New teachers bring energy, experience to Alcona High School

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Alcona High School welcomed two new teachers last month. Both have a wealth of experience and are well prepared to make lasting and positive impacts on their students.

Tim Campbell is the new industrial arts teacher and Toby Suttle has joined the staff as the new special education teacher.

Campbell, who is beginning his 16th year of teaching, will be taking over for Chuck Boyer, who set the bar high and inspired dozens of students to become state champions in industrial arts with large and skillfully crafted pieces.

Boyer and his wife, Katie, accepted teaching positions on the west side of the state to be closer to their aging parents.

Alcona High School Principal Dan O'Connor said the school was fortunate to find Campbell. "His passion for shop is a class where kids may gravitate who might not be doing as well in other academic areas. For some of them their only reason to come to school is so they can go to shop class," Campbell said.

He will work to encourage students to succeed in wood shop and beyond. "Hopefully the success, focus and energy they have here will transfer over to their other classes," Campbell said.

Campbell would also like to provide knowledge for students to have some self-survival skills after leaving school and know how to do some basic home repairs to problem solve and fix day-to-day projects homeowners and renters face.

Campbell recently moved to northern Michigan, bringing his young family of two daughters, Ella, 4, and Livi, 1, and wife, Amy Nowakowski, closer to her family in Alpena. Growing up in Denver, Colo. he welcomed the working with all different types of young people will be a tremendous asset to the school. He cares about helping kids."

Campbell is very aware of the large shoes he will have to fill by replacing Boyer and said many of the components his predecessor put in place such as competing at Michigan Industrial and Technology Education Society (MITES) and the school Woodworkers Achieving More through Industrial Technology (WAMIT) club will remain the same.

He will, however, bring a different teaching style to the industrial arts program and, as with any change, expects there to be a period of adjustment.

Most of all Campbell wants his classroom to be a safe, yet motivating, place to be. "Wood change not only for his family but because the area has a few things he dearly loves -- water and snow.

Campbell spent four years with the U.S. Coast Guard doing surf rescue after graduating high school. He was one of the first rescuers on scene during the Exxon Valdes oil spill and spent two years in Padre Island, Texas performing fishery control and rescue.

After leaving the Coast Guard and spending some time skiing, Campbell went back to school and earned a bachelor's degree in industrial technology education and a master's degree in educational leadership with a focus on at-risk and special needs students from Colorado State University.

Tigers come from behind to take Owls

By Kendra Cole
Football Writer

The Alcona varsity football team traveled to Oscoda last Friday to battle against the Owls.

The game was nothing short of a battle. After a deficit of 20 points, the Tigers came back in the fourth quarter to win the game 56-55 and claimed ownership of the F-41 trophy for the year.

Coach Jason Somers enforced really sticking to it and playing the rest of the game the best they could and it paid off.

"Friday's game was fun, watching 15 young men turning to one another for strength, believing in each other, and finally overcoming all obstacles," Somers said. "In a game like this all a coach can do is remind the players that there is strength in the team, to believe that each member of the team will do their job, and to take the remainder of the game one play at a time."

The first half began almost immediately with an Owl touchdown. Brock Franklin answered back with a 55-yard run to score one of seven touchdowns in the game.

The Owls came in with another touchdown. Franklin then scored another touchdown, making the match seem pretty even.

The Owls scored yet again with 3:30 left in the first quarter. Franklin ran the defense over to gain 31 yards. Alex Stephenson finished it off with a touchdown by hiding the ball and was untouched by the defense. The two-point conversion was good by Franklin, along with a great block by Jack Hutchinson.

The score was 22-21, Alcona at the end of the first quarter.

The Owls scored a touchdown at the beginning of the second quarter. Oscoda kicked an onside kick and recovered it, which provided another opportunity for a end zone 45 yards later to start the third quarter on a good note. With 11:42 on the clock, the Tigers were down 42-36. Alcona's defense took a stand with stops from Franklin, Sullivan, and Devon Mills. Oscoda was forced to punt. The Tigers tried to work their magic to the cut the lead more but eventually were forced to punts.

J. Hutchinson got the ball back through an interception with 5:42 left. After a touchdown and put them ahead 35-22. The Tigers received the ball but couldn't make a play and Oscoda took over on downs.

Stephenson tried to make a statement by sacking the quarterback for a loss of six yards, along with stops from Dresden Parkinson and Franklin. However, Oscoda still managed to get in another touchdown and pulled ahead 42-22 with 56.1 seconds left in the half. Alcona proved that was enough time to get the job done. Sullivan received the kick and returned it for 15 yards, which allowed Franklin to get another touchdown. The score was 42-28, Tawas at half-time.

