Senate Ag committee hold public hearing on bovine TB

By Cheryl Peterson
Editor

Policy makers traveled to Alcona County on Monday to learn about an issue that has been affecting northeast Michigan – in one way or another – for the last 20-plus years.

The Michigan Senate's Agriculture Committee held a public meeting on bovine tuberculosis at the Alcona Township Hall in the morning. Following the meeting, senators traveled to other locations for a better understanding of the farming prospective.

While the topic was a familiar one for residents of northeast Michigan – bovine tuberculosis in the region, it was not that familiar to senators in attendance.

Senator Jim Stamas, 36th District, organized the public meeting where the committee heard testimony from residents, primarily area farm-

"I am a little offended that I have to do all of these things to jump through hoops that are a requirement when it is clear that deer overpopulation is directly affecting my livelihood. This is not a crazy hobby – this is a livelihood. This is how we make our living. If the state was treated the same way with their herd (deer) like we are we wouldn't be having this conversation,"

Craig Johnston,
Harrisville

ers. Dr. James Averill, veterinarian with the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development

(MDARD) and Dr. Kelly Straka, wildlife veterinarian with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) testified. Ashley Autenueth, DNR biologist and Rex Ainslie, supervisor of the northern lower deer program also testified.

Agriculture Committee members who attended the meeting included: Sen. Joe Hune, chairman, 22nd District; Sen. Darwin Booher, 35th District; Sen. Wayne Schmidt, 37th District; and Sen. Jim Ananich, 27th District. State Representative Sue Allor was also in attendance.

"Bovine TB has been an issue in northeast Michigan for the last 19 years ... recently the 450 farms in this area have seen a spike in TB positive cattle – this is affecting our area – farms, families and businesses ... we need to see where we are with this issue," said Stamas. "It's time to change our focus. Too many families are being affected... it's time for further action."

Dr. Averill provided lengthy background information about bovine TB. He explained the state has been dealing with the bacterial disease in cattle since the 1970s. In 1979 the state was given a TB-free status in relation to the cattle and dairy industry.

He explained that bovine tuberculosis is a bacterial disease that affects the respiratory tract of cervid mammals like cows, deer and elk. It can be transmitted to people through various avenues – close contact or consuming meat or milk from infected animals.

In December of 1994 a whitetail deer tested positive for bovine TB and that was the beginning of the TB "outbreak" in the wild deer herd. In 1998 the first cattle herd tested positive and in 2000 the state lost its TB-free status. While deer and cattle have tested positive for TB in other counties throughout northern Michigan since 1994, the four-county region still being affected comprises Alcona, Alpena, Montmorency and Oscoda. These "core" counties have a limited status for transporting cattle, and mandatory testing is conducted annually.

"There has been a lot that has been done since 1994," said Averill. "Unfortunately, northeast Michigan has been a living laboratory with this disease." With the most recent statistics from the state, Averill explained that more than 75 deer have tested positive between 2011 and 2015 – in connection with DNR check stations during deer season. Fourteen cattle herds have tested positive in the four-county area since January of 2012.

According to Averill, the disease is difficult to address in the wild deer herd, which roams across a vast tract of public and private land. "Prevention is the name of the game... we have to keep the wild deer herd away from livestock," Averill said. "There have been human cases of bovine TB – cases that have a direct connection with this situation. Eight people contracted this disease."

He told the committee that MDARD receives $8-$8.5 million to deal with animal health issues across the state of which $5 million is used for bovine TB.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
I am writing to encourage residents, visitors and everyone who values the Great Lakes, to participate in the All Hands On Deck event taking place on July 3 at 10 a.m. along the shores of the Great Lakes in the U.S. and Canada. It will be an hour long (or less) nonpartisan, hand hold and boat flag hoist to raise awareness of the need to protect the Great Lakes.

For more information and ideas regarding the event, please check out the Facebook page: <https://facebook.com/allhandsondeck-greatlakes>. Contact the organizers by email: allhandsondeckgreatlakes@gmail.com or call (586) 255-3312.

With so little time to organize an official event, it is my hope that people will just come down to the Lake Huron shoreline and tell stories about their connections to the Great Lakes. You can get to the shoreline at any public access spot and then legally walk on the shoreline to wherever you want to gather. We need to be aware of the harbor operations and not impede the safety of that location.

We are hoping to use a drone with attached camera to record the huge turnout on the shoreline of Lake Huron in Alcona County. Please be there and bring everyone you know. There is a hand-capped accessible ramp at the state park for those who would like to use it.

Hope to see you there
Patty Thomas

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
 These days, if you receive offers that contain the word, "free" you can be sure that there is some kind of cost involved. If a recently formed group includes the work, "indivisible" in their title, they may be inciting divisiveness. When a comedienne "apologizes" with no regard to the targeted person or their family, she is probably only trying to retain her fan base.

One more unintended consequence when words are twisted. The disrespect, accusations without evidence, and lies about our current president are sure to guarantee his re-election in 2020.

Karen Karbowski

To the Editor,
 Remember when Donald Trump's campaign promise was "better insurance at a lower price?" So here is what is now happening.

While we are all watching the hearings on Trump's possible obstruction of the intelligence communities, Republicans are quietly pushing a health bill along through the Senate. It is no better than the House bill we have already seen, the one that will kick many people off of insurance and cause older Americans to see an enormous price increase.

