Alcona volleyball goes 1-2 at Standish-Sterling

By Ben Murphy

Sports Writer

The Alcona varsity volleyball team made the trip to Standish-Sterling for a tournament on Saturday, Aug. 27. The Lady Tigers went 1-2 on the day, losing to Carrollton 25-19, 25-15 and 25-17 then topped Pinconning 25-23, 22-25 and 25-21. Alcona's day ended in bracket play, falling to Houghton Lake 25-15 and 25-14.

"It is always a challenge to play back-to-back tournaments," said head coach Kristi Miller. "The girls regrouped quickly and played hard. Again, Carmen Dellar stepped up offensively and defensively, while Emma Travis did play. We must continue to work hard and stay focused on achieving our goals.'

Dellar smacked down 19 kills. Travis finished with 44 digs and Sage Gautheir served up seven aces.

On Friday, Aug. 26 Alcona competed at a tournament at Johannesburg-Lewiston. The Lady Tigers opened with a win over Ellsworth, 25-16 and 25-16. They lost to Cedarville 25-16 and 25-14, split with Mio 18-25 and 25-22, fell to Tawas 25-23 and 23-25 and wrapped up the day with a loss against Johannes-burg-Lewiston 25-22 and 25-20.

"We displayed strong teamenthusiasm and a great job keeping the ball in throughout the day," Miller said. "Carmen was a huge presence all around. It is important that we continue to build our consistency."

Dellar led the way with 23 kills and three blocks. Travis was good for 36 digs and served up eight aces.

On Wednesday, Aug. 17 the lady Tigers opened the

Another week and another impressive win for the Alcona varsity football team.

The Tigers, hosting Hale last Thursday in a North Star League crossover game, scored in every quarter and rolled their way to a lopsided 58-0 victory.

This is the first time since 2017 (starting 2-0), so it feels good to have the momentum," said head coach Jason Somers. "We are getting good play from all our guys, lots of players making plays. There is nothing better than everyone being involved and making plays.'

The Tigers opened the scoring with a 63-yard touchdown pass from Garrett Somers to Collin Walker and followed that with a 40-yard touchdown run by Walker and a 31-yard touchdown run by Somers to make it 20-0.

The Tigers scored 24 points in the second to make it 44-0 at the half and tacked on single scores in the third and fourth quarters to bring it to the 58-0 final.

Somers finished by going six-of-11 passing for 117 yards and two touchdowns. He also ran four times for 141 vards and two touchdowns.

Walker ran twice for 40 yards and a touchdown. He had two receptions for 98 yards and two touchdowns. Jesse Sheldon ran nine times for 29 yards and William O'Neill had one reception for a 29-yard touchdown. Jacob Renchenski was three-of-four passing for 64 yards and two touchdowns. He also had 27 vards on the ground. William Liebler had a 21-yard touchdown reception and Jeremiah Bullis had three receptions for 27 yards.

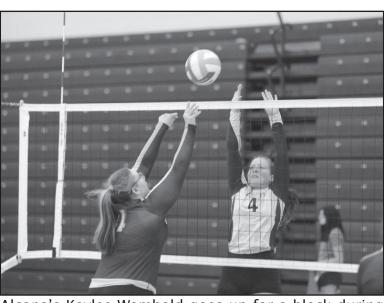

Hayden Johnston led the team with 11 tackles. Walker had nine tackles and Liebler had an interception and recovered a fumble.

Alcona (2-0 overall) hosts Atlanta (0-2) on Saturday, Sept. 10 at 2 p.m. The Huskies have lost games to AuGres 44-18 and Mio 52-34. These two teams last met as 11-man squads back in 2016, in what was a 75-0 win for the Tigers.

"Atlanta put up some good numbers against Mio, we will need to take away what they do best," Somers said. "Should be a good test to see how we are progressing."

Approximately 100 people participate in the 19th annual Black River Labor Day Bridge Walk on Saturday. The event started in Black River because several individuals didn't want to drive to Mackinaw City to walk the Mackinac Bridge. What started as a lark has become a community tradition. Alcona County Courthouse Square

By Eric Paul Roorda

Artist & Author

The Alcona County Library often has bountiful book sales. That's where I picked up a lavishly illustrated coffee table volume on the county courthouses of Michigan, all 83 of them. Of course, as "First of 83," Alcona County leads off, which sets a very low bar for the other 82. Alcona County's is among the least appealing courthouses in the state.

In the book I bought, Michigan's County Courthouses: An Encyclopedic Tour of Michigan Courthouses, there is a tone of regret to the chapter on the Alcona County Courthouse. It recounts the fate of the original courthouse, built in 1870, which had gables galore, a mansard roof, and "high above the entrance a distinctive tower, which cast forth an unmistakable silhouette."