Franklin stormed into the couple of small carries, Alcona couldn't get the first down and punted once more. Oscoda finished it off with a touchdown. The two-point conversion was denied by J. Hutchinson who swatted the pass away. The third quarter ended with a score of 48-36, Oscoda.

In the fourth quarter, the Tigers decided the game wasn't over. Alcona stopped Oscoda forcing a punt. With an Owl interception and touchdown and a successful extra point, the score jumped to 55-36, Oscoda.

The Tigers didn't lose hope. They kept battling. Franklin carried for 27-yards and finished with a touchdown and

Readers rely on newspapers more than they realize

By Steve Ranson

Despite the evolution of iPads, smartphones and apps to disseminate the news in one form or another, community newspapers still hold an integral position in gathering and reporting the news.

The community newspaper in its present and electronic formats provides local news and sports as well as comics and legal news ... and the list goes on.

This week is the 75th anniversary of National Newspaper Week, an observance that focuses on the importance of the local daily or weekly newspaper.

According to industry standards, more than 1,300 daily newspapers still bring millions of readers in the United States the news, while more than 7,000 non-daily newspapers serve communities in every state and territory.

Newspapers in the United States have grown up with generations of readers, while scores of articles may have become part of every family's scrapbook. Newspapers report on a wide range of events from tragedies to joyous occasions. When readers want to reminisce about past events, though, where do they turn?

The local newspaper, of course. People have always relied on newspapers.

The same can be said for residents who live from Maine to Minnesota to Washington state, and from Wisconsin to Kansas to Texas and beyond. Those who call little towns and small cities as home all consider their newspapers as a source of pride and information, and a newspaper is a reliable method for former residents to keep in touch with their friends and the previous town they called "home."

Newspapers still have an impact on the communities of which they have served for generations. During a typical calendar year, newspapers donate thousands of dollars in public service advertising, print numerous stories on community events, cover social and news events, publish hundreds of local photos and report on the big athletic games of the year.

When electronic records "expire" or are no longer available, readers will still find the information in archived issues of the newspaper.

As you can see, thousands — if not millions — of people rely on newspapers more than they think ... even more so than direct mail or out-of-area publications.

Yes, your local newspapers are part of that community pride.

Give the Gift of Life

During Breast Cancer Awareness Month this October, the American Red Cross encourages eligible donors to give blood to support cancer patients and others needing blood products. According to the American Cancer Society, breast cancer is the second most common cancer among women in the United States, with one in eight women developing invasive breast cancer in her lifetime. Breast cancer patients may need blood products during chemotherapy, mastectomy surgery or treatment of complications. Donors with all blood types are needed, especially those with types O negative, B negative, A negative and AB blood.

There will be a blood drive at the Lincoln Senior Center on Wednesday, Oct. 21 from 11 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. For more information or to make an appointment to donate blood visit redcrossblood.org or call (800) 733-2767.

Thompson Scholarship Fund

The Alpena Community College (ACC) Foundation Board of Trustees recently established the Kim M. Thompson Memorial Scholarship Fund to honor a community leader who passed away on November 1, 2014. Thompson joined the ACC Foundation Board of Trustees in 2000 and worked to ensure quality education opportunities for area residents. During his 12 years on the ACC Foundation Board, Thompson's active participation and philanthropic support contributed to the foundation's growth.

Thompson took a leadership role in support of the ACC Foundation's Pathways to the Future Campaign and served as cochairman of the Community Gifts Committee. He also assisted with the ACC

Kim Thompson

Foundation's 25th Anniversary Campaign, and the annual Scramble for Scholarships fund-raiser. Thompson served on ACC's Auto Service Program Advisory Committee and provided internship opportunities to students so they could obtain hands-on experience. As a graduate of Northwood University, in 2004 he was a recipient of its annual Dealer Education Awards, which recognizes individuals for their contributions to improve education.

A businessman in Alpena and Alcona counties, Thompson was the president and owner of Thompson Sales and Service Inc., a third generation family business. With his community-minded philosophy, he served on various boards and organizations including the Alpena Rotary Club, Alpena Regional Medical Center's Development Council, Alcona Lodge No. 292 Free and Accepted Masons, the Caledonia Township Board, and he was a lifelong member of the Spruce Presbyterian Church. He also served four terms as president of the Alpena New Car and Truck Dealers Association, President of the Michigan Automobile Dealers Association, and was a board member of the National Automobile Dealers Association.

Donations to the newly established Kim M. Thompson Memorial Scholarship Fund can be mailed to 665 Johnson Street, Alpena, Michigan 49707. Also, credit card contributions can be made online at www.alpenacc.edu and click on "Donate Online Today" icon. For additional information, contact Penny Boldrey at (989) 358-7297.