Meanwhile, Trump is causing Obamacare to fail by not following the law. He is refusing to pay subsidies, promised by the law, to insurance companies. This is like the landlord promising to pay your electric bill and then blaming the power company when they shut off your lights when he doesn't pay them.

Trump is using the "swamp" methods he railed against during his campaign. He and the Republicans hope you look the other way while they pass a law giving the rich a tax break and taking away many Americans' ability to afford healthcare. Politicians like it best when we are busily doing our lives and not paying attention.

Now is the time to call, write, tweet, repeat, to let our lawmakers know we are watching and we will hold them accountable for their vote. There is an excellent guide online: trumpcare-toolkit.net.

It lists contact information for senators who may still be examining healthcare options and a script of what to say. Use this, or simply call senators and make it clear: we need to see the bill long before it is voted on so we can express our concerns. And, then we expect our opinions to count about whether they vote yes or not.

If they don't listen, they should expect us to vote against returning them to represent us.

Local Notes

Classic Movie

Everyone is invited to a classic movie at the Harrisville branch of the Alcona County Library on Friday, June 16 at 5:45 p.m. This month's feature is an Alfred Hitchcock classic about a woman who falls in love and marries a playboy, then suspects he is a murderer and she the next victim. Starring Joan Fontaine and Cary Grant, this 1941 classic slyly combines romance, mystery and menace. Everyone is welcome to this program co-sponsored by Inspiration Alcona and the Alcona County Library. Free popcorn and beverages will be available. For more information, call (989) 724-6796.

Senior Menu

The following meals will be served at various times during the week at senior centers in Glennie, Greenbush and Lincoln. Anyone planning to attend a meal is asked to reserve a place by calling (989) 736-8879 by 10 a.m. Monday through Friday.

- Monday, June 19—Roasted pork over mashed potatoes, corn, and applesauce.
- Tuesday, June 20—Fish almondine, buttered rotini, peas, and raspberry applesauce Jell-O.
- Wednesday, June 21—Sweet and sour chicken over brown rice, three bean salad, and pears.
- Thursday, June 22—Taco salad, baby carrots and dip, and mandarin oranges.
- Friday, June 23—Chicken in gravy over mashed potatoes, mixed vegetables, tossed salad, and mixed fruit. (Friday meals served in Lincoln only.)

Adult Summer Reading

Pick up an adult summer reading packet, "Build a Better World," at any branch of the Alcona County Library beginning Tuesday, June 20. The Alcona Book Club will explore this theme by discussing "The Big Tiny: A Built it Myself Memoir," by Dee Williams, about a woman who decided to downsize her life and live in an 84-square-foot home. All are welcome to join in the discussion at noon on June 20 at the Harrisville branch. Adult Summer Reading is from June 20 through August 15, with special programs and chances for prizes donated by area businesses. Summer Reading for children and teenagers begins on June 28. For more information, call (989) 724-6796 or visit the web for our updated calendar, www.library.alcona-lib.mi.us.

Special Evening

The Greenbush Chamber of Commerce is holding a memorial service for the Ed Roddy Memorial Plaque at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 29 prior to the monthly chamber meeting. Judge Laura Frawley will be doing the dedication at the site between the township hall and the school-house.

The chamber's monthly meeting will follow with storyteller Mark Lee as the entertainment. This is a group that meets on a monthly basis (except for July and August) to share information, socialize, have fun and, get better informed about the community. Folks considering membership are welcome and members need not be a business owner to attend meetings. Reservations for the dinner must be made to either Donna Roddy at (989) 739-2159 or Maggie Krause at (989) 724-5203 by Monday, June 26.

Senior Project Fresh

It's time again for Senior Project Fresh, a program that provides qualifying seniors with $20 worth of coupons to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables at the Farmer's Market at the Alcona County Fairgrounds in Lincoln and other participating Michigan farmer's markets and roadside stands.

Alcona County seniors 60 years and up must have a total monthly income of less than $1,860 for a household of one or $2,504 for a household of two. The coupons may be used until October 31, 2017. Nutrition education is a part of the distribution sessions that will be held Thursday, June 22 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Lincoln Senior Center, 207 Church Street in Lincoln. Call the senior center at (989) 736-8879 for eligibility and to sign up for an appointed time to fill out the application and to pick up the coupons.

Mindfulness & Meditation

Let go of preconceived notions that exist within, look for inner peace and tolerance, consider exploring other paths and possibilities. Instructor Barbara Gordon will help participants begin the journey in mindfulness and meditation at this workshop on Monday, June 26 at 1:30 p.m. at the Harrisville branch of the Alcona County Library. The focus is on self-examination and the power of the mind. All are welcome, no registration necessary. For more information, call (989) 724-6796.

Dr. Straka, who is new to the position of Michigan DNR wildlife veterinarian, said she is trying to get up to speed on the situation and evaluate what needs to be done. "I don't know that we can eradicate bovine TB from the wild deer herd, at least not in my lifetime," Straka said. "I am here to listen, especially from the community - to hear what we can do better."

"What can we do as policy makers to help you work to eradicate this disease?" Sen. Hune asked the biologists. Both agreed that deer population is higher than it should be. "The solution to pollution is dilution," Averill said. "We have a pollution problem with deer - there are too many. So, the solution is to dilute or reduce the herd numbers. However, there are drawbacks to that as well."

tion of the deer herd, the effect this situation has had on their lives and their businesses. Those speaking to the committee included: Louella Bylich of Harrisville, Jeff Calla of Presque Isle County, Jeremy Werth of Alpena, Craig Johnston of Harrisville, Chet Zuber of Spruce, Steve Gonyea of Spruce; Irv Alexander of Hubbard Lake, Boyd Bylich of Harrisville, Jim Farar of Milan, Mich. and Hubbard Lake, and Janet Toley of Ossineke.

