High speed chase ends in arrest

By Cheryl Peterson
Editor

When it's a truck versus the house - the house wins.

At least that was the outcome late Monday evening when a Hale man chose to flee from Alcona County Sheriff's Office personnel.

According to Alcona County Sheriff Sgt. Scott Stephenson, a high speed chase through Caledonia Township ended with a pickup truck embedded in a home on Roe Road and the suspect missing overnight.

Stephenson explained the incident began around 10:20 p.m. on Monday, March 27 when he passed a pickup truck northbound on US-23. "When I turned around to follow, he sped up," Stephenson said. He followed the 2007 truck south on Barlow Road to Swede Road to Hubbard Lake Road to Spruce Road. "I caught up with him in the town of Spruce. I hit the overheads and attempted to pull him over... at this point we were going approximately 100 miles an hour and he wouldn't stop."

The chase took Stephenson, and by then another Sheriff's Office patrol vehicle, "all the way back to US-23 where he went south, then took Black River Road to the west. At the intersection of Black River and Barlow Road he blew through the stop sign. We stopped and he was just gone," Stephenson said.

Both patrol vehicles traveled west on Roe Road searching for the truck, but couldn't find it. A second look found the pickup crashed into a house at 2890 Roe Road. "The pickup went through the wall and fell into the basement. We couldn't find the driver at the scene. He escaped through the basement window," Stephenson said.

The home was unoccupied at the time of the crash, but Stephenson said it was knocked off its foundation by eight inches to the west. "We were extremely fortunate that it was a seasonal residence because there was a bedroom on the ground level and a bedroom in the basement," he said.

Randall McArdle, 27, of Hale was located at approximately 6 a.m. Tuesday walking down Barlow Road. He was arraigned in 81st District Court on fleeing and eluding - second offence and driving with a suspended license. A $5,000 cash surety 10 percent bond was set. As of press time, McArdle was still lodged in the Alcona County Jail.

The Alcona County Sheriff's Office was assisted by the Michigan State Police, Alpena post, Sanborn Township Medical First Responders and Alcona EMS.

Crisis intervention help for area teenagers

By Mary Weber
Staff Writer

A new crisis intervention program for teenage youth in four northeast Michigan counties will soon be available through Child and Family Services of Northeast Michigan.

The program, Compass North Youth Services, offers help for runaway, homeless, street youth, youth at risk of substance use/abuse and suicide. It offers options to improve their life in Alpena, Alcona, Montmorency and Iosco counties and is funded by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services.

According to Rhianna Compton, Compass North Youth Services case manager, the programs are designed to improve the safety and well being of youth while increasing their self-sufficiency and help them make permanent connections. All services are free and confidential with a professional consultation and include crisis intervention and assessment; counseling and case management; short and long term shelters or host home options; social, educational and support services; community based education and resource assistance.

Youth taking part in the services can be referred by the child's school, health center, family, neighbors or a child can refer themselves into the program, but in all cases the child must willingly want to accept the help offered, Compton explained. Three programs are offered to youth through Compass North: youth and family outreach services, basic care program, and transitional living program services.

The programs are designed to meet with the youth at locations where the youth feel safe and can get to easily. "We will find a location in the county where they are at. If we have to go to them, we can," Compton said.

The youth and family outreach program provides case management and counseling to youth between ages 12 to 20 years and their family. Providers work directly with youth who have threatened to run away, youth who have run away, are homeless and youth with families who are experiencing homeless episodes.

It is also designed for throw-away youth, kids being forced out of their home by their parent, or youth experiencing any conflict and in need of protection. This program provides substance use/abuse prevention, mental health and truancy counseling to youth and their families. Compton explained the goal of the Youth and Family Outreach Program is reunification of the family whenever possible.

The basic care program offers stabilization for youth who lack shelter and resources vital to everyday life. Youth receive services aimed at family reunification through a 15 to 21-day program.

Program providers match youth with appropriate temporary housing when needed in the basic care program and all youth and families accessing shelter assistance receive care including counseling, case management, educational, employment, if appropriate, and recreational programming.