Local business, state police help Alcona County families

Haglund's Landscaping and All Outdoors of Harrisville is partnering with the Michigan State Police (MSP) Alpena Post to help local families in need during the holiday season.

From Monday, Oct. 5 to Saturday, Dec. 5 Haglund's will be the drop off point for toys and nonperishable food items and/or cash donations which will go to families in Alcona County through the MSP's "Stuff a Blue Goose" campaign.

In addition, Haglund's will be making a $1 donation for every chainsaw bar purchased at both the Alpena and Harrisville locations and $5 for every gun that is purchased at the Harrisville store. "Everything we collect here will be put back into our county - it is earmarked for Alcona County," said Erica Melick, manager of Haglund's Landscaping and All Outdoors in Harrisville.

According to MSP Community Service Trooper Ashley Simpson, all of the items gathered will be turned over to local food pantries in Alcona County and the Vietnam Veterans of America - Chapter 583, which assists families in need in Alcona, Alpena, Montmorency and Presque Isle counties.

The purpose of the "Stuff a Blue Goose" campaign drive is to gather toys and non-perishable food items for those in need this holiday season, Simpson explained. "The Blue Goose" is the Michigan State Police patrol car, and we are hopeful to stuff them full of unwrapped toys and non-perishable food items at public events in December," Simpson said.

Melick said Haglund's was involved last year by having a drop box. "We are looking forward to being more involved this year," she said. "We are accepting new toys for all ages of children, non-perishable food and, cash donations if anyone would like to donate that way."

"With the help of Haglund's Landscaping and All Outdoors hosting this fundraiser, we are hopeful to exceed our 2014 collection totals for toys and non-perishable food items," Simpson said.

For more information or questions, contact Simpson at the MSP Alpena Post at (989) 354-41901 or Melick at Haglund's Landscaping and All Outdoors in Harrisville (989) 724-5599.

He's worked in a variety of places and teaching assignments including teaching math in Brighton, Colo., and was a special education teacher in Kauai, Hawaii for a year. "I missed snowflakes and hockey, so I moved back," Campbell said.

He taught a diploma program for at-risk students in Fort Collins, Colo. for six years and before his move to northeast Michigan he was employed for eight years at an all girls school in Wyoming.

Toby Suttle, the new special education teacher, has a genuine passion for helping young people. O'Connor said he relates very well to students and has an energy and charisma that will be positive for the school.

Suttle is replacing a vacancy left by Karen Martindale who resigned last spring to return to school and pursue additional teaching certifications.

Suttle was born and raised in the central valley of California where he lived his entire life before moving to northeast Michigan in August. He graduated from California State University, Sacramento (formerly Sacramento State University) with a degree in economics and has 74 post graduate units completed. He hopes to finish his master's degree in the coming year or so.

Suttle has eight years of experience teaching special education math courses. His goal this year is to be a light and provide a positive influence. "I want to create growth mindsets that are independent of anyone, contributing members of society. I want the students to find their passion, be able to take risks and go do it," he said.

Suttle also has an interest in helping to coach boys varsity basketball, a sport he loves. "I just want to meet the kids and get acclimated this year. I've already started working with some of the basketball team and that really puts me at peace, I feel I'll have the biggest impact there, a team the community can be proud of," Suttle said.

Suttle's wife of two years, Leah Glancy, was from the Tawas area and they had talked about someday moving and raising a family in northeast Michigan. He said the opportunity to work here came before any children arrived.

"We wanted to give Michigan a try for a better quality of life for a family, but so far our family has only grown by a dog. There's still time yet for a family. I'm just excited to be here. It's a complete adventure for me. A true 180 from what I'm used to in almost every aspect of life, but that's how you grow," he said.

River Aux Sables Chapter, DAR

The River Aux Sables Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) ladies handed out over 600 small flags in July to those who stood along US-23 to welcome the traveling Vietnam Wall and gave certificates of appreciation and commemorative buttons to Vietnam veterans.

This is the 125th Anniversary of the founding of Daughters of the American Revolution. As a commemorative partner in the remembrance of the Vietnam veterans and their sacrifices, River Aux Sables upholds the themes of God, home and country through education, service and patriotism on which the Daughters of the American Revolution was founded.

On Sept 12, the ladies gathered at the Sunflower Tea Shop in Oscoda for the first meeting of the fall/winter schedule to hear owner Sherri Jacqua tell the history of tea and sample her delicious menu. New prospective members were welcomed and three pending members were cited awaiting their national numbers, which ushers them into the DAR sisterhood. Ladies who are 18 and can prove or would like assistance to prove an ancestor who participated in the Revolutionary War effort, may contact www.riveraux-sables.mich-dar.net.