The main points that were presented to the committee included: concern about the health and welfare of individuals; lack of transparency from the two state departments; mixed messages from both departments; lack of understanding on how a positive test affects the farm and family; deer have more priordue to deer eating their crops. Craig Johnston, a crop producer, said he lost 30 percent of his crop due to deer destruction. "I am a little offended that I have to do all of these things to jump through hoops that are a requirement when it is clear that deer overpopulation is directly affecting my livelihood. This is not a crazy hobby - this is a livelihood. This is how we make our living.

"If the state was treated the same way with their herd (deer) like we are we wouldn't be having this conversation," Johnston said.

Jeremy Werth, a dairy producer from Alpena County, testified that in 2013 his herd tested positive for TB. "I have gone through this process and it is devastating," he said. Prior to his positive test, he had trouble getting producer

Dr. James Averill, veterinarian with the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development and Dr. Kelly Straka, wildlife veterinarian with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources testify before the Senate Agriculture Committee on Monday. Photo by Cheryl Peterson.

According to Straka, there are approximately 125,000 to 130,000 deer in Alcona, Alpena, Oscoda, Montmorency and Presque Isle counties. "We need to get that number down to 70,000 and keep it there. But, that's the problem - keeping it (population) down," she said.

Several area farmers - cattle, dairy and crop - testified about the damage that occurs with the over popula-ity than farms which are the livelihood of families; lack of availability of producer "tags" to kill deer; farmers need to help themselves more; financial assistance so that farmers can help themselves better.

The overwhelming consensus by the farmers who testified was to reduce the deer herd. Several cited specific percentages and dollar amounts of loss each year tags to reduce the number of deer on his property. "When I did get the tags, the neighbors complained and the tags dried up. Then the deer got into my herd... the disease is in the deer herd. I'm not afraid to say it - I am a hunter, I take my daughter hunting during the youth hunt - there are too many deer. This is our livelihood. Deer hunting is not. Are we going to keep putting a bandaid on the problem? It's the deer herd, but we don't have the will power to kill off the deer. This is a very serious matter. Once it (becomes) a public health issue, it is too late," Werth said.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

How to hire a home helper

Dear Savvy Senior,
I would like to hire a personal assistant/home helper for my mom to assist with some simple household chores like house keeping, errand running, driving her to the doctor, and keeping her company. But mom doesn't require personal/physical caregiving nor does she require any home medical care. Any tips to help us find someone?

Looking for Mom

Dear Looking,
Getting your mom some help at home to handle some of her household chores can make a big difference keeping her independent longer. Here's what you should know, along with some tips to help you find someone reliable for your mom.

For seniors who could use some help at home - but don't need a caregiving aide for personal care - there are a bevy of personal assistance/home helpers out there that can help make life a little easier.

Most home helpers can assist with any number of things like shopping, running errands, transportation, light house keeping, laundry, meal preparation, arranging services (home maintenance, lawn care, etc.) and other household chores, along with providing companionship and support. And, if your mom gets to the point she needs personal/physical care like bathing or dressing, they can usually help with this too.

Most home helpers are part time workers who work a few hours a day or a few days per week. You also need to know that while Medicare does cover home health care services if a doctor orders it, they do not cover home helper/personal assistant services.

There are two ways in which you can go about hiring someone for your mom; either through a home care agency, or you can hire someone directly on your own.

Hiring a home helper through a non-medical home care, or non-medical companion care agency is the easiest, but most expensive option of the two. Costs run anywhere from $12 up to $30 an hour depending on where you live and the qualification of the assistant/aide.

How it works is you pay the company, and they handle everything including assigning appropriately trained and pre-screened staff to care for your mom, and finding a fill-in on days her helper cannot come.

Some of the drawbacks, however, are that you may not have much input into the selection of the aide, and the helpers may change or alternate, which can cause a disruption.

To find a home care agency in your area, Google "non-medical home care" followed by the city and state your mom lives in, or you can use Medicare's home health agencies search tool Medicare.gov/hhcompare.

Savvy Senior

Most home health agencies offer some form of non-medical home care services too. You can also check your local yellow pages under "home health-care services."

Hiring a personal assistant/home helper on your own is the other option, and it's less expensive. Costs typically range between $10 and $20 per hour. Hiring directly also gives you more control over who you hire so you can choose someone who you feel is right for your mom.

But, be aware that if you do hire someone on your own, you become the employer so there's no agency support to fall back on if a problem occurs or if the assistant doesn't show up. You're also responsible for paying payroll taxes and any worker-related injuries that may happen. If you choose this option make sure you check the person's references thoroughly, and do a criminal background check.

To find someone, ask for referrals through friends or check online job boards like Craigslist.org, or try Care.com, CareLinx.com, CareFamily.com or CareSpotter.com.

Alcona softball season ends at districts

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

The Alcona varsity softball team saw its season come to a close on Saturday, June 3 when it lost to Whittemore-Prescott, 7-1 in it's home division four district semifinal game.

"Defensively we played a good game but our bats were not there until the last inning and it wasn't enough," head coach Chelsea Neuenfeldt said.

Madison Lane started the game pitching for the Lady Tigers and took the loss. Alcona trailed 5-0 in the bottom of the third inning and kept things in check from there.

