Glennie shooting suspect charged with two felonies

By Cheryl Peterson Editor

A late night altercation in Glennie last Friday left one man in handcuffs and another transported for medical treatment of a gunshot wound.

According to the Alcona County Sheriff's Office, Matthew W. Busch, 33, of Bay City, Mich. has been arraigned in 81st District Court on two felony counts of assault with intent to commit murder and possession of a firearm while intoxicated causing a serious impairment.

The victim, a 33-year-old man from West Branch, Mich. was transported to Ascension Healthcare in Tawas City by Alcona EMS. Later he was transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw, Mich. By press time, he was released and is recovering at home.

According to a press release from the sheriff's office, at 11:09 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 26, Alcona County Central Dispatch received an emergency call from the Glennie Tavern in Curtis Township. "It was reported that a person had been shot outside in the parking lot," according to the press release. Responding deputies found Busch in the parking lot. The victim was inside the bar suffering from a single gunshot wound to the groin area.

According to the sheriff's office, Busch was arrested at the scene and transported to Ascension for minor injuries.

"The preliminary investigation revealed that a physical altercation had occurred between the two individuals in the parking lot of the Glennie Tavern. During this altercation the suspect (allegedly) shot the victim once from a pistol that was in his jacket pocket," the press release said.

Busch is being held in the Iosco County Jail. Bond has been denied.

The incident is under investigation.

American Legion brings community to veterans

By Mary Weber Staff Writer

Offering invaluable support and a sense of community among veterans and residents, the American Legion plays a crucial role in rural communities. It serves as a lifeline, addressing the unique needs of veterans while simultaneously streng-thening the fabric of its community.

For over 35 years the Mikado American Legion Post 254 has provided a platform for local veterans and their families to connect, share experiences and support one another by embodying the principles of service, camaraderie and patriotism.

The Legion boasts three organizational structures: American Legion, Son's of American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary, engaging in multiple community service projects, events and contributing to local initiatives well beyond its veteran-focused mission. Mikado American Legions Adjutant John Parsons explained one of their objectives is to be a resource to the community and they invite organizations, clubs and entities to utilize their space. He said opening their doors to the public for different activities not only promotes community inclusion, but it has also boosted their membership in the process.

"We had a group of guys that wanted to play corn hole during inclement weather and we invited them to play here. Some of them were already members of the American Legion, but others were not, which is perfectly fine. It's important for us to show inclusion," Parsons said.

Although their doors are open to just about everyone, their canteen is limited and only members or their guests are allowed to purchase alcohol.

Parsons was very clear in stating the Mikado American Legion is not a drinking club. "Our doors are open for people to come in and have a cup of coffee or a soda. We want the Legion to be a social asset to our community and veterans. "The mental health crisis of veterans is very real and we have a heavy veteran presence in this community, especially from the last several conflicts. One of the best things we can do to combat the mental health crises is through socialization. "It is important we have a safe place for them to come to. A place that is oriented toward (healthy) social activities. Staying at home drinking by yourself can be unhealthy. This place is about unity, not alcohol.

One of Alcona County's new residents, Erin Body of Harrisville, shares this photo of ice pancakes forming on Lake Huron. She explained, the phenomenon is rather uncommon. When the temperature is right slush forms on the water and as the waves move it, they start to form pancakes. The waves splashing over the edges cause as harder layer of ice which helps them maintain their shape. "This is our first year a residents in Harrisville and I'm thrilled to have had the opportunity to see them in person," she said.

Commander John Swazey said one of the reasons he ran for his position was he wanted veterans to enjoy their visits to the legion and to feel in-cluded. "I strongly felt the way to do that is by having no politics, religion or club business, (outside of club meetings) ever discussed here.

'I've been here for nine years and those are the three conversations that can start arguments, so it is simply not allowed. It might seem harsh, but it is for the benefit of the members," Swazey said. "Anyone caught having that type of conversation gets one warning, a second warning means expulsion from the Legion. "Every member has ownership here, whether a Legionnaire, auxiliary or son's and it doesn't matter what your political, religious or any other orientation is, (the Legion) belongs to all of us and we all have the right to feel safe here," Parsons said. Family-oriented activities are very important to the Legion which hosts numerous open-to-the-public dinners for a reasonable cost throughout the year including a popular Fourth of July pig roast, burgers every Wednesday and a Thanksgiving meal with all the trimmings.