Transitional living program services work with youth ages 16 to their 21st birthday who are homeless or at risk of being homeless as well as working with youth who have aged out of foster care. It is a hands-on approach, providing up to 18 months of programming to assist youth with achieving success in the areas of education, employment, independent living skills and housing.

Compton explained youth, 16 and older, who are in the basic care program and are unable to reunify with their family or secure safe and stable alternative living arrangements, may also be enrolled in the Transitional Living Program.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
Thank you to all who came to Singspiration on March 26, hosted by the Harrisville United Methodist Church. Choirs, soloists, duets and trios came from First Baptist Church in Lincoln, Solid Rock Church in Lincoln, Community of Christ Church in Mikado, and the Harrisville United Methodist Church, to sing.

Those who came to listen and sing their favorite hymns came from many other churches in our county. In a time of divisiveness in our country, it was a powerful statement that we have much more in common than we know, and our differences do not mean that we can't celebrate together what we do share.

What a joy to witness all of the talent we have in Alcona County, to laugh and sing together as friends and neighbors who share the same foundation in faith.

If you missed this Singspiration, the next one will be held on April 30 at 6:30 p.m. at the Solid Rock Church, 160 N. Barlow Road, just north of M-72.

Thank you to all who make Singspiration happen, this month and every month.

To the Editor,
May I respectfully remind Mr. Robert Kennedy and others, that parents of non public school students pay public school taxes. Why should they not be allowed to access resources for the welfare of their children?

Parents are the primary educators of their offspring and in our Democracy have the right to decide which method is best for them as long as they are educated well.

The public school system is one necessary method of delivering knowledge (necessary for the stability of civilization), but not the only way.

Public school unions are necessary for certain issues such as pay, hours worked, class size, et cetera. During the era of one-room schools, a gentleman teacher was limited in their courting to the early hours of Wednesday evenings (see the plaque at Bailey School on the premises of Sturgeon Point Lighthouse, Harrisville). Later, when lady educators married, they were automatically dismissed.

I have been a public school teacher for 15 years and a faith-based school teacher for 16 years. When time came for our eldest child to begin school the public school offered only a one-room school.

We chose a larger, faith-based school which had each grade in separate classrooms.

Schools are necessary for the civil foundation of our democratic society. The public school system is only one facility where this education is achieved.

May we acknowledge that there are various, valid, venues for transmitting knowledge. I doubt that the public school system would be diminished by this fact. So, let's not engage in a war of recrimination. There's too much dissension in our country now.

To the Editor,

Republicans told us for seven years they had a better health plan than the ACA (Obamacare). Now we've discovered they never did, and were instead willing to take away insurance from people who gained it under Obamacare.

Ironically, Obamacare is modeled after a Republican idea. It contained key, essential ideas that Republicans now say should be removed.

One key concept, that Republicans removed, was not requiring that everyone be insured. Insurance is something we buy in case we need it, not when we need it. You don't buy auto insurance on the day you crash the car. Those not wanting insurance because they seem healthy are asking the rest of us pay to keep the system going without them.

Republicans say citizens should have the freedom to pick not to be insured. What this actually allows someone to be is a freeloader. Typically, just entering an ER costs $1,200. Hospitals pass the cost of uninsured patients to insured people.

Republicans need to acknowledge that "everyone in" is the only way to make health care affordable for all.

Republicans are busy protecting insurance and drug companies who profit so "bigly" from being in charge of healthcare. The Republicans simply receive too much money from drug and insurance company lobbyists to stop working for them.

The answer? Start with Obamacare and add ideas that control the cost of drugs and care. We could change to a non-profit, single payer system, like Medicare for all. Medicare operates on 1.5 percent overhead. That is the "profit" Medicare takes, while Obamacare tries to cap insurance companies at 15 percent. Will health care prices go down if we all pay 13.5 percent less for insurance?

If politicians imply we will have subpar healthcare with this "socialized" medicine, just ask Canadians how they like their health care.