"Raegen Eller took over pitching and for the rest of the game the girls held their own but we couldn't recover from Whittemore's early lead," Neuenfeldt said.

The Tigers finished the season with a 14-15 record.

"The girls made some mistakes, but learned from them and came back stronger each game," Neuenfeldt said. "They worked well together as a team and always tried to stay positive even through some of the tough losses. I am very proud with how my girls played on the season and improved since last year."

"This year we will be losing four seniors, Jordan Joyce, Keilee Elmer, Brittany Decker and Madison Lane. They have been a huge asset to the team and leaders for the underclassman. I can't say enough about their positive attitudes, willingness to work hard on and off the field and be the best version of themselves so far. They are great role models for softball players to come," she said.

"It has been a year of ups and downs but in the end the girls always kept their heads up and played Alcona ball. I am looking forward to next year with having 10 returning players that have a passion and drive to always to better and earn a spot of that playing field."

Also of note this season was Elmer who set the single season record for triples in a season with nine, breaking Cindy Derocher's 1976 record of seven.

All four seniors, Elmer, Joyce, Decker and Lane were named to the all-district team. Elmer earned second team all-North Star League and Decker was all-conference honorable mention. The team also received the all-district team sportsmanship award.

Alcona gives good fight, falls to St. Mary in regional semi

By Ben Murphy
Sports Writer

It was a good showing against the eventual regional champion, but it was still a loss as Alcona dropped its Rogers City division four regional semi-final game 5-2 to Gaylord St. Mary on Saturday.

Pitching dominated the first four innings, the game was knotted in a 0-0 tie.

Jake McFadden did a fine job of mixing in his pitches to keep a usually hot-hitting Snowbird team, one that reached the state semifinals last year, off the board.

He did allow a base-runner in each of the first four innings, however. In the first he worked around a two-out single. The second inning, after retiring the first two batters he walked one and gave up an infield single.

The runner on second base tried to steal third, but Alcona catcher Brock Franklin would have none of it, as he gunned down the would-be base stealer to end the inning.

In the third, McFadden gave up a lead-off single and a stolen base to put a runner on second with no outs. He struck out the next batter and got two fly-outs to end the scoring threat.

The fourth inning saw a St. Mary player double to right-center field with one out. The next batter singled to center field but the runner who had just doubled got caught in between the bases for the second out of the inning. McFadden then got the next batter to pop up.

McFadden's knack for wiggling out of trouble ended in the bottom of the fifth however, with two outs he gave up a double and a single to put the Tigers behind 1-0.

The Snowbirds added four more runs in the bottom of the sixth to surge ahead 5-0.

The Tigers had trouble hitting St. Mary ace Drew Long. He retired the first eight batters until Devon Mills doubled with two outs in the top of the third. A strikeout to the next batter ended Alcona's inning, leaving it scoreless.

Franklin had a hit in the top of the fourth but those were the only two base-runners for the Tigers entering the top of the sixth.

Erik Davey led off the sixth with a walk, after fouling off several pitches. After the next two batters flew-out, Franklin added his second hit of the day with a hard-hit ball to left field, leaving Alcona runners on first-and-second with two down.

Alex Stephenson followed with a fly ball to end the inning.

The Tigers had their best offensive inning in the top of the seventh.

Davey led off the inning with a single but was erased on a fielders-choice by Ezra Stoley. Josh Kilbourn roped a double over the leftfielder's head to score Stoley, making it 5-1. Mills followed and reached base on an error on the second-baseman, allowing Kilbourn to score to close it to 5-2, which was also the final after the next batter lined-out to second base.

McFadden finished by pitching six innings, gave up five earned runs on 10 hits, three strikeouts and one walk.

The offense had Franklin finish with two singles. Mills had a double and an RBI. Kilbourn had a double and an RBI and Davey singled.

St. Mary moved on to win the regional final, topping Glen Lake 13-10 in the championship game.

Foreign language teacher says adios after 32-year career

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

Learning a foreign language can be a difficult process, teaching it can be just as trying, but for one Alcona Community Schools teacher, it was all she ever wanted to do.

Carolyn Watts has taught world languages for 32 years and has decided this is the year to retire.

Watts fell in love with French language while attending Howell High School in Howell, Mich. Her teacher made the class very exciting, which is why she fell in love with it. Watts, the oldest of five siblings, said her younger siblings all took French too.

Upon high school graduation, Watts knew exactly what her heart was telling her to do and nothing was going to stop her. "A lot of my teachers discouraged me from becoming a teacher, it was the late 70s and a bad economic time for teachers. They said there was no money in teaching. I went with my passion anyway and I'm glad I did it. It's been a great 32 years, but I think it's time for the next generation to start," Watts said.

She received a bachelor's degree from Alma College, majoring in French, minor in history with an emphasis on teaching, and began her career teaching for several years at Portland High School, which is just west of Lansing, Mich.

When she was about 30, a new opportunity presented itself, she obtained a part time teaching position for two middle schools in Grand Ledge, Mich. The classes were an exploratory introduction to language classes which she taught in six-week segments. It was during these classes Watts saw the need for Spanish instructors and decided, since she had the time, to take some Spanish classes at the local community college.

She finished her studies at Central Michigan University with a minor in Spanish and obtained her K-12 endorsement which gave her the ability to teach kindergarten through 12th grade French and Spanish.