How to find a better medicare prescription drug plan

Dear Savvy Senior,
I recently received a letter from my Medicare drug plan provider notifying me that they are increasing my co-pays next year. I'd like to look for a better plan but could use some guidance. What's the easiest way to do this?

Need a Change

Dear Need,
Cost increases and coverage changes are an annual event for many Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. Fortunately, during the open enrollment period (which is October 15 through December 7), you have the ability to shop and compare plans and choose one that better fits your needs and budget.

Your new plan will go into effect January 1, 2016. Here are some tips that can help with this process.

If you have Internet access and are comfortable using a computer, you can easily shop for and compare all Medicare drug plans in your area, and enroll in a new plan online.

Just go to Medicare's Plan Finder Tool at medicare.gov/find-a-plan, and type in your ZIP code or your personal information, enter in how you currently receive your Medicare coverage, select the drugs you take and their dosages, and choose the pharmacies you use. You'll get a cost comparison breakdown for every plan available in your area so you can compare it to your current plan.

This tool also provides a five-star rating system that evaluates each plan based on past customer service records, and suggests generics or older brand name drugs that can reduce your costs.

It's also important to keep in mind that when you're comparing drug plans don't judge a plan strictly by its monthly premium cost. Low-premium plans are often associated with higher prescription co-payments and may end up being more expensive. Look at the "estimated annual drug costs" that shows how much you can expect to pay over a year in total out-of-pocket costs - including premiums, deductibles and co-pays.

Also, be sure the plan you're considering covers all of the drugs you take with no restrictions. Most drug plans today place the drugs they cover into price tiers. A drug placed in a higher tier may require you to get prior authorization or try another medication first before you can use it.

If you need some help choosing a new plan, contact your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP), which provides free one-on-one Medicare counseling in person or over the phone. They also conduct seminars during the open enrollment period at various locations throughout each state. To find the contact information for your local SHIP visit shiptcenter.org, or call the eldercare locator at (800) 677-1116.

You also need to know that

Savvy Senior

Medicare's "donut-hole" - the coverage gap in which you must pay out-of-pocket for your drugs - continues to shrink. In 2016, you will get a 55 percent discount on brand-name drugs, and the federal subsidy for generic medications will rise to 42 percent.

The 2016 coverage gap begins when your total drug cost exceeds $3,310 (that includes your share and the insurer's share of the costs) and ends when your total out-of-pocket costs reach $4,850. After that, your Part D plan usually covers around 95 percent of your remaining drug costs for the year.

Also, be aware that if your income is under $17,655 or $23,895 for married couples living together, and your assets are below $13,640 or $27,250 for married couples not counting your home, car or life insurance policy, you may be eligible for the federal Low Income Subsidy known as "Extra Help" that pays Part D premiums, deductibles and copayments. For more information or to apply, call Social Security at 800-772-1213 or visit socialsecurity.gov/extrahelp.

a two-point conversion to shrink the lead 55-44, Oscoda.

Alcona got a penalty that allowed a 15-yard gain by Oscoda, but Parkinson helped hold the Owls back by stopping Oscoda's offense short of the first down. Alcona took over on downs and Franklin proved himself once more by carrying the ball 71-yards into the end zone for another Tiger touchdown.

With only 4:54 on the clock, the Tigers still had some work to do. Alcona decided to go with an onside kick which ultimately gave them possession. Franklin ran the offense once more and scored the final touchdown of the night. An unsuccessful two-point conversion topped the score at 56-55, Alcona.

Alcona had to stop Oscoda with 2:54 left to win the game. And the Owls did not make that easy.

Parkinson contributed stops along with Dakota Oke and Tim Hutchinson. Alcona stopped Oscoda close to the first down yard line. After speculation by the refs, Oscoda got the first down. Oscoda completed a pass on the Tiger's 15-yard line which pressured the Tiger's defense to dig a little deeper.

The Owls threw a pass into the end zone, but it was out of bounds. Oscoda set up for a field goal as Alcona called a time out -- twice in a row. The Owls chose a different route for the third set -- a pass that was incomplete.

"A game like this teaches perseverance and teamwork, that through hard work and dedication to your team and the task at hand, anything is possible. As a coach, I could not be any more proud of these kids as well as the rest of the coaching staff...truly a great team effort," Somers said.

In addition to regaining possession of the F-41 trophy, Franklin broke two school records and is tied for another -- he made seven touchdowns in a game, ran for 361 yards in a game, and is tied for most touchdowns in a season with three games still remaining.

The Tigers travel to Johannesburg to face the Cardinals on Friday.