The Governor's Awards for Innovative Tourism Collaboration were created by the Michigan Travel Commission, in conjunction with the governor's office, to elevate the status of Michigan's tourism industry and to promote innovative collaboration as an effective, efficient and creative operating principle for the industry.

In the Experience Development & Presentation category, "Paddle for Pints" was given the award. This is a collaborative of 18 businesses and organizations in the greater Traverse City area. "Paddle for Pints" is a brewery pub paddle on Traverse City's Boardman Lake and River and the West Bay.

"Up North Trails" won in the category of Non-Traditional Partnerships as a collaboration in a 21-county area to create further opportunities for trail enthusiasts. A total of 5,358 miles of trail were identified and mapped. After the data collection was complete, the information was presented through a trail mapping website "upnorthtrails.org."

The third award went to Lake Huron Discovery Tour in the category of Marketing Partnership. The tour is a collaboration of Michigan Arts & Culture Northeast, Besser Museum for Northeast Michigan, Northeast Michigan Council of Governments/US-23 Heritage Route, Community Foundation for Northeast Michigan, Thunder Bay National Marine Sanctuary and Mitten Women Productions.

In 2015, a collaboration of individuals, communities, organizations, agencies and businesses contributed over 4,000 volunteer hours to plan and execute a tourism marketing project called Lake Huron Discovery Tour during the fall color season. The tour consisted of a four-day event weekend focused along the US-23 Heritage Route and the shoreline of Lake Huron in northeast Michigan. The self-guided tour opportunity included a collection of natural and cultural attractions and over 100 special events for the weekend. The tour was promoted through user friendly, collaborative tools with consistent branding and messaging. This uniform marketing approach promoted this broad area as a regional destination resulting in sold out hotels and visitors being able to discover new experiences along coastal Lake Huron.

SENIOR LIFESTYLES

Escort services that can help seniors with the rigors of travel

Dear Savvy Senior,
Do you know of any services that help seniors with the rigors of traveling? My youngest daughter is getting married in a few months and would love to have my 82-year old mother attend, but she needs help flying across the country.

Searching Daughter

Dear Searching,
Traveling can be daunting under the best circumstances but for elderly seniors, those with disabilities, or those recovering or rehabilitating from an illness or injury, it can seem particularly overwhelming or unmanageable.

Fortunately, there are a number of companies that provides traveling companion/escort services to help older adults with the rigors of travel.

Whether it's seniors going on vacation or grandparents wanting to join their far-off families for weddings and graduations, travel companions help clients who need help moving through airports, managing luggage, navigating busy terminals and hotel lobbies and much more.

Some companion services even provide personal care like medication reminders, dressing, bathing and feeding. And for those with specific medical needs, traveling nurse services are available too.

But be aware that these services aren't cheap. You will pay for the travel companion's tickets, the companion's hotel room if necessary, meals, incidentals and fees for the service. The price to accompany a client on a plane trip within the United States - including the companion fees and travel costs for all parties - can range anywhere from $1,500 to $5,000 or more for coach airfare. Business or first class would cost more.

To locate a travel companion service in your area, search online for "senior travel companion" or "senior travel escort," followed by your mom's city or state. Or use an experienced national service like Flying Companions (FlyingCompanions.com) or FirstLight Home Care (FirstLightHomeCare.com), which has a national network of franchises that provides in-home care for seniors, and offers travel companion programs in about one-third of its 130 franchises.

Or, for medical travel companions do a search for "traveling nurse escort" or "medical travel companion," or checkout Travel Care & Logistics (YourFlightNurse.com), which provides registered nurses as escorts.

If, however, your mom doesn't require a lot of assistance, or if you can't afford a travel escort, consider asking a trusted family member or friend that has some air travel experience.

Savvy Senior

If you're interested in hiring a travel companion service to help your mom, there are a number of things you need to check into to ensure you get the right escort.

First, if you mom requires personal or medical care while traveling, find out if the escort is trained to manage her healthcare needs. What sort of medical certifications do they have? (Nursing credentials? C.P.R. training? etc.)