Watts and her husband Jim, also a teacher who she married in 1983, had a cottage in Presque Isle and loved the northeast Michigan area. Another opportunity presented itself when jobs were offered for both to work at Alcona Community Schools.

Her husband became the principal of Alcona High School while she began teaching Spanish in the middle school and did a kindergarten special in Spanish. The couple's two daughters are both Alcona High School graduates. Jim retired in 2011.

Watts remembers her first-year teaching for Alcona schools and how everyone was so friendly and welcoming, even the students were welcoming to her children. She said it was much different than other schools in which she had taught. "If an (Alcona) student saw me in the grocery store or anywhere public they would come up and say 'hi' to me. Where I came from, if a student saw you in public they would hide.

"I asked my students why they always made a point of saying 'hi' outside the classroom and they told me they were afraid if they didn't, I would tell their mom. It's like a large family here. Even if they drive you crazy in class you still have a connection with them. I will miss that connection and the energy I get from them. I laugh every day from something they say or do. They're fun," Watts said.

She said that over the last 32 years students haven't really changed, but education has. She is a bit concerned about all the data and test scores mandated by the state and that teachers don't get to use their creative side like they used to. "I worry the state is all about college preparation and we are leaving behind the vocational kids. I wish we had more vocational classes," Watts said. She explained her daughters' most memorable studies were the things they learned hands-on.

Her advice to the new teacher coming in is to love the kids. "Even the unlovable ones. See the good in them. Have fun. Make connections with the students. Get them excited about learning. Obviously, teachers have to be serious and get teaching in too, but we have good kids. We really do. I feel so lucky. The families here are supportive. I'm leaving the school in good hands. Dan O'Connor is very supportive and gives his teachers an opportunity to grow. This will be great for any new person coming in," she said.

Watts is making plans to travel in the fall to Arizona. "I've never been able to travel any other time but summer, spring break and Christmas break. I'm not complaining. I've been very fortunate, but now I can take time and travel in the fall. I can go to the U.P. and see the colors. I'll be able to do whatever I want. I can wake up without an alarm which means I'll probably wake up at 5:30 instead of 5 a.m.," Watts said.

She enjoys being outdoors and hunting. She also plans to relax a lot and participate in a few of her other passions like reading and knitting. The biggest perk of retirement is it will give her more time for family. She is looking forward to spending a lot more time with her nine-year-old grandson who, she said, is growing up way too fast.

Short and sweet

No nonsense about the June term of court

June 9, 1892 ~ The June term of court was short and sweet, sweet for the legal fraternity who can usually extract as much sweetness out of a day's session of a county court, as the busy bee from the budding flower. Judge Simpson's arrival was delayed by the derailing of a car at Gustin station and the crier did not therefore call the court to order until nearly 2 o'clock p.m. Tuesday, but from that hour the disposition of the business at hand was at a rapid pace, and when his honor sought the repose of his couch at about the hour when churchyards yawn, he left a bright clean page on the docket and everything was as nicely adjusted and settled as if it had always been adjusted and settled, to the the general satisfaction of everybody.

The Prosecuting Attorney entered a nolle pros, in the case of the People vs. Maximillian Karpel, charged with selling goods without a state license.

The old damage case of S. J. McNally vs. Geo. L. Colwell having been recommenced on new grounds, on motion of Judge Kelly, defendt's attorney, plaintiff was required to file security for costs before the next term of court.

John Leggie, charged with selling liquor without a license in Curtis township, was found not guilty by a jury without leaving their seats.

In Wm. Fowler vs. Alex Dennis, plaintiff was nonsuited and judgment entered for defendant.

Chas. Morelle and Christopher McDonald, the two lads who were arrested charged with breaking into a private dwelling house, were released on suspended sentence on the promise of the boys and the parents of each, that they would go and sin no more.

In Elizabeth Carle vs. D. H. Noyes replevin, judgement for plaintiff by default of 6 cents and costs.

Wm. Deacon vs. Claudius Hood, attachment, judgment of $153.17 and costs in favor of plaintiff.

The case against Maxamillian Karpel, the agent of Wm. Barie & Sons of Saginaw, who was arrested a few weeks ago for selling goods in the village of Harrisville without a state license, was not noticed for trial and the matter was quietly allowed to go by the board.

Mr. Karpel, not being apprised of this decision, arrived in the village on time, accompanied by Mr. Coombs, his Saginaw counsel who assisted O. H. Smith. The old case had been dropped because of a fatal defect in the method of bringing the suit, which was under an old statute that has since been superceded by another with all the modern improvements. The old statute made it a misdemeanor; the later one is milder and it comes within the jurisdiction of a justice court. Service was made upon him and his examination took place yesterday afternoon and evening before Justice

McClatchey. Nearly all the ladies who purchased fashionable cloaks, jackets and dress patterns of Mr. Karpel were present as witnesses, and as there were many in number the case created quite aflutter of excitement.