Soccer team split wins with Braves, Eagles

By Kathy Steiner
Soccer Writer

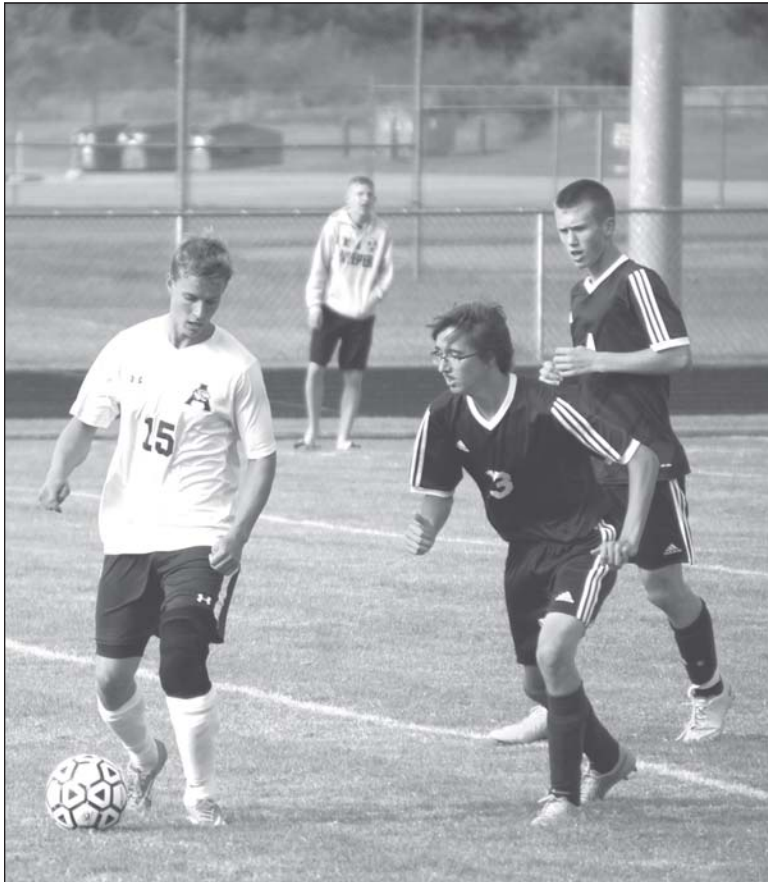

The Alcona varsity soccer team welcomed the Tawas Braves to their home field knowing the Braves would prove to be a tough team to beat. They did not disappoint; the Tigers were stretched to keep up on both offense and defense.

Mitchell Havercroft managed to weave his way into the box and tally the lone goal for Alcona while Tawas put in four goals of their own, defeating Alcona 4-1.

Less than 24 hours later the Tiger squad was back out on their home field hosting the Fairview Eagles. Alcona jumped out to a 3-0 lead with two goals from Jordan Steiner and a goal from Piet Botha but then struggled to keep the offense going.

In the second half Coda Gallagher headed in a corner kick from Steiner and Jeff Schram rocketed in a penalty kick to give the Tigers a 5-1 lead. To Fairview's credit, they played hard the entire game and gave the Tigers a challenge until the end.

On Saturday Alcona traveled to Gaylord and went down swinging in a 3-0 match. The shots didn't go in for the Tigers but the defense managed to contain a fast Gaylord offense during cold, windy conditions. The team has a game in Tawas on Thursday at 5 p.m.

Baby Food

I still have parents bringing fledglings to my feeders. So I make sure to put out plenty of sunflower chips and unsalted peanuts. I also like to toss white proso millet and safflower seed on the ground (near brush cover) for them to pick up easily. Baby birds are fun to watch.

Lady Tigers take second in Onaway

By Hope Smith
Sportswriter

Although it was a busy week for the Alcona varsity volleyball team the girls worked together during tournament play in Onaway to bring home second place honors.

The Lady Tigers hit the road early Saturday, Oct. 3 to compete at Onaway High School in tournament action against teams from Central Lake, Charlevoix, Rudyard, Hillman, Brimley and Onaway.

Throughout the day teams played the best of two sets. The Lady Tigers split with Central Lake 25-16 and 25-19 in the first game and with Charlevoix, 25-18 and 25-21 nals the Lady Tigers fell short 25-13 and 25-19. Alcona finished 8-4 overall. "We fought hard to come out first in pool play. The girls played with great tenacity all day and should be proud of their efforts," said coach Kristi Miller. "Our hitters showed power on the net and did a nice job seeking gaps in our opponents' defense. Our defense specialists stepped up to keep the ball alive and put the ball in the hands of the setter. It was an awesome experience for us and we are looking forward to our Volley for a Cure event."

Lady Tiger Sierra Forsythe dominated offensively with 31 kills and eight aces. Sydney Pierce delivered eight narrow 24-22 lead with Posen in control of the ball. However, a serve out of bounds by the Vikings sealed the deal and gave Alcona the 25-22 sweep.