In addition to a hall that seats about 100 with a full kitchen, there is a fenced-in area outside with picnic tables, a horseshoe court and an up-to-date playground.

Open to the public children's events include an annual Easter egg hunt with prizes and bicycle giveaways. There is also a live turtle race around Father's Day.

The Legion also provides three scholarships to deserving Alcona High School seniors, operates a school supply drive for teacher-requested items so no teacher should have to reach into their own pockets to purchase school supplies, and they assist with the Alcona Elementary backpack program that provides weekend food for young students. Before Christmas, toys, clothing, food and more are privately gifted to families whose names are provided by the school or local churches. The Legion officiates at flagraising ceremonies and has given flag donations. They participate in Memorial Day ceremonies, the Veteran's Day ceremony in Harrisville, and carry flags during the Barton City Fourth of July parade, the Black Bear Festival in Curran and other events. specifically referencing the preserves of Alabaster Township, the one pending for Oscoda Township and the article written by John Pepin of the DNR, mainly relating to birds.

The overall bird population is declining but also, they have migrated away from their normal habitat and therefore, are not counted by the birdwatchers or ornithologists as pesticides poison their environment and food supply.

The honey bee has also declined mainly due to pesticides.

Health labs and researchers state that most humans have between 20 and 30 pesticides in their bodies. This is why some people grow their own crops organically or buy from others that do grow organically. Many of our Amish neighbors sell fruits and vegetables in season, naturally grown (organic). I encourage others to go natural/organic.

For 50 years Huron Pines has been a conservationist nonprofit organization serving the citizens of northern Michigan, mainly on the Sunrise Side of the state. The DNR, in my view, has expanded way beyond the original intent and purpose of its mandate and should allow nature to self-regulate and adapt to changes in the environment without interceding. Maintaining an outdoor compost pile through winter months will produce fertilizer for planting in the spring, and can act as a secondary heat source for a greenhouse. To keep compost active over winter, feed it the right balance of green (nitrogen) and brown (carbon) ingredients. Green scraps will be produced in your kitchen over the winter, but most of the brown matter such as dried leaves, straw and plant debris will have been produced in the fall. Strong fourth quarter lifts Alcona to win over Charlton Heston

"Huge team performance tonight in front of a packed crowd for Winterfest," head coach Alex Cole said. "Charlton Heston Academy has proven to be a tough team in the league and (this game) they were just that. I'm proud of the guys locking in on the defensive end and executing the game plan well."

Leading just 41-38 after three, the Tigers caught a bit of a break in the opening minute of the fourth quarter when CHA standout center Ryan Patterson picked up his Renchenski and Borsvold scored a couple of crucial buckets each on post isolations to help us build a lead. Then to seal the deal, our defensive pressure stepped up and we held them to five points in the fourth quarter."

The Tigers started the night off well too, getting six first quarter points from Walker and threes by David Sharboneau and Hebert to lead 20-11 after one. The Patriots closed the gap to 27-25 by the half though, and it remained tight until the fourth quarter.

Sharboneau hit three treys to finish with 13 points for the Tigers. They also had Walker and Hebert hit double figures with 10 points apiece. Renchenski had nine points. Borsvold chipped in with eight. Garrett Somers had four and Ricky Schott scored two points.

Patterson finished with a game-high 19 points for the Patriots, who also had 11 points from Dylan Cichowski and seven by Dillon Teed.

On Tuesday, Jan. 23 the Tigers won a home NSL crossover game over Fairview, 68-42.

"We had a balanced scoring attack lead by Sharboneau with 17 points," Cole said. "He hit some timely buckets to help us build a lead. Walker and Hebert also had big nights scoring in double figures."

The Tigers only led 15-14 after the first quarter, but they managed to increase that gap to 31-22 by the half and 51-34 entering the fourth quarter.

Sharboneau led things with 17 points for the Tigers. Hebert drilled three treys and had 11 points in all. Walker netted 10 points. Somers and Ricky Schott had six points apiece. William Liebler had five points. Sam Johnston added four. Vinny Mahalak scored three points and with two each was Jordan Benac, Borsvold and Renchenski.

Alcona (11-4 overall, 4-0 NSL Big Dipper) will host Rogers City on Wednesday, Jan. 31. The Tigers hosts Oscoda on Tuesday, Feb. 6 and is in Mio on Friday, Feb. 9.