The case was terminated about 11 p. m. when the jury brought in a verdict of "guilty." The justice thereupon imposed a fine of $10 and costs.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Filtered Solar Eclipse Viewing

Last week, I wrote about safe and inexpensive solar projection techniques for viewing the August 21 total solar eclipse. If you are not positioned along the narrow path of totality that stretches across the continental US from Oregon to South Carolina, then all aspects of the eclipse will be partial, and at no time will it be safe to view the sun unless the image of Sol is safely projected or filtered. The eye acts like a lens, focusing light onto the fovea and retinal net. The mechanism by which retinal tissue damage occurs in solar retinopathy (retinal disorder burn) is photomechanical [and chemical] in nature (Ross Bronson Chod, MD), due to the sun's brightness. This situation may be thermally enhanced if the retina is heated by infrared radiation from the sun, but it should be noted that staring into any bright light source is bad for the eyes. In addition the retinal net has no pain sensors, making it difficult at the time of observation to realize that any damage is occurring. In most cases, patients with solar retinopathy make partial to full recoveries after about 18 months, but you'd be plain stupid to take any chances. In addition, the overwhelming brightness of the sun hides the moon in a total solar eclipse until about 15 seconds before totality. Filtering the sun's light is an inexpensive alternative that produces a much sharper image than the simple projection techniques discussed last week, but the solar intensity must be reduced by about 99.99 percent before safe solar viewing can occur. Here are some suggestions. Go to any welding supply store and purchase a No.14 welders filter. They come in two different varieties. A less expensive version produces a green representation of the sun, and for a few dollars more, a filter that is gold coated which will give the observer a more natural view of Sol. You can also buy goggles, usually red in color, with a filter holder in front and watch the eclipse in a chaise lounge while relaxing and sipping a margarita. My recommendation, however, is to purchase a pair of black, Mylar eclipse glasses which can be worn just so or over regular glasses. None of these filtering techniques are meant to be used at the eyepiece end of a telescope or binoculars. The focused light from the sun will melt the Mylar or crack the welders filter. Contact Rainbow Symphony for your Mylar eclipse glasses at <https://www.rainbowsymphony.com/eclipse-glasses/> or stop into the Collier Hall of Science office at Moravian College where Lou Ann Vlahovic (610-861-1425) will sell you as many as you would like for just a buck each. Do it now before the big rush in a few weeks. www.astronomy.org