Also, find out how many trips the companion has taken with clients. Have they completed trips with travelers like your mom? How long has the travel service company been in business? What is the company's safety record? And what sort of insurance does it carry, and what and who does it cover?

Also, get a quote breaking down exactly what you'll be required to pay, in addition to the companion's fees. And, get a list of two or three clients/references who has used their service and call them.

(Editor's Note: Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org.)

Male child left on Carle's doorstep Baby Is Located by It's Cries—The Town Stirred Up

March 29, 1917 ~ The town is all stirred up this morning over the finding of a four-days-old baby on W. F. Carle's doorstep last night about nine o'clock. The discovery was made by Mrs. Bert Swales, who with her husband was passing the Carle home when cries were heard. Bert thought it was a cat, but the mother ear of Mrs. Swales detected the human note and when she ran to the rear of the house she found the baby lying bundled up in old clothes and lying in a large clothes basket. There was no one at home at Carle's so the baby was taken to Fuqua's drugstore, Mr. and Mrs. Carle were summoned and council held as to the disposition of the child.

Will thought as it had been left at his house he ought to give it lodging, Mrs. Carle agreed and they gave it shelter for the time being. The little waif is a well developed male child three to five days old. The officials have a pretty good clue as to where it came from and expect locate the mother before the day is over.

When the reporter called at the Carle home at 6:30 this morning Mrs. Carle was out and Will was doing his best to quiet the child's cries. He was fairly successful, and used the nursing bottle like an old timer, applying it with frequent regularity and at just the right moments to produce the desired results.

StarWatch By Gary Becker - Smiley Moon This Week

There is a curious lunar observation that is best seen in the spring, nearest to the vernal equinox. I call it the "smiley moon." I first heard the phrase about seven years ago from a quip made to me by a woman from church who had seen one several nights previously. My conversations with acquaintances are often laced with comments about odd things that they have observed in the sky when they discover that I teach astronomy. I need to explain that I actually enjoy these types of dialogues because many times I get the opportunity to explain the observations, and sometimes buried within what was seen is the discovery of a real "diamond in the rough." Such was the case with the smiley moon. Later that evening, my wife, Susan, and I were catching a program on TV. Our living room window faces west and through the gauzed curtains, I could see a horned moon that had a wide grin just like a Halloween pumpkin. I made two imaginary dots above it, and voila; there it was, the smiley moon about which I had just heard. I remember getting up and simply going outside, just a little bewildered, thinking something like, "You've been watching the moon all of your life, Gary, and you never put that together?" The explanation is really very simple. In the spring, the plane of the Earth's orbit, which represents the sun's yearly path against the stars and very nearly the moon's monthly orbital path in the sky, is tilted at a steep angle to the western horizon. As the moon pulls up and away from the sun after its new phase, the crescent which forms from the sun's light reflecting from the moon's surface is nearly parallel to the horizon, creating the smile. On Wednesday, March 29 about 45 minutes after sundown, look for a thin smiley moon near to the horizon, about 10 degrees to the left of Mercury. On Thursday the smiley moon will be higher and next to Mars. Binoculars will make the view more enjoyable. During the several days that follow, the moon will appear higher in the sky with an even bigger grin until it reaches first quarter on April 3. Have some smiley fun with the smiley moon! It's a real hoot! www.astronomy.org

Strange But True

By Samantha Weaver

- It was vice president Adlai Stevenson who made the following sage observation: "All progress has resulted from people who took unpopular positions."
- We're in no danger of it happening these days, but once, in April of 1930, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported that there was no news that day. Instead of an announcer reading reports, they played soothing piano music instead.
- According to pollsters, during the year 2016, both head lice and cockroaches were more popular than the U.S. Congress.
- Before he became the beloved novelist Americans know and love, a 15-year-old Jack London worked in a pickle factory earning 10 cents an hour. Desperate to get out of the closed-in, steamy cannery, he decided to join the ranks of an entirely different profession: oyster pirates. Pacific coast oyster beds that had been accessible to the public had recently been turned into private oyster farms, off limits to the working-class fishermen who had relied on them. This created an underclass of pirates who would fill bags with oysters under cover of night -- and London, who borrowed the money to buy a sloop called the "Razzle Dazzle," quickly became one of the best. His prowess and daring earned him the nickname "Prince of the Oyster Pirates."
- You may not realize it, but if you've ever spent a winter in the northern climes, you've probably made a sitzmark (or at least seen one). That's the mark made when someone falls backward into the snow -- like a snow angel.
- If you live in or travel frequently to Las Vegas, keep in mind that in that city, it's against the law for a man with a mustache to kiss a woman.