Mikado Cemetery before Memorial Day and will often send a representative to funerals and other events where veteran representation is requested. The Legion has a drop box for retired American Flags where they are respectfully disposed of, with ceremony, on Flag Day, June 14.

The Legion opens its hall to host many memorial services for members and family and often hosts benefit dinners to help offset medical expenses of members and friends in need.

Private hall rental for graduations etc., is typically $100 with a security deposit, but for nonprofit organizations, groups and clubs they will quite often waive the fee.

Other weekly and bimonthly activities include euchre on Mondays from 2 to 6 p.m.; corn hole tournaments on Wednesdays; pool tournaments on Fridays; and every other Sunday they host a musician round robin starting at 2 p.m. where anyone can come and perform or listen. In February the musician round robin will be on February 4 and 18.

The Legion loans handicap equipment to those in need and if a veteran member needs a helping hand, such as replacing a mailbox knocked down by a snowplow, other members will do what they can to get it back in place.

Donations make up the principle of funds needed to keep the Legion doors open and operational. In the winter, the auxiliary holds pasty sales each month and they have a bake sale in the fall.

Take safe approach while ice fishing

By Gregg Schefferly Outdoor Writer

So much has changed through the years. When I was growing up, winter started sometime after Halloween and ended in March.

When it was winter, it was winter. We had cold temperatures, a lot of snow and I enjoyed many winter pursuits. Snowmobiling was big and it was nothing to see a dozen sleds traveling on the shoulders of the roads heading for trailheads or lakes.

Hunting bunnies was mostly on snowshoes. The only things complicated about ice fishing was cutting a hole through the thick ice and getting out to fish.

The snowmobile was often the choice due to the amount of snow on the ice. If passible, the popular lakes looked like cities filled with wood shanties, cars, trucks, and snowmobiles. When there was too much snow, only those with snowmobiles could make the trek.

Back then, one had to be careful, the weight of all the snow caused water to come up on top of the ice. As a result, slush pockets formed under the snow, some of them were extremely large and deep. If you sank down with your sled and got slush in the tracks, it would freeze in the cold, and you weren't going anywhere. In those days with the lighter sleds, anglers would often prop them up and run them to spin everything out of the track before they started fishing. This was to ensure when they were ready to head in, they could do so.

In recent years winters often come later, temperatures continually fluctuate between bitter cold and warm, and the ice conditions are constantly changing. A front will come in, the lakes will freeze, and just about the time things are looking good for ice fishing, a warm front sweeps through and we lose much of what we gained.

The danger comes because the ice covering often stays, and it's impossible to truly know how safe the ice is to venture out on. Years ago, I was laid off during the winter are a must. The spud allows and I'd be out practically every day from first ice on. As a result, I had a good sense of what was happening and, of course, the temperatures were normally always below freezing.

When you work fulltime, it's very difficult to have a feel for what's going on regarding ice conditions. Just because you see someone out on it doesn't necessarily mean it's safe. If you're an angler who loves fishing on the hard water, your tactics must change.

For starters if you don't already have them, an ice spud and pair of safety spikes you to continually check ice thickness as you make your way out. The safety spikes are on a cord that goes around your neck to allow you to pull yourself up onto the ice if you fall through; without them you have little chance of getting back on the ice.

Through the years my approach to sketchy ice was to find a place to fish where the fishing was good in only a few feet of water and where my truck could be parked nearby. When going onto the ice, I always use the spud and test it as I make my way out.

My homemade shanty had a wood floor that further dispersed my weight. Fishing shallow water with your truck nearby assures that if you go through the ice, you'll be able to easily get back on the ice and make your way to shore and warm up in your vehicle. This approach allows you to get out and safely do what you enjoy.

Here we are in late January and before the temperatures were low enough to allow the ice to form, we got not one, but two storms in less than a week: dumping a total of about 28 inches of snow on the ground. As we all know too well, the temperatures plummeted immediately after the storm, and one would think we were on the way to some good ice for fishing. If the nearby lakes were open, the snow would've reduced the water temperature prior to the temperatures falling into the teens.

This should create perfect conditions for rapid forming of ice to allow us to venture out ice fishing. Nevertheless, if venturing out on the ice, proceed with extreme caution.