Like so many other buildings in Harrisville, which has been cursed by recurring conflagrations in its history, the old courthouse went up in flames Friday the 13th of November, 1953.

The building that replaced it in 1956 is difficult to describe, because it is utterly non-descript. It is nearly invisible from the only stoplight in the county, especially before a recent southerly gale toppled the giant oak tree that stood at the intersection. It is a one-story brick rectangle with a walk-in basement. It resembles a suburban elementary school. What were the county authorities thinking, when they chose that design?

The Michigan Courthouses book echoes my critique, albeit less harshly, saying it "is a modern design with a flat roof...the interior of the building is functional and, as some might observe, spartan."

The old courthouse had an impressive neighbor, the old Alcona County Jail, which was built around the same time as the old courthouse, on a strikingly similar blueprint, with plenty of Victorian flourishes. Like the courthouse, the outstanding feature of the jail was its mansard-roofed tower. The matching edifices looked like the campus quadrangle of a Division III college, where they would be known by names like "Old Main" and "Centennial Hall." They stood about a hundred yards apart from one another, flanked by rows of young trees and paved walkways. People called it "Government Square."

"Government Square" stood on the highest ground in town, a ridge that seemed more prominent in the late 1800s, when Harrisville had fewer houses and big, leafy trees. The twin towers of the courthouse and jail could be seen by people in passing ships and from the three long docks that jutted into the lake.

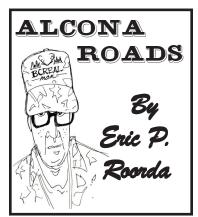

Then, on January 3, 1904, like the courthouse a half-century later, fire consumed the jail. Its demise was spectacular, with sheets of red and orange flame rising into the night sky, wreathing the tower, and tongues of it shooting from the barred windows like the burners of a propane

The county constructed a new jail in 1910, a short distance away, on the corner of 5th Street, with a design similar to the stately original, including a mansard roof, but no tower. When that one wore out in the 1970s, the authorities decided to build a replacement on its footprint.

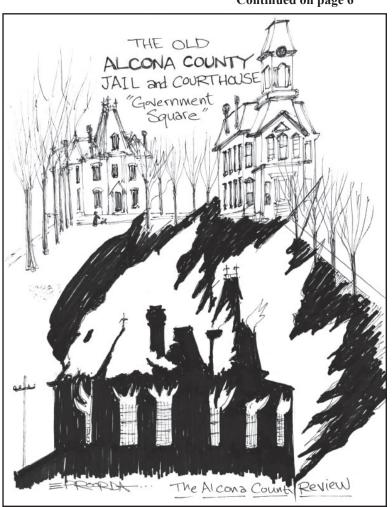

What were they thinking, when they chose a plan that is even worse than the new courthouse? While the courthouse is innocuous, like an apartment building, the jail is nothing short of an eyesore, with its concertinawired exercise yard.

There was once a third notable building located on what became "Courthouse Square" after the old jail burned down, Harrisville High School, classically collegianlooking, which a prominent bell tower. That sturdy threestory structure began graduating students in 1906, producing small senior classes like Baseball Hall of Famer Hazen "Ki Ki" Cuyler's Class of 1917, when he was valedictorian among five graduates.

To the Editor,

I was both pleased and honored to be asked to participate in and help with the planning of the Hazen "KiKi" Cuyler tribute baseball game to be held on September 18 at the Cuyler Memorial Baseball Field at the north end of Lake Street in Harrisville. The game will start at 1 p.m. The rain date is September 25 at 1 p.m.

This game is part of a month-long celebration of the life of our very own member of the National Baseball Hall of Fame. Of the tens of thousands of guys that have "laced up the spikes" in the major leagues, beginning in 1896 and continuing today, 127 years later, "KiKi" is one of the only 268 players to have been elected to the Hall of Fame, which happened in 1968.

Hazen Shirley "KiKi" Cuyler was born on August 30, 1898 in Harrisville and died on February 11, 1950 in Ann Arbor after suffering a heart attack in Harrisville. He played most of his 18 year career with the Pirates and Cubs, two and half years with the Reds and his last year with the Dodgers. He won the Word Series in 1925, played in three more World Series, playued in two All Star games, compiled a lifetime batting average of .321 and stole 328 bases.

The Harrisville library is the host of the series of events that began on August 30 and culminates on September 30. The baseball game is a major piece of this celebration. There are many people helping out and it makes me very proud to be a member of this great community.