Moments In Time

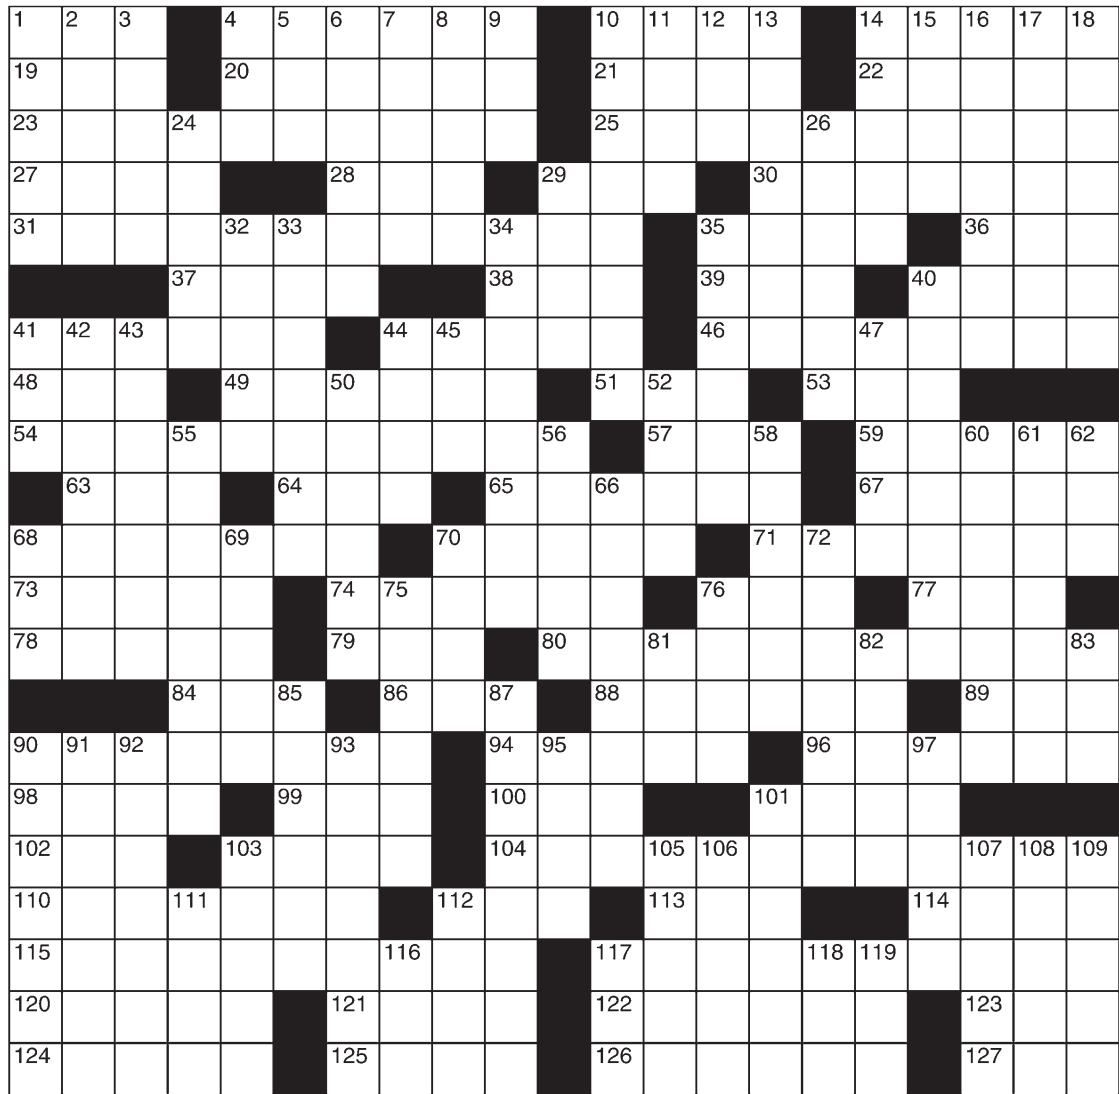

By The History Channel

- On June 29, 1613, the Globe Theater, where most of Shakespeare's plays debuted, burns down. The Globe was built by Shakespeare's acting company, the Lord Chamberlain's Men, in 1599 from the timbers of London's very first permanent theater, Burbage's Theater, built in 1576.
 - On June 28, 1928, 26-year-old Louis Armstrong walks into a Chicago recording studio with five fellow jazz instrumentalists and walks out having changed the course of music history. Armstrong and his Hot Five recorded "West End Blues," which would make him an international sensation.
 - On June 30, 1936, Margaret Mitchell's "Gone with the Wind," one of the best-selling novels of all time, is published. By the time Mitchell won the Pulitzer Prize for Fiction in 1937, a movie project was already in the works.
 - On June 26, 1956, the U.S. Congress approves the Federal Highway Act, which allocates more than $30 billion for the construction of some 41,000 miles of interstate highways, the largest public construction project in U.S. history to that date.
 - On July 2, 1964, President Lyndon Johnson signs into law the historic Civil Rights Act, which prohibited racial discrimination in employment and education and outlawed racial segregation in public places such as schools, buses, parks and swimming pools. It would help pave the way for the Voting Rights Act of 1965.
 - On June 27, 1976, a storekeeper in Sudan becomes ill and dies five days later. It was the start of the world's first recorded Ebola virus epidemic. By the time the epidemic was over, 284 cases were reported throughout the area.
 - On July 1, 1984, the Motion Picture Association of America, which oversees the voluntary rating system for movies, introduces a new rating, PG-13. The MPAA created the rating to better help parents determine whether a movie was child-appropriate.

Strange But True

By Samantha Weaver

- It was beloved English author J.R.R. Tolkien, best known for fantasy tales "The Hobbit" and "The Lord of the Rings," who made the following sage observation about his chosen genre: "I have been a lover of fairy-stories since I learned to read. Why should a man be scorned if, finding himself in prison, he tries to get out and go home? Or if, when he cannot do so, he thinks and talks about other topics than jailers and prison walls?"
 - You might be surprised to learn that thieves, too, have a patron saint: Saint Dismas. Incidentally, he's also the patron saint of prisoners and funeral directors.
 - You're probably aware that nocturnal animals are active at night and that diurnal animals are active during the day. But what about creatures that prefer the twilight hours? Yep, they have a name, too: They're crepuscular.
 - Those who study such things say that ecadysiasts -- those performers better known as stripteasers -- are likely to be first-born children.
 - In a recent survey of Americans and Britons, conducted on behalf of meditation app Calm.com, respondents reported that they get their best sleep of the week on Thursday nights, while Sunday night is the worst for sleeping.
 - In India at one time, it was believed that eggshells held clues to the future. Fortunetellers would smash a hen's egg against a special board, then interpret the pattern made by the fragments of shell.
 - Add this to the list of America's puzzling small-town festivals: Every June, the town of Ainsworth, Nebraska, puts on the Middle of Nowhere Celebration.

Veterans Post
By Greddy Groves

Go online to explore PTSD options

The Department of Veterans Affairs has come up with an online resource that will help those with PTSD decide which type of treatment might be best for them.

Treatment Decision Aid, found at www.ptsd.va.gov, is a question/answer program to help you decide how you want to approach getting better. At each step are videos of other veterans talking about their experiences, and more information as you learn, compare treatments and act to get help.

This is one treatment exploration that might actually work.

Under the Learn section, you'll find out about PTSD and what this decision helper can do.

The Compare section, however, is likely where the best help begins, as you answer questions about what you want in a treatment. Both the Psychotherapies and Medications on-screen bubbles contain sub-bubbles with more information. Mouse over everything. On the Medication side you'll see antidepressants and sub-bubbles of those. Don't miss the areas at the bottom showing which therapies have significant, some or no benefits.

Next come six questions: Choose between psychotherapy and medication, and see the explanation chart at the bottom. Are you open to talking about trauma? How about individual versus group treatment? How often do you want treatment? Are you up for doing homework between sessions? Do you care what the studies say? At the end, you'll be given recommendations about which treatment might be what you're looking for.

In the Act section you'll get a summary you can print and take to your doctor. That's where the rubber meets the road, and you step up and take responsibility for your treatment.

After answering the questions multiple ways, I think you'll get the most options if you indicate that you're willing to try different things if they might help you. You can narrow down the options later, if necessary.

REAL ESTATE GUIDE

Did you know?

Many homeowners have lofty goals for their homes. Such plans may include extensive renovations or even additions. While many of these projects create beautiful changes in a home, it's important to consider the impact that renovations can have on property value before beginning a project. Many home improvement projects do not add as much value as homeowners may think they do. In fact, some homeowners "overbuild" for their neighborhoods. This means the amount of money invested in improvements can likely never be recuperated because the house value simply exceeds those around by too much money. To avoid overbuilding, homeowners can ask themselves several questions before beginning a renovation project.

- Will my house be the largest house in the neighborhood? Larger homes tend to have a lower price per square foot, so you may not want to improve to this extent.

- Will the house blend with others in the area? If your house will stick out like a sore thumb, it will detract from its own value and could impact the value of other homes in the area.