"Big defensive plays against Posen kept our defense fueled," Miller said. Forsythe delivered on offensive with 13 kills. Terpstra added six aces. Defensively Zerbst picked up 17 digs. Pierce was unstoppable at the net with seven blocks and Elmer added 43 assists.

On Monday, Sept. 28 Alcona played host to a tri-volleyball match with Rogers City and Standish. The first game was against Rogers City. Teams played the best of five sets. The Lady Tigers in the second game. Alcona swept Rudyard 25-16 and 25-15 in the third game and Hillman 25-18 and 25-19 in the fourth. The fifth game against Brimley proved to be more of a challenge. Alcona took the first set 25-12, fell 25-19 in second and came back strong in third set to win 15-12.

In the championship game against the Onaway Cardi-aces and 15 blocks. Sam Zerbst kept the ball alive with 54 digs and Keilee Elmer did a great job setting up her team with 133 assists for the day.

On Thursday, Oct. 1 Alcona traveled to Posen for more volleyball action. A fierce Lady Tiger team took control of the game early sweeping Posen 25-14, 25-20 and 25-22. It was all business for Lady Tigers in the first set as they took a 14-4 lead and maintained control offensively including four aces from senior Alissa Terpstra to earn the 25-14 win.

Posen fought back in the second match in an effort to keep the score close, but the Lady Tigers were just getting warmed up. Forsythe slammed down two kills while Brittany Decker delivered two aces, helping Alcona secure the 25-20 victory.

In the final match, Alcona had their hands full as both teams battled back and forth. Posen jumped out with the 4-1 lead but the Lady Tigers clawed their way back to tie it up 4-4 and then again 8-8 later in the match. Alcona's offense quickly went to work to extend their lead to 14-8 but the Vikings weren't going away easily, they continued to battle for possession.

In the final minutes of the match the Lady Tigers held a picked up a 27-25 win in the first set but momentum soon shifted in favor of the Lady Hurons who went on to win the next three sets 25-17, 25-19 and 25-17 and took home the victory.

Kendra LaFave and Pierce turn up the heat with four aces; Forsythe powered down 12 kills. Elmer added 33 assists, Pierce put up three blocks and Zerbst stayed strong with 16 digs.

The second game was against Standish Sterling and was best of three sets. The Lady Tigers went to work on offense and swept Standish 25-6 and 25-20 respectively. "We played consistently all around. The girls did a nice job covering and working together to pick up the win," Miller said.

Pierce had five aces and executed six blocks. Forsythe and Terpstra slammed down four kills. Zerbst hit the floor for eight digs and Elmer put up 23 assists.

Alcona hosted the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals on Tuesday, Oct. 6 for the annual Volley for a Cure game. Fans and players alike dressed in their favorite pink attire to raise awareness to show support for breast cancer survivors.

The Lady Tigers take on the Lady Owls in Oscoda on October 13.

The beautiful invader: Japanese barberry

By Dan Kobil
Guest Columnists

In a landmark opinion upholding the ability of communities to enact reasonable zoning regulations, the U.S. Supreme Court observed that “a nuisance may be merely a right thing in the wrong place — like a pig in the parlor instead of the barnyard.”

The same might be said of invasive species: In their native land, they can be quite desirable, yet when unleashed in a new environment they have the potential to wreak havoc.

The Japanese barberry (Berberis thunbergii), is now established in Michigan, and as other states have learned, it threatens significant aesthetic, economic areas, and even health if it is not controlled.

Unlike invasive species that arrived by accident, the Japanese barberry has been deliberately planted by many of us owing to the very qualities that could allow it to take over the forest floor. Introduced to America in 1875, Japanese barberry is hardy and attractive, coming in green, yellow, and red varieties that are drought tolerant and easy to grow. It does especially well in cold climates. And it produces bright red berries in the fall, giving it some of the festive charm of the holly bush.

If you visited a garden store in the past decade looking for an inexpensive, low-maintenance splash of color for your yard that is deer-resistant, you were likely steered to Japanese barberry—its profuse, sharp thorns deter even the voracious whitetail.

Indeed, this plant seems to be a favorite of the Michigan summer homeowner. When we purchased our place in Harrisville, we had thriving Japanese barberry bushes, as do a number of cottages in the neighborhood.

Unfortunately, the Japanese barberry (even the so-called “sterile” variety), is not content simply to adorn our gardens. Rodents and birds eat its berries and disperse seeds far and wide. Because of its ability to thrive in almost any type of soil and in substantial shade, the barberry does extremely well colonizing the forest understory.