The teams for the game between the Cubs and the Pirates are formed. The players are getting in shape and are chomping at the bit for that first pitch. The field is nearly ready. The Cracker Jacks are ordered. The flags will fly and you will be amazed when we take you back to 1925. Cubs and Pirates caps will be available at a nominal cost at the game and if we run out, we can have more within seven days. Bring a chair or sit on the bleaches and wait for the umpire to yell, "play ball!"

season at Mt. Morris for a tournament.

They lost to some tough competition. They fell to Orchard Lake St. Mary 25-7 and 25-12; lost to Lapeer 25-20 and 25-11; came up short against South Lyon 25-18 and 25-17; and fell to Haslett 25-14 and 25-10.

"We faced solid competition and never gave up," Miller said. "After making last minute line-up changes the girls were forced to make many adjustments. Overall, they did so successfully, played scrappy defense, and learned a lot."

Dellar had seven kills, four aces and three blocks, Angelina Howe hit seven kills, Kaylee Wambold had four aces and Travis had 22 digs.

Alcona returns to action on September 8 at Standish-Sterling and returns home to play Hillman on Tuesday, Sept. 13.

But then, in 1961, Harrisville High School — wait for it... Ha, did I fool you? It didn't burn down, the authorities demolished it! What were they thinking?

All that remains of alma mater dear Harrisville High is its bell, mounted on a pedestal where it once stood, in a lonely corner of Courthouse Square. People notice it once a year, and that once was last weekend, when throngs gathered there for two days of trampling the grass at the Harmony Weekend Art Show.

A visitor listens in vain over Harmony Weekend for even a distant echo of the harmonies that gave the event its name, when it was better known as the Annual Convention of the Michigan Chapter of the Society for the Preservation of Barber Shop Singing in America.

Do you remember S.P.B.S.Q.A.? Did you say "sbekskwa" in your mind? How old are you, anyway? But that's a different Alcona Road for us to travel in this space, some other week...

Curtis Township Library Board plans to construct new building

September 4, 1997 ~ By ompson. "It will be a commu-Cheryl Peterson

It might not get the project completely finished, but the estimated $25,000-$28,000 generated in penal fines, fund raising efforts and donations is expected to build a new building for the Curtis Township Library.

Last month the Curtis Township Library Board sent a letter of intent to the Curtis Township Board of Trustees asking permission to build the new library on the Sweet land adjacent to the elementary school.

The library board has not had a response from the township board.

"We are going to build the new library the same way we did this one," said Curtis Township

Library Director Mary Th-

nity self-help library. People will be able to purchase a bag of cement, a 2x4... We have big plans. We are going to build cheap and upgrade as we go."

In the letter of intent the library board explained that some of the four year .5 millage and grants have enabled the K-12 fiction and nonfiction collection to be completely renovated. The money has also been used to develop a collection of books-on-tape, purchase three complete computer workstations and double the large print collec-

"While these are wonderful enhancements to our ability to serve the community, we must also continue to expand our basic book and audio/ video collections to meet the ever increasing patron demands. This continuing expansion now necessitates a new facility," the letter of intent said.

Plans for the 40x60 building are as yet incomplete, but Thompson said the added space could be used a great deal by children - much more than the current facility is being used now. Adults will also benefit by the new build-

"We certainly need the space," Thompson said. "We have three computers. One is still in the box and two more are on the way. I have no idea where the other two will go. M-65 lies between the current library and the school and the children can't cross the highway. They have to be bussed over, and that costs money The school's library is woefully inadequate, the solution would be to build the library next to the school."

Thompson said if everything goes well, by next May or June there could be a ground breaking for the new

The letter of intent sent to the township board outlines that the board is not asking for additional millage, it would use the same septic and well as the old health clinic, and it would enhance the grounds with landscaping.

A building committee has been established and a licensed architect is working on the plans for the building which will include an area for meetings (during library hours), story hour, summer reading programs, workshops and other activities.

Fate of Lincoln depot is unknown

September 4, 1997 ~ Residents of the Village of Lincoln have an opportunity to save a historical location in their community, or watch it be torn down.

The historical location is the train depot located on the east shore of Lincoln Lake in downtown Lincoln.

George Byelich, director of the Alcona County Extension office, has been working with the Lincoln Downtown Development Authority and the Village Council to find support to keep the depot in its original location.

"The railroad was the first highway into Alcona County and it paved the way for the development of the territory," Byelich said. "Most of the original building is still in place where it has been standing since the 1880s."

