from soccer. "Some no longer have kids involved in the sport, others have responsibilities elsewhere which limit the amount of time they can give soccer," Thomas said.

The vacancies have left enormous gaps in the program because so many board members held multiple positions. Thomas said some of the positions may only need to meet six to eight times a year such as secretary or treasurer which does not require any soccer knowledge. Other positions require knowledge of the sport or at least skills in volunteer management and require a greater time investment.

The board needs to fill the regional commissioner (RC), coach administrator (CA), treasurer, secretary, and uniform coordinator positions.

The two positions which must be filled to have a fall season are the RC and the CA positions. The RC acts as a president for the region. It is the RC's responsibility to oversee all the board members of Region 584 and make sure they are doing their job.

The CA has the responsibility of recruiting volunteers to be coaches and to provide

WADE CORPUS BAND

The Wade Corpus Band plays a variety of music from jazz, Latin, country classic, classic rock, big band era, polkas and waltzes. They perform at birthdays, anniversaries, dances, weddings, sing-a-longs, Oktoberfests and at the Harrisville's Sunrise Side Wine and Food Festival. Jack Venzlaff of Cheboygan – Guitar/Singer. Inducted into the Michigan Country Hall of Fame in 2013. Don Jack of Oscoda, drummer; George Redlawsk of Harrisville, trumpet and horns and Wade Corpus of Herron, keyboard.

AUGUST 6

DONNY HARTMAN BAND

Donny Hartman is one of the original Michigan madmen. During the states' rock and roll heyday in the '60s and '70s Donny was blazing the guitar hero trail with Dick Wagoner and The Frost. The Frost was one of, if not the most popular and visible groups in the Midwest, playing every major festival and venue. One of the founding members, Donny's powerful vocals, showmanship and awesome guitar playing garnered him accolades, fame and guitar hero worship. Donny has influenced the music industry for decades and continues to do so 365 days a year with the Donny Hartman Band. The Donny Hartman Band performs the roots of rock n' roll, blues and soul in a style all their own.

Alcona varsity softball wraps season

By Kendra Cole

Special to the Review

With a season extending from April through May, the Alcona girls varsity softball team faced several obstacles, and still managed to enjoy what they were doing.

The team ended with a record of nine wins, 19 losses, and one tie. They extended the season into the second round of districts by defeating the Au Gres Sims Wolverines, but then lost to the Mio Thunderbolts.

"The girls just kept improving both in physical play and improving their confidence as the season progressed. It was really amazing to watch them grow with the game," said Coach Ashlie O'Connor.

The Lady Tigers faced many weather hindrances as well as their coach being away on maternity leave. The athletes began the year with the assistant coaches Tiffany Wilson, Roxanne Hanner and Larry Elmer. As O'Connor returned to the team after time off, the season was underway. O'Connor also mentioned the toll it took on the team to have such a maximum amount of games in one short time period.

But that didn't stop the team from striving to achieve its goals. In the beginning of the season, O'Connor encouraged the team to raise money for a cancer benefit called Hits for Hope. Community members pledged an amount of money they would give for each hit the Lady Tigers could get. When the season ended the Lady Tigers managed to get 184 hits in their season. As the fundraiser comes to an end, they are waiting to see how well this helped in the effort.

Leading the Alcona softball team offensively was junior Nicole Walen with an average of .509. Hitting was Walen's strong suit as she only struck out six times and had 14 runs batted in (RBI). Defensively, Kendra Cole led the team with a fielding percentage of .955 and only three errors. Cole also led the team in pitching.

As the Lady Tigers' season came to an end, team members had to say goodbye to only one senior, Hannah Terpstra.

"We had one senior, Hannah Terpstra, who made a huge impact. Her leadership, dedication, and commitment will always be remembered and exhibited by those that had the honor to play with her," said Coach O'Connor.

Next year, the Alcona girls varsity softball team returns with most of the players from this season and plans to have many more accomplishments.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Meteorites Tell Stories of Times Past

I've been scouting for meteorites on eBay for the past week. It has become somewhat of an annual tradition which has resulted in the discovery of dealers who are knowledgeable, provide accurate descriptors, and document their space rocks with good photographs. Many retailers are members of the International Meteorite Collectors Association (IMCA), a group of buyers and sellers that police the market looking for dodgy dealers and meteorwrongs, fakes that are really terrestrial in origin or human made. Many meteorites are rather dull and unattractive. In fact, I have often joked that the most unappealing displays at large mineral and fossil shows are the meteorite dealers. So what is so appealing about owning a few rocks from space or for that matter collecting them? One factor is that a meteorite has spent virtually all of its existence in space. The meteorites that fall to Earth today were broken up only 50-500 million years ago in collisions among larger bodies, signifying that new supplies of space debris continue to be generated for the Earth and other planets to encounter. Hold a meteorite in your hand, and you are witnessing something as old as the solar system itself, 4.5+ billion years. The breakups may have been recent history, but the bodies from which they originated, formed about the same time that the Earth was accreting. One of my favorite meteorites is a tiny one gram slice of the Monroe which fell to Earth at 3 p.m. on October 31, 1849 in the future confederate state of North Carolina. It is chock-full of small spherical bodies called chondrules. See the online picture. These were the first dust packets of accreting matter in our planetary system. They were heated, melted, and frozen into spheres which stuck together in ever increasing numbers as the sun's nuclear furnace ignited. What a wonderful treasure it is to possess as visual proof a small "piece" of the solar system's birth. www.astronomy.org

Fly season is quickly approaching

Although much of what a trout feeds on throughout the year is under the water's surface, June is prime time for dry-fly fishing for stream trout.