- Have I examined the cost vs. value of the project? Many home improvement resources analyze the cost of a project versus the overall value of that project with regard to property value. For example, a $100,000 basement remodel may not add $100,000 to the value of the home in the event you choose to sell down the line. It's important to know which projects provide the best return on investment. SH172752

Annual Butterfly Release

The Oscoda Area Chapter of The Compassionate Friends (TCF) will host its Fourth Annual Butterfly Release on Sunday, June 25, at 1 p.m. This event is an opportunity for parents, families, grandparents, siblings and extended families, to come together to remember children taken too soon.

There will be a short ceremony of poetry, music and remembrance before releasing the butterflies. Due to the delicate nature of butterflies, there is a deadline of Friday, June 16 to order a butterfly. Email tcfoscod@gmail.com or call Jane at (989) 739-2916 and leave a message to reserve a butterfly. Each butterfly is individually packaged.

Enjoying refreshments and visiting with family and friends after the butterflies are released will be a special part of this event. Those planning on attending are encouraged to bring a picture of their child, grandchild or sibling for the sharing table. Participants who would like to share the name of their child, sibling, or grandchild can reserve butterfly with their name on it. The release will be held at the Lakewood Shores Pavilion, which is located on Brookwood Drive in Lakewood Shores.

VILLAGE OF LINCOLN MINUTES

The Lincoln Village Council met on Monday, June 5 at 7 p.m. at the village hall. The meeting opened with the "Pledge of Allegiance." Those in attendance included: President Jordan, treasurer Hussain, clerk Somers, council members Gauthier, Healy, Mahalak, Putsky, Somers and Zielinski. The minutes of the May meeting were approved on a motion from Mahalak with support from Zielinski.

Holly gave an update on CDs that are up for renewal very soon. She would like to deposit them into a three-year certificate in order to get better interest rates. She also presented the list of delinquent sewer bills to be added to the tax rolls through the county treasurer. A motion was made by Mahalak, with support from Zielinski, to put the delinquent people that are on the sewer system on the tax roll and pass the following resolution: Be it resolved on a request from the village treasurer received and filed that these accounts including penalties are unpaid.

Holly is putting together a letter regarding happenings in the community. It will be included with the summer taxes that will be sent on July 1. Additionally, sewer invoices will be sent out at the same time. The treasurer's report was approved on a motion from Gauthier with support from Zielinski. Mike Serafin gave the fire department and first responder report. He stated that in the past month there have been 26 medical runs and four fire runs. There have been various training exercises recently. The street report was given. President Jordan stated that although we advertised for bids for village parking lots, no bids were received. We need to do some work on a storm drain on North Sleeper Drive. There is an estimate of $4,250 to repair it properly. A motion was made by Mahalak, with support from Zielinski, to pay approximately $4,250 to repair a storm drain on N. Sleeper Drive. Carried. The sewer report was given. The discharge permit has been filled out by Phil and Holly. We are awaiting an answer within the next few weeks. In old business, Zielinski stated that pictures will be taken for the website, hopefully, in the next few weeks Healy presented a contract from NEMCOG for approval. There is one slight change needed. A motion was made by Zielinski, with support from Mahalak, to approve having president Jordan to sign the new agreement once the change is made. Carried. Gauthier will contact Bill Hastings about having some signs made. In new business, Healy talked about a program through Alcona schools for a Little Lending Library. Val Haneckow and Sue Elmer are interested in implementing this program in Lincoln. Council members are excited to join in partnership for this endeavor. All agreed that it would be a great addition to the area along Second Street, possibly near the Post Office or in the pocket park. Putsky brought a sign that is being installed at the boat launch. He stated that he hopes that it will deter people from dragging the pods on their anchor lines. Two pods had to be replaced due to damage. Bill stated that he is hoping to work with the DNR to continue to monitor the fish population. President Jordan thanked Bill Putsky for his speech on Memorial Day at the Village Park. President Jordan stated that he believes we should purchase some new flags and a new wreath for use at next year's ceremony. A motion was made by Gauthier, with support from Mahalak, to contract with Alcona County Chamber of Commerce and Barton City Improvement Association the sum of $200 each in support of their fireworks displays. Carried.

The sheriff's report from the month of May was presented. There were 28 incidents for the village noted. A meeting will be held next week for the Region 9 task force for road funding. President Jordan will be attending. Several repairs were made on the loader this past month. We will need another new tire and it should be all set to go. Thanks to Kenny LaLonde and Steve Slater for their hard work on this project. President Jordan gave his report. The street lights on Second Street have not been working and he has been manually turning them on and off. Thanks to Tom Morgan of Morgan Electric for fixing this. The light has been ordered to replace the light that was damaged during the winter. Another light has been ordered as a backup. We are now waiting for delivery of them.

Thanks to Judy French and her 4-H group that worked at the Flights of Imagination cleaning, weeding and getting things fixed for spring. They did a fantastic job. Thanks again. The new docks and slide have been delivered. Additionally, the buoys are in place. They will be put in place yet this week. Several property owners that were contacted about their negligence have been working to get things cleaned up. There are still a few that need to be contacted again. The sidewalk committee will meet on Tuesday, June 13 at 6 p.m. Members are still needed for the planning committee. Anyone interested please contact Phil.

A motion to pay the bills as presented was made by Zielinski with support from Gauthier. Carried. Motion to adjourn from Zielinski with support from Gauthier. Carried.