The weather of late is more like we're accustomed to regarding a good old fashioned winter. Considering the weather, we've experienced the last several years, I certainly don't believe for one minute, that old man winter of old is back; it's just for the moment.

So, what's a guy to do? If you like to snowmobile, snowshoe, cross country ski, rabbit hunt, or ice fish Mother Nature provides you with the opportunity; take advantage of it, get out there and do it.

Good luck.

Mike Goddard to tryout with Tigers

Janurary 31, 1974 ~ Mike Goddard, an Alcona High School senior, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goddard of Mikado, will report for a baseball try out with the Detroit Tigers on February 22.

Word was received last week from Jack Tighe, Scout for the Detroit Tigers in a letter dated January 20, 1974 as follows; problem since his granddad lives in the area.

Ed Katalinas has been alerted about the young man and he has a copy of the letter you sent to me. There is also a very good chance that I will be there. If so, I will certainly take care of the lad.

Have Mike report to Tigertown and ask for Ed Katalinas. The camp will start on February 22.

He will need his glove, shoes and sweat clothes. We will furnish the uniform. It is not necessary that Mike get there exactly on the 22nd. If more convenient, he can come in on the 23rd or 24th. The first five days we will have nothing but pitchers and catchers and he will get a good look. Thanks again for past kind treatment. See you in the sunny south in the not too distant future. Our love to Ruth. Sincerely, Jack Tighe

How it came about

Janurary 31, 1974 ~ How this arrangement all came about, we had received a letter from Jack Tighe in early January this year and in his letter, he asked if we were going to Florida and Tiger Training Camp again. Ruth and I have been going for the past 20 years. When we first became acquainted with Bob and Lola Reynolds at Winter Sports Affair in Tawas about 21 years ago, they invited us to go to Florida and spring training and we accepted and have been going every year since. Bob is the Sports Director of WJR Radio of Details on Mike and at a meeting of the heads of the Tiger organization very recently, my letter was presented.

I wound up my letter to Jack Tighe, quote, "On behalf of the boy, his family, coach and his host of followers in our section of the state, I would like to see Mike get an opportunity to further his ambitions in baseball."

This resulted in the invitation for Mike Goddard to report to Lakeland, Florida and Ed Katalinas, who, incidentally, is the chief of player procurement for the Detroit Tigers.

Charles D. Matlock, principal of Alcona Community Schools, very graciously wrote a letter of permission for Mike to attend the tryout at Lakeland, Florida. Speaking on behalf of everyone concerned, we sincerely hope Mike makes it. If he just has a spark of the ole Mocksie his granddad, Cecil Lane, possessed back in Cec's hay-day around N.E. Michigan. Mike should make it. Good luck Mike! We'll all be pulling for yuh.

Hi Bill:

Bill' Kahn.

Box 38

Have some information for you relative to the young ball players.

Mikado, Mich. 48745

Mike Goddard, he absolutely needs a letter of permission from the principal of the high school he attends.

Letters from his parents or the coach will do no good. It has to be a letter from the principal.

Also, he will have to pay his own expenses but, as you mentioned, this will be no troit.

We were introduced to Bob by Ron and Eleanor Gamble. Ron was with WJR for 25 years and was Bob's former boss. We of course met Jack Tighe through Bob Reynolds.

In my reply to Jack Tighe's recent letter I casually mentioned that we have a very fine young Alcona County athlete, Mike Goddard, who was greatly interested in baseball and had the desire to try for a career in Major League play. I wrote Jack all the de-

• On Feb. 12, 1912, Hsian-T'ung, the last emperor of China, was forced to abdicate following Sun Yat-sen's republican revolution, ending 267 years of Manchu rule in China and 2,000 years of imperial rule.

• On Feb. 13, 1958, a four-passenger Thunderbird called the "Square Bird," made by the Ford Company, made its public debut. Considered to be a model that turned the Thunderbird from a sports car into a luxury car, it's still often referred to as simply the T-Bird and has appeared in movies such as "Grease," popular songs and music videos.

• On Feb. 14, 1984, Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean became the highest-scoring figure skaters in history at the Olympic ice skating championship in Sarajevo with their sensual, free-dance performance of Ravel's "Bolero."

• On Feb. 15, 1965, the maple leaf officially became Canada's official national flag symbol. It had already served in that capacity for more than a century, but the matter was only settled in the House of Commons the previous December, and approved by England's Queen Elizabeth II shortly afterward.