According to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), this is because Japanese barberry “leafs out early, retains its leaves late into fall and forms dense thickets, shading out native plants.” Its seeds can stay viable in the soil for more than a decade. Once established, with no natural mechanisms to keep it in check, barberry grows into impenetrable stands that can reach six feet in height, severely limiting biodiversity.

In 2012 Michigan classified Japanese barberry as an invasive species, as have at least 20 other states and Canada. And the invasion is coming to northern Michigan.

Last summer, we discovered that the Japanese barberry we had taken great pains (literally) to remove from our yard in Harrisville had begun to take root along the boardwalk path leading out to Lake Huron. This year, the shady wetland that had long been dominated by brambles and ferns is rife with thickets of Japanese barberry.

But this adaptable invader threatens more than simply the environmental integrity of Michigan’s forests. Recent studies show that Japanese barberry also creates a significant health risk by facilitating the spread of Lyme disease. Barberry stands create a perfect, thorny habitat for deer mice, who in turn host the larval stage of blacklegged ticks, the main carriers of Lyme disease.

Once the ticks mature, passing deer spread them into areas frequented by people and their pets. According to scientists at the University of Connecticut, a forest without barberry has about 10 ticks per acre, while a forest containing barberry has 12 times that number. Although Alcona County is not currently at known risk for Lyme disease, that could change as this debilitating disease spreads eastward across Michigan. (http://www.michigan.gov/emergingdiseases/0,4579,7-186-25890_26143-95445-00.html).

Given the significant threats posed by Japanese barberry, it is perhaps surprising that many nurseries and landscape designers still promote its spread by selling it to unwary consumers. In fact, only a handful of states and counties prohibit the sale or transportation of Japanese barberry (though it was completely banned in Canada as early as 1966).

Michigan, like most states, seeks to combat the spread of barberry not through regulation, but by educating people as to its dangers. The DNR has also created a useful guide to the eradication of Japanese barberry. (See <http://mnfi.anr.msu.edu/invasive-species/Japanese-BarberryBCP.pdf>.)

Thus, the responsibility for combatting barberry lies primarily with individuals and community groups. The advice of knowledgeable professionals is never to plant Japanese barberry—anywhere. Although some argue that barberry could be an appropriate planting in blighted urban settings where little else can grow, even this is risky given the ease with which seeds are spread.

Botanists at Columbia University suggest using native plant species such as winterberry (Ilex verticillata), bayberry (Myrica pensylvanica), and inkberry (Ilex glabra) in place of Japanese barberry.

If you have Japanese barberry on your property, it is not that difficult to remove isolated plants using heavy gloves, thorn-protective clothing, loppers, and a shovel. However, it is important to remove every bit of root, since the plant can regrow from any small remaining pieces.

The greatest problem we face is how to control the stands of Japanese barberry that are spreading in our forests. The DNR suggests that volunteers map populations of barberry in order to identify areas where its spread can be checked. A variety of methods, including manual uprooting, targeted burning, and herbicides can be used to remove Japanese barberry, though care must be taken in sensitive areas like wetlands.

Huron Pines is a non-profit organization committed to conserving the forests of northern Michigan that works with private landowners to eradicate invasive species. For more information, visit <http://www.huron-pines.org>.

It remains to be seen whether we will act in time to preserve the integrity of our forests from the threat of Japanese barberry. The choices we make today will determine whether future generations will continue to enjoy bird-

Alcona County Led L. P. In 1939 Deer Kill

October 3, 1940

Lansing — With six weeks to go before the gun season on deer opens in Michigan, on November 15, many hunters who are planning trips into northern counties are studying kill reports before deciding where they will set up camps.

The 1939 season established a new record for hunters licensed—168,143.

The total of bucks killed was 44,908. Increase in number of hunters last season was 5,842 over the previous record number -- 162,301 licensed in 1938. The final kill reports show only 99 more bucks were taken in 1939 than in 1938.

Percentage of hunters successful last season was, as usual, greater in upper peninsula counties than in those below the straits. Iron County led in percentage of hunter success - 48.2. followed by Dickinson's 43.8, Ontonagon's 43.7, Gogebic's 42.6, and Delta's 42.2.

Those who hunted below the straits this season had least success in Alcona County, where 32.4 percent got their bucks. Others of the live ranking counties in the lower peninsula were Arenac with 28.8 percent of hunters successful, Alpena 28, Crawford 27.9, and Oscoda 27.3. Average of hunter success above the straits was 39.1, in lower Michigan 25.4, and for the deer counties of both peninsulas, 26.7.

Total of those hunting deer in the Upper Peninsula was 42,388 and the number hunting below the straits was 117,701.

Deer killed per square mile last season in lower peninsula counties closely paralleled hunter concentrations.