Veterans Host By Greddy Groves

Tainted drinking water beyond Camp Lejeune

It's finally here: eight conditions have been added to the Department of Veterans Affairs list of presumptive illnesses caused by tainted drinking water at Camp Lejeune.

While the VA has been treating 15 illnesses, there were no benefits attached. Now it will provide disability benefits for: adult leukemia, aplastic anemia and other myelodysplastic syndromes, bladder cancer, kidney cancer, liver cancer, multiple myeloma, non-Hodgkin's lymphoma and Parkinson's disease. Dates of service are Aug. 1, 1953 to Dec. 31, 1987, for a minimum of 30 days.

Yes, this is great news. Yes, this means ill veterans will get the benefits they deserve. And yes ... this is all so very late.

Remember years ago when Colorado Sen. Kay Hagen shredded The National Research Council and pointed out all the research the NRC ignored? Remember all the little kids who came down with leukemia, and the federal study that showed twice the rate of birth defects at Camp Lejeune? And remember the shock when 700,000 lost documents were suddenly found? Remember when it was revealed that dry-cleaning fluid was in the drinking water at Tarawa from 1957 to 1985?

We can't forget just because the benefits have kicked in.

Why? Because in 1977, a civilian contractor discovered that TCE was present in the drinking water at Pease Air Force Base in New Hampshire. The base closed in 1991 and turned into Pease International Tradeport. In 2015 the EPA jumped in and found perfluorinated compounds, an ingredient in firefighting foam, and others. The state of New Hampshire started testing people, and based on results, it's changed the initial health advisory (short-term drinking water exposure) to a lifetime health advisory level.

For more information on not only Pease, but hundreds of other bases, Google "Pease Air Force Base water."

Collecting By Larry Cox

Eggshell china

Q: I have inherited some china and am curious if it has any value. The pattern is Eggshell Georgian and manufactured by Homer Laughlin.

A: During the late 1930s, Homer Laughlin China Company produced Eggshell lines of dinnerware. The Eggshell wares were different from all of the previous designs in that the pieces were much lighter in weight due to the new precision machines and tools that had been installed by the company at its main plant in Ohio. The Eggshell Georgian is the second pattern issued in this series. Advertisements in trade journals promoting the new china were published as early as October of 1935.

For a complete history of this pattern and others manufactured by Homer Laughlin, I highly recommend The Collector's Encyclopedia of Homer Laughlin by Joanne Jasper (Collector Books). I found several copies available at amazon.com for $18.96, used copies $12.50. Typical prices listed in this excellent guide are an Eggshell Georgian 10-inch plate, $9-$12; tea cup, $3-$6; teapot, $45-$65; and salad bowl, $15-$30.

Q: I have a collection of books and would like to know how much they are worth. I am enclosing a list.

Matthew, Hudson, N. Y.

A: I get dozens of book questions each month, and my answer is generally the same. If you've written me recently about books, this answer is for you. For those who have access to a computer, one of the easiest ways to find out current prices is to visit www.abe.com. Type in the title and author of each book, and in most cases other copies being offered for sale will soon appear on your screen. Copyright dates and condition are both extremely important when making comparisons.

Q: I have a high-fidelity tape recording of President John Kennedy's funeral. Also on the tape is a dance recital and "Santa, 1962." How much do you think the tape is worth?

A: Your tape probably is a home recording, and as such its value would be minimal. I do not think it would be of interest to collectors. For a second opinion, contact antique dealers in your area.