• On Feb. 16, 2007, British Education Secretary Alan Johnson's order for "difficult" classic authors including Jane Austen and Charles Dickens to be taught to 11and 12-year-olds was not met with favor by teachers. They believed these classic works might prove daunting enough to turn students off of such material for life. Johnson argued that they were in fact essential to a well-rounded British education.

• On Feb. 17, 2014, the Saudi Gazette made Somayya Jabarti the newspaper's editor-in-chief, marking the first time a woman held that position in the country. Her successor, writing about the decision that represented a major step forward for Saudi women's rights, made sure to state that the position was granted solely on Jabarti's merit.

• On Feb. 18, 1943, a small group of German students from the University of Munich known as the White Rose movement were arrested after a janitor observed and reported them for distributing leaflets with anti-Nazi propaganda. Within days, all the members, including philosophy professor Kurt Huber, were sentenced to death for treason by the People's Court and beheaded.

• Ever wonder why some cocktails are shaken while others are stirred? Chalk it up to the level of dilution and texture required: The longer the shake or stir, the more diluted and cold the beverage gets. Hence cocktails made with spirits, tonics and bitters should be stirred, while those featuring fruit juices, egg whites, cream or cream-based liqueurs should be shaken.

Rovels: Antiques and Collecting By Terry and Kim Kovel

Mechanical creatures

Robots may sound like cutting-edge technology or science-fiction dreams of the future, but automated mechanical creatures have captured people's imaginations for centuries. Animals and music were always popular themes.

Legends say that King Solomon surrounded his throne with mechanical animals, including lions that would raise their paws and roar when he approached and birds that would descend to give him his crown and a scroll. There are records from the Middle Ages and Renaissance of clever inventors in Europe and Asia creating mechanical animals and musicians.

Despite all this innovation, the "Golden Age of Automata" did not arrive until the 19th century. Technology had advanced enough to make automata accessible outside of royal palaces, but not so much that the novelty had worn off. All kinds of automata were made with different levels of complexity, from pictures with moving paper figures to life-size mechanical puppets.

Music boxes with mechanical features were popular, too. A favorite style was the singing bird, like this one that sold for $4,560 at Morphy Auctions. It was made in Germany in the late 19th century and winds with a key. When it is wound, a small bird with red feathers pops out of the enameled box to chirp and flap its wings.

Q: I have a Boy Scout handbook, "Revised Edition, 13th Printing, One Hundred Thousand Copies." It has a list of copyrights from 1911 to 1930.

Is it a music box, a toy, a showpiece or a robot? Wind it with a key, and a feathery bird pops out to chirp and flutter in a lifelike way. Photo courtesy of kovels.com

It is in fair condition. The cover and first page are torn, and the back is taped. What is it worth?

A: The Boy Scouts of America started in 1910. The first handbook, titled "The Official Handbook for Boys,' was published in 1911. The title of the handbook has been changed several times. From 1927 to 1948, it was "Revised Handbook for Boys." The copyright dates in your handbook indicate it was printed in 1930 or shortly after. A Norman Rockwell painting called "Spirit of America," originally made for a 1929 Boy Scout calendar, was used for the cover art on the handbook from 1927 through 1937. It pictures the profile of a Boy Scout against a blue background with profiles of Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt, Charles Lindbergh, a frontiersman and an American Indian. Copies in poor condition usually sell for $10 or less.

TIP: Spray the inside of a glass vase with nonstick food spray. It will keep the water from staining the glass.

gram. In fact, within the first year, over 30,000 veterans have signed up.

With the old program, S-DVI, veterans with serviceconnected disabilities only had two years to sign up from the time of receiving a disability rating. VALife has no such limitation.

With the old program, you had to be in good health (except for the disability) before you could apply. The new program has no limit, and no medical exam is required.

The old program limited veterans to $10,000 in coverage. The new program, VALife, offers up to $40,000 in whole life insurance.

You can apply online and get an immediate response. Additionally, you can make payments and changes to beneficiaries online.

Premiums will never change and depend on your age

If you're a veteran age 80 or under, and if you have any level of service-connected disability (that means 0-100%), your acceptance is guaranteed. If you're over the age of 80, there are eligibility points that still might allow you to buy coverage. See the URL below for those eligibility requirements.