Many aquatic insects, like mayflies, stoneflies, and caddisflies found in trout streams emerge during June making it an exciting time to fish with "dry" flies (those that float on the surface of the water). Check with local tackle shops or fly shops to see what might be hatching in your area.

Many of the mayfly hatches occur after sunset, so be sure to be familiar with the river you are fishing, make sure your headlamp/flashlight is working, and have fun. And check out the How-To Go Fly Fishing in Michigan section of our website.

(This tip was written by Neal Godby, fisheries management biologist in Gaylord, Mich.)

Northeast Lower Peninsula June 19

• Burt Lake: Was producing some walleye in the evening.

• Rogers City: Is producing more Chinook salmon along with a mixed bag of Atlantic, pink, coho, steelhead and lake trout. Most are fishing up towards Forty Mile Point and the State Park or down near Swan Bay and Adams Point. Some are using short segments of lead core in 1, 2, 3 or 5 colors or segments of copper less than 150 feet.

Fish were taken on downriggers fished up and down the water column. Lake trout were caught on spoons and attractors with spin glows or peanuts. Salmon are hitting spoons. Hot colors were orange, silver, blues, greens and yellow or anything that glows early and late. Most were trolling vertical in 40 to 80 feet. Atlantic salmon were caught in the top 20 of waters 40 feet deep with bright orange or silver.

• Alpena: Walleye fishing was spotty. A lot of anglers are trolling crawler harnesses or body baits at night. Those trolling along Michekewis Beach when the winds are right did catch a few walleye early in the day. Those fishing the Nine Mile Can and Thunder Bay Island caught Chinook and pink salmon, steelhead and lake trout on a variety of spoons, attractors, spin glows or peanuts. Good colors were green, orange, blue and silver.

• Harrisville: Fishing was steady with salmon, trout and walleye caught north of the harbor to the lighthouse. Lake trout, salmon and steelhead were caught in 50 to 100 feet with downriggers, dipseys, lead core and planer boards with spoons, cut bait or body baits. Walleye were caught around the harbor walls and shallow waters early or late on crawler harnesses or body baits.

• Oscoda: Salmon and lake trout are being caught in 60 to 120 feet. Spoons, body baits and cut bait are all producing. Pier anglers are picking up some channel cats off the end of the pier in the late evening.

Northeast Michigan

Fishing Report

• AuSable River: Steelhead are still making their way up in good numbers and can be found on the beds. Walleye are being caught in the early morning or late evening. Try crawlers, leeches or body baits.

• Higgins Lake: Is producing lots of rock bass along the drop-offs in 30 to 40 feet near the Sunken Island and the Main Island. Try minnows, wax worms or crawlers. Perch were caught in the same area however, deeper in 40 to 50 feet. Lake trout were caught just off the bottom in 80 to 100 feet by those trolling body baits and cowbells or when vertical jigging Swedish pimples or krocodiles. A few whitefish were also caught by those jigging. Good smallmouth bass fishing near the rocks around the Main Island when drifting crawlers.

• Houghton Lake: Anglers are getting the occasional walleye in six to eight feet along the weeds. Most are drifting leeches and crawler harnesses. A few bass were caught in canals and the bluegills are done spawning and have moved to deeper water.

• Tawas: Pier fishing is in summer mode with an assortment of largemouth and smallmouth bass, rock bass and carp being caught. It might still be possible to catch a walleye outside the wall at night. Most boats were still heading to AuGres.

• Tawas River: Is producing some catfish, smallmouth bass and freshwater drum for shore anglers fishing near the mouth.

• AuGres: Continues to have high fishing pressure. Anglers have caught lots of walleye between Point Lookout and Pointe AuGres or two to three miles south of Pointe AuGres. Some of the bigger walleye were caught north of the Charity Islands in 50 to 60 feet. Many are taking limit catches. A few bass anglers were heading out to the Charity Islands to fish for smallmouth.

(The Weekly Fishing Report is intended to give anglers an "idea" of what is going on around the state. Updates for the report come from DNR Fisheries Creel Clerks and field staff as well as DNR Conservation Officers working in the field. For those looking for specific information on a certain body of water, it is safe to say if a certain species is being caught in some waters in that section of the state that have that species. This report has been provided by the DNR Fisheries Division; (517) 284-5830; located in Constitution Hall, 525 W. Allegan Street, Lansing, Mich. 48933.)