On Sept. 9 at 7 p.m. residents can express their opinion about the proposed project during the regular meeting of the Village Council. "Only with citizen support will there be a chance of holding on to a piece of history," Byelich said. The interesting thing about this building is that it is the last of its type. All the train stations on the Detroit Bay City and Alpena line were of the same design and materials as the Lincoln station except for the Harrisville and Alpena stations which were made of cut stone.

Byelich said no real plans have been made for the property that was abandoned as a train depot in 1929 and the Skiver family began using it as their home. The last resident, according to Byelich, was Bob Skiver. The Lincoln DDA purchased the depot from his estate.

Byelich wants to save the depot from being bulldozed into a parking lot. "The site and the building does need cleaning up, and a community effort could be made with a few work bees," Byelich said. "The long term plan of renovating and returning it to its original condition could become a community project with all hands helping with time, talent and a few dollars.

"Many people would help with this project from other communities," Byelich said. "Now is now time to see if Lincoln's citizens have the resolve to capture some if its history and carry it into the next century. More people would come to Lincoln to see the historic train depot than come to see or use a parking 10t "

In his research into the depot, Byelich compiled some important dates in history in regard to commercial railroads that helped develop Alcona County in the 1800s and early 1900s.

- 1883-Russell Alger formed the Detroit Bay City and Alpena Railroad
- 1886 Regular trains through Lincoln
- 1888-State Forestry Commission study team arrives in Lincoln

- 1894 Rail reorganized and combined with Alpena and Northern
- 1895 Detroit and Mackinaw Rail Co. formed
- 1900 Depot sites selected at Greenbush and Harrisville
- 1901-D & M starts its runs along Lake Huron
- 1902-New cut stone depot built in Harrisville
- 1903 Line north of Lincoln discontinued
- 1907 Lincoln branch has stops at Lincoln Junction (US-23 and F-41) Gravel Pit, Handy, Mikado, Gustin and Lincoln
- 1912-Railroad Park built in Lincoln
- 1913 Depot in Lincoln remodeled
- 1927 No regular trains scheduled on Lincoln Branch -only train specials
- 1929 Discontinued Lincoln Branch as of Jan. 1
- 1951 Feb. 4 last run for passengers between Bay City and Alpena.

Veterans service organizations are you in a veterans service organization? There are four groups, and while they differ in their origins, they all have the same goal: to help veterans.

The largest organization is the American Legion. Across the country are more than 12,000 posts and approximately 2 million members. The Legion is to be thanked for the GI Bill of Rights, which has helped many veterans get a college or trade education and a home with a low mortgage rate. But the Legion has done much more: The organization has also donated $1 million to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund and sponsored a study on the effects of Agent Orange. If you want to explore the Legion, read more online www.legion.org.

Like the name says, the Disabled American Veterans (DAV) steps up to help disabled veterans with nearly anything they need. Just last year, for example, they provided 163,000 rides for veterans to reach their medical appointments and helped file over 150,000 claims. They have 26 transition service offices, helping veterans make the

If you're a veteran, change to civilian life by providing benefits counseling. For more information on the DAV, start with www.dav.org.

Paralyzed Veterans of America (PVA) changes lives. They push for better access to air travel, help veterans find employment and pay for adaptive housing and vehicles. So far they've invested over a half million dollars into spinal cord research. In one year alone, they helped veterans receive over $78 million in benefits. Learn more at pva.org.

Started in 1899 by a few veterans during the Spanish-American War, the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) has worked since then to get the rights and benefits that veterans deserve. They've assisted veterans with collecting $10 billion in disability compensation and pension benefits with the help of over 2,000 accredited VFW reps. Today membership stands at 1.5 million. To learn more about the VFW, check www.vfw.org.

To be considered: Many of the veterans groups are losing membership due to the age of their members. Your interest will be most welcomed.

The rise in all-electric homes

When asked to think of modern homes, many people might think of minimalism, neutral colors, open concept floor plans, and large windows without treatments. While each of those features are components of modern homes, just what qualifies as "modern" is ever-changing and often a reflection of what buyers are looking for. And lately, many buyers are looking for all-electric homes.

A 2015 study by the U.S. Energy Information Administration found that the number of allelectric homes had increased over the previous decade. In fact, the EIA study found that 25 percent of homes in the United States used only electricity. All-electric homes are generally considered more environmentally friendly because they lessen homeowners' carbon footprint by reducing their need for fossil fuels like natural gas. Electric heat pumps, induction stoves and electric fireplaces are just some of the technologies that can be found in all-electric homes.

Though the design style of all-electric homes needn't be modern, there's no denying that the growing popularity of such homes makes them an option for homeowners with modern sensibilities. FH228161