Roscommon County was most heavily hunted. 22.60 hunters per square mile killing 5.80 bucks per square mile. Other ranking and lower peninsula counties were: Oscoda, 16.02 hunters per square mile; 4.37 bucks killed per square mile; Ogemaw 15.55 and 3.55; Lake, 15.27 and 2.59; and Montmorency, 14.22 and 3.55. Above the straits, hunter concentration was greatest in Luce county where the kill also was heaviest. 4.08 hunters per square mile and 1.46 bucks killed per square mile.

Farm home destroyed by fire

October 3, 1940 - The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Morrison, located three and a half miles west of Harrisville was completely destroyed by fire at noon on Wednesday of this week. The contents of the home, except one bed and a few odds and ends, were also destroyed.

Mrs. Morrison was at a neighbors home for a few minutes, and on her return found the home afire.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison have five children and all of their clothes were burned. Friends ask that anyone having any furniture or clothing that could be used by this needy family, please get in touch with them. The children are all attending school.

The Harrisville Fire Dept. answered the call, but was too late to render much assistance.

Local draft board named

October 3, 1940 - Governor Dickinson last week announced the personell of the draft boards for the various districts of the state. The list is now awaiting President Roosevelt's approval and is subject to change.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - The Martian: "Home Alone"

When astronaut hero, Mark Watney, of Andy Weir's book, The Martian, was finally rescued after 549 days on the Red Planet, he stank like a skunk. Little did Weir know how sweet that smell would become. Now The Martian is coming to the big screen this week, and the anticipation among science aficionados and space enthusiasts is becoming almost unbearable. In a Skype interview that I attended at the Mars Society convocation in Washington this past August, Weir told the story of a techie who wanted to write, but just couldn't find a publisher. Then a light bulb (low energy fluorescent) when off in his brain. "Why not start a website and release chapters online to begin garnering an audience of readers. The idea proved successful, and as new chapters of The Martian came out, Weir's audience grew to about 3000. Weir was meticulously accurate in how he planned to save Mark Watney from almost certain death after being left behind by crew members when the communications dish of their habitat dislocated, and he was taken for a short, but nasty ride in the dust and darkness of a Martian storm; but he didn't always get it right. Techies to the rescue... They corresponded with Weir, told him what was wrong, and helped him correct his copy to create a rollercoaster ride of survival and near death experiences for Watney, but also a book that was accurate scientifically in virtually all aspects of the story. Astronauts love it because it portrays how they must not only be smart and nerdy, but also practical, solving life and death problems on a day-to-day basis. NASA loves it because they hope it will excite the public's vision to one day travel to Mars. And writer, John Schwartz, of the Times feels that the public will embrace The Martian enthusiastically because of the sheer terror of what it would feel like to be completely "home alone" on a hostile world millions of miles from Earth, knowing that each day could be your last. The Martian debuts on Friday, October 2. www.astronomy.org

 - On Oct. 24, 1901, seeking fame, 63-year-old school-teacher Annie Edson Taylor becomes the first person to plunge over Niagara Falls in a barrel. After a brief flurry of photo-ops and speaking engagements, Taylor's fame cooled, and she was unable to make the fortune she had sought.

 - On Oct. 20, 1973, Solicitor General Robert Bork dismisses Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox, whose investigation of the Watergate break-in revealed that the burglary was one of many possible abuses of power by the Nixon White House. Two days later, the House Judiciary Committee began to consider the possible impeachment of President Richard Nixon.

Strange But True

- It was 20th-century Swiss playwright and novelist Max Frisch who defined technology as "the knack of so arranging the world that we need not experience it."
- In the 1830s you could give someone a blizzard. Back then, of course, the word wasn't referring to a snowstorm; rather, that phrase meant to give someone a piece of one's mind.
- Men certainly aren't lacking in the self-confidence department. A survey found that 76 percent of men believe they are "somewhat" or "very attractive."
- Thanks to arrangements made by his very powerful family, Theophylactus of Tusculum became Pope Benedict IX in 1032, at the age of 20. It seems he wasn't suited to religious life, and he was accused of "many vile adulteries and murders." The Catholic Encyclopedia calls him "a disgrace to the Chair of Peter." After 12 years he was forced out of Rome, but he returned the following year, 1045, and ousted Pope Sylvester III. Later that same year, a pious priest named John Gratian offered Benedict a large sum of money to vacate the post, which he did, allowing Gratian to become Pope Gregory VI. Unsurprisingly, Benedict soon changed his mind, and with Sylvester III still claiming the papal seat, there were now three popes vying for supremacy. Finally, at the end of 1046, the Council of Sutri declared Benedict and Sylvester deposed, Gregory was encouraged to resign, and a German bishop was proclaimed Pope Clement II.
